BEAR SHOT.—On Thursday morning last John and Thomas Gertschall and George Armor were engaged cutting timber for shingles in the hills about two miles from Rich's factory, on Chat-ham's Run, when they discovered a bear ensconced in a hole under one of the trees which they were cutting. John Gertschall was alone at the tree when the bear was discovered, and called to his companions, who came to his assistance and very soon succeeded in dispatching the old bear by means of a revolver in the hands of Thomas Gertschall. After a little digging, they were enabled to drag her body, to the surface. On further examination of the hole they found three cubs, supposed to be about three months old. The dead body of the old bear and the living ones were brought away, all three of them taken being now at the house of Thomas Gertschall, on Bald Eagle street, in this place, where they attract a great deal of attention. The old bear dressed one hundred and ten pounds, and was in very good condition.—Clinfor Republication

SERIOUS ACCIDENT. - Last Friday morning, about 11 o'clock, Mr. Samuel M. Bickford, of Dunsburgh, was severely injured at the freight depot in this place. His team of horses was hitched to a large lumber wagon and frightened at a train of freight cars. Mr. Bickford was standing on the platform, and observing that the horses were about to start, he leaped for the wagon and caught one line, but his foot slipped and caught in the lock of the wagon, and he was dragged about ten rods be-fore he could extricate himself, and and knees together. The hind wheel struck him in the small of the back, and ran over him, injuring him so severely that he fainted, and was carried in this state to the house of Mr. Henry Hipple, where some two or three doctors called to see him. From there he was soon conveyed home. We are happy to hear that he is in a fair way

On Wednesday last at about 10 b'clock the house of Daniel Cleveland in Pleasant Valley, was discovered to be on fire having probably caught on or near the chimney. After some exertions on the part of those present, most of the things in the lower story were taken out, but the building itself could not be saved. The contents of the upper story and a portion of those in the cellar were con sumed. It has not been ascertained exactly what the origin of the fire was .-We are not aware whether there was any insurance.—Troy Gazette.

THE SUPREME COURT of the United ates, in a recent argument of the case of Gardner vs. Barney, had a curious point raised before it with reference to he connection of the President and the connection of the President and Congress. The paper book giving the history of the case uses the following language: "The part taken by the President in signing a bill is no part of the legislation of the country. The act is not the exercise of a legislative function. The Constitution does not require him to note the date of his approval on the bill. It only requires him to sign the bill, if he approves it. But the legthe bill, if he approves it. But the legislation of the country—the acts of Con-gress—are required to have records.— The plaintiff in error maintains that the President is the third branch of the legislature, and that accordingly his approval, without a date fixing the time of approval, is a void act, and the law is void. The decision of the Court will Constitution, the President is a constituent part of the National Legislature,' The decision of this important point has not yet been announced by the Su-
