which affect their own interest and safety. The maked truth that every Southern State reconstructed on the White basis is to-day a Rebel, Stale--haped and ruled by men which except a ad Lincoln's reflectant and tardy resistance to the Rebellion is a causeless and criminal aggression, and profottudly rejoiced over Bull Run us their victorywill prove invincible, if we can but bring it home to the apprehension of every loyal voter: There is no paramount question of good faith or grati-tude to the blacks. Their votes are as necessary to the preponderance of White loyalty as to their own protection and security. Reconstruct the South on the White basis, and every one of the fifteen States which held slaves in 1800 will be intensely, overwhelmingly Copperhead thenceforth and evermore. Allow to-day the plea that the Blacks are ignorant and degraded, and those be as valid and wellgrounded'a century wnce as it now is. Public Education and Civil Rights for the Freedmen can only be achieved and maintained through the ballot. "We are for Negro Suffrage-the way they sufferey in New Orleans," was the inscription on a banner borne in a late Conservative or Democratic procession in Baltimore; and the spirit which dictated that avowal is still rampant in the South. But for what is stigmatized as Military Presnotism, it would daily avenue by outinge and infliction what it deems negro treachery to the Southern caste. The Tribune has declined to be

s or turned aside from the Main d tion. It has persistently refuse swell the clamor for vengeance on the defeated Rebels, whether by execution or by confiscation; and one of its strong reasons for this course is a conviction that no drop of Rebel blood could be coolly, deliberately shed without essentially clouding the prospect of securing the Right of Suffrage of the Blacks. Defying the madness of passion and the blindness of short-sighted misconreeption, it has demanded Reconstruction on the basis of Universal Amnesty with Impartial Suffrage, in perfect consciousness of the fact that it thereby alienated thousands who had been real ous supporters and life-long patrons.-The hour of its complete vindication cannot be far distant. As for the man who is to be the choson standard-bearer of the Republican host in the impending contest, while we avow our deliberate, preference of Chief Justice Chaseas the ablest and most eminent of our living statesmen, The Tribune will render a hearty, cheerful, determined support to Gen. And we do not apprehend that the candidates who, in our approaching struggle, shall represent genuine Democracy in opposition to the meanest phase of Aristocracy can be beaten it proper means be systematically taken, as their must and will be, to enlighten and affouse the American people.

We will thank such friends as believe that The Tribune will prove an efficient , and cheap way to influence the unde cided, to aid us in extending its circulation. Though ours is eminently a political journal, but a small portion of its space is devoted to politics, while an outlay of more than $200,000 per anum is incurred in collecting and transmitting news from all parts of the world.— We have regular correspondents at nearly all the capitals of Europe, with a director at London, who is authorized to dispatch special correspondents to all poblits where important events may at any time be transpiring or imminent.— The progress of the war in Crete, which is the precursor of a still greater war, bas been watched by one of these special correspondents, while another telegraphs from Constantinople each novel phase of the critical diplomatic situation. Every step of Garibaldi's recent heroic though unfortunate enterprise; from its inception to its close, was noted by our correspondents, who are also his most trusted advisers; while an esteemed member of our editorial stuff has just accompanied the Embassidor of Juarez to Mexico to sean the Mexican problem close and under auspices more favorable to the Republican chief than those which have colored the advices of our regular correspondents at Vera Cruz and the Capital. Another correspondent accompanied the first National expedition to Alaska, Walrussia, or whatever our splinter of the North Pole may be called, and is now reporting on the aspects and capabilities of that chilly region. Bayard Taylor is writing us in his own vein from Central Europe; while able correspondents report to us from Colorado, Idaho, Montana, &c., more copiously than we can find room to publish. Our Reviews of Books and Literary Department are in charge of one of the ripest American scholars: while Agriculture, under a competent editor, claims a leading place in our Semi-Weekly and Weekly issues. The question may now be regarded as settled, until some overtaet of usurpation on the part of the President shall electrify the country and unite the House in a new effort. We hope that Mr. Johnson may not be fool enough to attempt any more flagrant exercise of prerogatives lodged elsewhere than with the Executive. The spectacle of a President arraigned for infidelity to his suffrage unless morally qualified. So I trust would not be a pleasant spectacle, eyen were his guilt beyond question, and lodged in an fovert act of usurpation. We contend that Mr. Johnson is an usurper and a regkless demagogue. His chief supporters are demagogues, enemies of social and political order, and in all respects as criminal as Jefferson Davis.

But the majority report, able as it unthe guilt of the President. His usurpations were found to be rather conand definitive than his acts. He found it easier to fume and threaten than it was to execute his threats. In fact, he seldom copied his great, model, . Andrew Jackson, in shooting first and explaining afterward. If a law of Congress stood in his way he did not openly set it aside; rather, he applied to his Attorney-General for an opinion as to the proper meaning of the law, knowing that that opinion would jibe with his own purposes. When Congress passed an act explanatory of the Reconstruction act, he removed the Commanders to whom its enforcement was entrusted, and replaced them with others believed to entertฐภา views and purposes in harmony with his own. But, up to the present time he cannot the faid to have violated the letter of the statute. His plan has been to delay and obstruct the operation of the law by dilatory mo-

That it was deemed hest to await that act before proceedng farther, there is no doubt. For one we are glad that no such act was done, and we hope that no such act-will be done, either by Mr. Johnson or his successors, during the life of the republic. If, out of the rage of partisan strife, the liberties of the people shall emerge unscathed, that will give every rightminded man cause for enduring joy and gratitude. Better that the vicious leaders of all parties should be driven out of public life, than that this experiment of self-government should fail, thus adding new links to the chains which tyrants have put upon the/wrists and ankles of the people elsewhere.

The chronic hoggisliness of Copper head placemen was well exemplified in Wayne County last week. The Republidans elected their candidate for Sheriff in October, and the Sheriff-elect prepared to assume the duties of his office on the last day of the regular term of court in that county, as the law directs. the Judiciary Committee. To give up a fat place to a Republican is only not worse than death to a Copperhead incumbent. That breed of politicians hang to the loaves and fishes like grim death.

One who subscribes himself "old not carry, long before the final vote was ation of Senator Andrew Johnson, in 1861, "That when a man is always talking of the constitution, spot him as a traitor!" and says: "Now I think he has proved the truth of the saying, for in his late Message he has mentioned the Constitution over forty times, 'Constitutional' eight times, 'Uuconstitutional' twice, and 'Constitutions' once. I agree with him in one thing, that is, that no one should exercise the right of say that a sot should not be allowed to vote." A good many people will agree with "old man."

The report of the Secretary of the Treasury is more than usually interesting. Its great/length precludes its publication in county newspapers, and we can do little more than give a summary of the financial situation.

As it was evident the recitor had Horatio Seymour in his mind's eye for next President, ho was called to order, and it is possible that the discussion as to whether the point; of order was well taken, might have continued for hours, had not Capt. B. been reminded of a story about a "Sagacious dog"! The scene that followed can better be imagined than described, and even then better be imagined than described, and even then your imagination would lead you about as far out of the way as Weston's pedestals carried him from Portland, Maine. Major A.—, who was Chairman, part of the time, gave assurance to the Captain that his story would be received "and handed over to the appropriate Committee!"
