THE CONDEMNED SENTINEL. A cold stormy night, in the month of March, 1807, Marshal Lefebyre, with twenty thousand French troops, had invested Lantzie. The city was garris-oned by seventeen thousand Russian and Prussian soldiers; and these to-gether with twenty or thirty thousand well armed citizens, presented nearly double the force which could be bro't to the assault. So there was need of the utmost vigilance on the part of the sen-tinels, for & desperate sortic from the garrison, made unawares, might prove calamitous.
