SONG.

Let us forget the promise of to-morrow,
Which, oh, too well, we know in gloom may set;
Let us forget the hope that brings but sorrow;
Let us forget—let us forget—forget.
Let us forget the fetters that we bear;
Let us forget the canker and the fret;
Oh! let who will remember—remember,
Let us forget—let us forget!

Let us forget the friends who have deceived us;
Let us forget the loves that wake regret;
And all that baffled us and all that grieved us,
Let us forget,—forget—forget.
Let us forget to-day and yesterday;
Let us forget the canker and the fret;
Oh! let who will remember,—remember,
Let us forget—let us forget!

The State Campaign.

Within one short week the judicial campaign in Pennsylvania has grown from State to national proportions.—Andrew Johnson, the Diabolus of the nation, has appeared upon the stage, and, in the twinkling of an eye, the scene and issues change. Our struggle is no longer one to simply preserve our State judiciary from the dangers which have more than once before almost involved it and us in ruin and shame. It has now a national significance and importance. We, the people of this Commonwealth, must, in the exercise of our duty at the ballot-box, rebuke the faithless and reckless Executive. Our vote is the only weapon left until Congress meets again. Regard for the safety of our country and for the dignity of the Presidential office demands that the late extraordinary and painful proceedings of our (we blush to write the word) Chief Magistrate should be promptly, sternly, and meaningly condemned.—The censure of the nation must be pronounced in unequivocal language. The The voice of the people, as of thunder, must be heard at the polls.

Every vote cast for Sharswood now is an endorsement of the recent Presidential antics so mortifying and offensive to the pride and patriotism of all loyal and respectable men. There is a fresh element in the election. It has a new meaning, a new interest, and new consequences. Friendship for Judge Williams or Sharswood, local motives looking to the advantage of having a friend or acquaintance on the Supreme Bench, even the purity and sanctity of our State judiciary, all sink into comparative insignificance before the new issue which is now involved in the verdict of our election.

The return of Judge Sharswood will be accepted at Washington, and rightly, as an acquiescence in the recent unconstitutional usurpations of the President. Judge Black, the power behind the throne, the man who pulls the wires at the White House, presents and commends Mr. Sharswood to the people of Pennsylvania. Shall he be endorsed? Shall we say to him, "We approve the unprincipled and desperate use you, in behalf of the Democratic party, are making of the infirmity of the President?" Shall we countenance the machinations that to-day are going on in the hotels of Washington against the country? All this we do if we elect Judge Black's candidate for Supreme Judge.

All personal and local issues have now by the act of the Democracy themselves been eliminated from the contest, and we are glad of and thankful for it. We fight is now squarely on the old issues of the war. No man can mistake the situation—the lines are clearly drawn. No man can deceive himself as to the meaning and consequences of his vote. It is the blue and gray again. Those who are not with us are against us.

We expect now, after the events of the past few days, to see a full vote polled in Pennsylvania. It is not easy, in a judicial election, to bring out the vote of the State, but we predict that 1867 will show a different result. The apathy and lethargy of a local election, based on local issues and to decide local questions, are gone. The nation is in peril; the old flag has been assailed.—An enemy, more dangerous and treacherous than that which beleaguered Sumter, holds Washington, and if we mistake not, has fired the gun which will awaken from east to west, from north to south, the loyal people of the land.—Slow to action, perhaps, and not easily excited, in time of danger, the old Commonwealth has always stood by the flag, and we do not fear for her now.

As the critical hour of the conflict draws near, we go into action bearing the colors of the nation, carrying with us the sympathy and prayers of the whole country, and on an issue stripped of all adventitious and sectional incidents. Could we ask for more? The candidates and the office sink out of sight when we remember that we are fighting over again the question of Gettysburg, and that with us move the holy armies of our dead. It is Williams and Sharswood no longer, but the nation. Did our ticket bear the names of Sheridan and Johnson, the issues between us could not be more antagonistic or more directly presented.—Press.

INSTINCT WITHOUT BRAINS.—Long ago it was ascertained by naturalists that worms and insects are without a brain, and yet they pursue a course of activity which bears so much upon the domain of reason we are accustomed to say they act from instinct, which is no explanation at all of phenomena in the higher orders of organic life which have their origin in the brain. If that organ is severely injured, so that its normal functions are no longer performed, consciousness and orderly manifestations of its influence are interrupted or suspended.

But the insect world swarms with beings of the most delicate construction, without hearts and without brains, whose movements and habits, independent of thousands of contingencies to which they are exposed, prove in the most satisfactory manner that their acts are near approach to the elements of a reasoning faculty, if they do not indicate reason itself.

When, by accident, a thread of spider' web is broken, the little weaver examines the misfortune with extreme care, and, by taking different positions, surveys the damage, and then proceeds artistically to repair it by splicing or inserting an entire new cord.

Again, when a wandering fly becomes entangled in the net, the cautious approach of the owner of the trap, lying patiently near by for game, indicates calculation in regard to the character and strength of the victim. Does it not strangely resemble reason when all its movements, under such an aspect of affairs, show beyond a doubt the spider considers the matter in all is relations before venturing to seize the prey? And yet spiders are without a brain.

A very nice question here very naturally suggests itself, which learned expounders of physiological laws are respectfully requested to explain. But, puzzling as this may be to answer—how there can be thoughts and even an exercise of the kind of judgment employed by the spider in mending its web—there are other subjects for philosophical reflection quite as difficult to solve in the domain of vitality. By what process do infusorial and microscopic insects conduct their affairs, which seem also to be the result of something more than mere instinct, in their extraordinary exhibitions of themselves?

"Would you like to look at the moon?" asked a "professor," who had stationed his spy-glass at the street corner, of an Emeralder. "To the divil wid ye; would I be afther givin' ye a dime to look at the moon wid one eye, whin I kin see it wid my two and not cost me a cint?"

A "PHILADELPHIA lawyer" gives the following definition of law and equity: "At common law you are done for at once: at equity you are not so easily disposed of. One is prussic acid and the other is laudanum."

FOUTZ'S

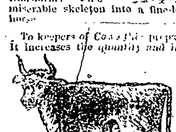
CELEBRATED

Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly reinvigorate broken-down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. It at once improves the wind, increases the appetite, gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It increases the quantity and improves the quality of the milk. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle it gives them an appetite, loosens their hides, and makes them thrive much faster.



In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a pound to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

J. W. BRADLEY'S Celebrated Patent

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC

(OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT.

THEY will not bend or break like the single spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs, but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt, will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, operas, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, arm chairs, for promenade and house dress, as the skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any single spring skirt.

A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the duplex elliptic steel spring skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For children, Misses and young ladies they are superior to all others.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies, and is universally recommended by the fashion magazines, as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in crinoline, viz: superior quality, perfect manufacture, styling shape and finish, flexibility, durability, comfort and economy, inquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic or double spring skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against imposition, be particular to notice that skirts offered as "duplex" have the red ink stamp, viz: "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also notice that every hoop will admit a pin being passed through the center, thus ravveling the two (or double) springs braided together the rein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other skirt.

For sale in all stores where first class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the sole owners of the patent,

WILCOX & WHITNEY.

Tioga, May 22, 1867-tf.

To the Farmers of Tioga County.

I AM now building at my manufactory, in Lawrenceville, a superior

FANNING MILL,

which possesses the following advantages over all other mills:

1. It separates oats, rat litter, and foul seeds, and chess and cockle, from wheat.
2. It cleans flax seed, takes out yellow seed, and all other seeds, perfectly.
3. It cleans timothy seed.
4. It does all other separating required of a mill.

This mill is built of the best and most durable timber, in good style, and is sold cheap for cash, or produce.
