Dropping into the Court House last Thursday evening we beheld a pigture of old times at home scarcely less wonderful. It was known that the ladies of the Presbyterian Society were to serve up a public supper in New England style, but we did not look for so graphic a picture of Yankeedom as it was in the days of our grand-

Upon entering we were met by a polite middleaged lady in a high cap and white Kerchief, who introduced herself as Aunt Mehitable, but who looked marvelously like our own Aunt Rebecca, who used to administer salutary spanks to us in childhood. She was chatty and attentive as Anni Mehitables should be, and she showed us an old Revolutionary canteen of wood-smaller, but of the same family of that we used to earry full of cider into the hay field in years agone; and mice old "buffet," with its parti-colored array of "Cheeney" dishes, supported by a pewter platter which had seen service. Just then came up our old Aunt Prue, with her box of Scotch - whit, and Sister Eunice, with her head bedizened with Boston notions, and who was introduced as Cousin Semantha Aun, with her hair fluffed and moulded into a tower, and her dress waist very much out of present fashion-her face areathed THE ACADEMY.-It is desirable that with smiles born of a sense of fun which could

AYER'S

Cherry Pectoral IS a soothing expostorant, prepared to meet the urole cure for diseases of the throat and lungs. A trial of many years has established the fact, that it is many effections in pulmonary affections, than any other remedy. Its efficacy has now become so generally known, that it is justly regarded in many countries as medicine of indispensable necessity. In Grant Britain, France, and Germany, where medical science has reached its highest perfection, it is prescribed in domestic practice, and constantly used in the numies, in hospitals and other public institutions, where it is regarded by the the institutions, where it is regarded by the attending physicians as the most speedy and agreeable remedy that can be employed. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found where well known cases of diseased lungs, which had builled the efforts of the most skillful and experienced doctors, have been completely cured by it. These results are the most convincing proofs of the su-

This health-restorer accomplishes even more by prevention than cure. If taken in season, it boals all irritations of the throat and lungs, whether arising from Colds or Coughs, or from other causes, and thus prevent that long train of painful and incurable diseases, which would arise from the neglect of them. Hence no family should be without it. Influenza, Croup, Hoarsenoss, Whooping Cough, Pleurisy, Incipient Consumption, and other affections of the breathing organs, give way before this pre-eminent combi-nation of medical virtues.
