LETTER FROM A SMALL BOY.

DEAR EDITOR:—I think that is the way you begin. My Sally and I have been talking about it, and she says it stands to reason, that the person most likely to understand all the things that keep us children always wondering, and that nobody will tell us about, is the editor of a paperi Lauppose you know almost everything; don't you?

Sally is my old sister. She is nearly eleven. She would write herself, but they have so many lessons at herschool that Thave to tote her books for her in my wheel-barrow. Lahaye a young sister; but sho, don't know anything.

Now, this morning, Tom Riley told me that if you take a liorse liair and keep it in water long enough it will turn litto a snake. But how could ityou know; when 'it has no head," you know? when it has no head or anything? But all the fellows say it will. But how do they get the life into it? And as to that, how does the life get into anything? Now when that perfidious scoundred went and drowned three of my pupples, Sally said they died because the water got into the places where the life was, and drove it out. But when we fished them up, and she squeezed the water out, and dried them on her freek, and laid them in the sun, the life never came back to their poor little bodies—never.

And about that horse hair. Well, I rushed in to mother, and she was doing worsted things. And I said, "Mother, can you turn a horse hair into a snake?"

And she said, "Two greens, one yellow—(gracious, child, how you bawl!!" And I said, "But, mother, Tom Riley says it will. And she says, "Five, six, two browns—(don't mother me, pet!—one, two, three, shade two—(yes, darling; I've no doubt you can!)—four, five.—"
'Well, now, that's no answer. So I ruslied out on the porch where Tuelo rushed ont on the porch, where Uncle s, which are composed of from 125 to 300 pig-Jack is sitting, with his heels up in the vines, doing nothing at all but smoking a short pipe. And I ask him if it is true, what Tom Riley says. And he brings down his eyes from the porchroof, and glares at me a while, and then office of the Gen't Sperkrendent; and a glares at me a while, and then office of the Gen't Sperkrendent; and company voice:

says, in a gloomy voice: Johnny, can you tell me how many blue beans it takes to make five?" Well, that is no answer. So I rush off to Aunt Maria. And she is in the parlor, entertaining, as she calls it, a of other people is aunts—I guess they ine. And when I begin to ask her if you can make a thing alive that wasn't alive, she just turns her face round, and says, in an awful hiss: John, how often have I told you that little boys should be seen and not

And then she goes on entertaining ; and the other aunts pretend they didn't know I came in. And then I rush up stairs to Gram. And she says, "O, you funny little regue! And she tickles Well, that's no answer. And that's the way I am always served. Now the other day I invented a perpetual motion. Only my Sally was away at school; and I couldn't keep i all in my head till she came back to work it out for me. So I went into father's offices and I said, "O, paphooray forever! I've got a perpetual "Hooray forever!" says he, whirling round on his office-chair. "Where is it? Under your tongue? Mc.-"Now, suppose you had hwo clocks."

Pap.-"And one stood still, and the other wouldn't go." Me.- 'Now, father, listen. You see the chain on the one that's wound up is twice as long—you know; and half of it goes round the wheel of the other—

Pap.—"I see, as the blind man said."
Me.—"Now listen. Then don't you see, as fast as the one unwinds the other winds up; and then, if you only had a little machinery to set the other agoing the very instant-don't you see?' Pap.—"I see. And if the sky would only fall we should catch such a lot of birds; and if my son were only a phile opher we should have a perpetual motion. But then, you see, he isn't; and so I think he had better go and learn his Multiplication Table."

Now I call it to bad in folks to be al-ways chaffing a fellow that way; and how is a fellow to find out things at all? Now, our minister said, last Sunday, that we were made out of the dust of the earth but I don't know our perspiration is never the least muddy. And only the Sunday before he said ail the earth, but I don't know our perspiration is never the least muddy. Notice is therefore hereby given, to the Corespiration is never the least muddy. And only the Sunday before he said all for the county of Tioga, to ppear in their own people in proper persons, with their records, inquisitions, examight believe either one or the other; but to make herself believe both she winds of their offices and in their offices and in their behalf appears on the other offices and in their behalf appears.

NORTHERN PENNSYLVANIA might believe either one or the other; but to make herself, believe both she can't and won't.

And there's all that about midnight people. As to father and mother ordering us round, it's all right, of course; because they own us, and love us, and do everything for us. But when it comes to all the grown people ordering all the childred, never asking you to do a thing, but always telling you to do it—where do they get the right to? That's what Sally wants to know, and

So no more at present, . JOHNNY. -New York Independent.

A CAUTIOUS JUDGE.—An Irish judge tried two notorious fellows for high-way robbery. To the astonishment of the court, as well as of the prisoners themselves, they were found not guilty As they were being removed from the bar, the judge, addressing the jailor, said: "Mr. Murphy, you would greatly ease my mind if you would keep those two respectable gentlemen until seven or half-past seven o'clock, for I mean to set out for Dublin at five, and I should like to have at least two hours start of them." start of them."

Baron Platt once, when visiting a renal institution, inspected the treadmil with the rest, and being practically disposed, the learned judge trusted himself on the treadmill, desiring the warder to set it in motion. The machine was accordingly adjusted, and his lordship began to hit his feet. In a few minutes, however, he had had quite enough of it, and called to he released; but this was not so easy. "Please, my lord," said the man, "you can't get off. It's set for twenty minutes; that's the shortest time we can make it go." So shortest time we can make it go." the judge was in durance until his "term' expired.

The American Watch Company of Waltham, Mass., respectfully submit that their Watches are

Office of the Gen't Sperintendent, ALTOONA, PA., 15 Dec., 1866. GENTLEMEN: The watches manufactured by you have been in use on this faile od for several years by our orginomen, to whom we furnish watches as part of our equipment. There are now some three hundred of them carried on our now some three hundred of them carried on our little, and we consider them good and reliable time-keepers. Indeed, I have great satisfaction in saying, your, watches give us less trouble, and have worn, and do wear much longer without repairs than any watches we have ever had in use on this road. As you are aware, we formerly trusted to those of English manufacture, of acknowledged good reputation; but as a class they never keep time as correctly, nor have they done in these statements I am sustained by my prodecessor, Mr. Lewis, whose experience extonded over a series of years. Respectfully, EDWARD II. WILLIAMS, American Watch Co., Waltham. We make now five different grades of watches, unued respectively as follows: \[Appleton, Tracy & Co., Waltham, Mass. Waltham Watch Company, Waltham, Mass. P. S. Bartlett, Wm. Ellery, Waltham, Ma Wm. Ellery, Baylon, Muss. Home Watch Company, Boston, Mass. Waltham, Mass All of these, with the exception of the Home Watch Company, are warranted by the American Watch Company to be of the best material, on the most approved principle, and to possess every equisite for a rolliable timekeeper. Every dealer elling these Watches is provided with the Company's printed card of guarantee, which should company each Watch sold, so that buyers may eel sure they are purchasing the genuine article. There are numerous counterfeits and imitations f our Watches sold throughout the country, and against imposition. Any grades of Waltham Watches may begour chased of Watch Dealers throughout the country ROBBINS & APPLETON, Sept. 4, 1867-3m, 182 Broadway, N. Y.
