The proceedings of the Convention were marked with wisdom, moderation and patriotism, and, I believe, express the feelings of those who sustained the country through its recent trials. If elected to the office of President, of the United States, it will be my endeavor to administer all the laws in good faith, with economy, and with the view of giving peace, quiet, and protection everywhere. In times like the present it is im possible, or at least eminently improper to lay down a policy to be adhered right or wrong, through an administra-tion of four years. New political issues not foreseen are constantly arriving, the views of the public on old ones are constantly changing, and a purely adminis-trative officer should always be left free to execute the will of the people. I always have respected that will and al-

MR. COLFAX'S DETTER OF ACCEPT ANCE. Washington, May 30, 1868.

Hon. J. R. Hawley, President of the Na tional Union Convention: DEAR SIR: The platform adopted by the patriotic Convention over which you presided; and the resolutions which so happily supplement it, so entirely agree with my views as to a just national policy, that my thanks are due to you, and to the delegates, as much for this clear and auspicious declaration of principles, as for the nomination with, which I have been honored, and which I gratefully accept.

When that great rebellion which imperiled the national existence was at ast overthrown, the duties of all others devolving on those entrusted with the responsibilities of legislation evidently was to require that the revolted States should be admitted to participation in warred, only on such a basis as to increase and fortify, not to weaken or endanger the strength and power of the nation. Certainly, no one ought to have claimed that they should be readmitted under such rule that their inused as at the opening of the war, to defy the national authority or to destroy the national unity. This principle has been the pole-star of those who have inflexibly insisted on the Congressional policy your convention so cordially endorsed. Battled by Executive opposition and persistent refusals to accept any plan of reconand public safety at last combined to teach us that only by an enlargement of suffrage in those States could the desired end be attained, and that it was even more safe to give the ballot to those who loved the Union, than to those who had sought ineffectually to Our whole people are foreigners or descendants of foreigners. Our fathers established by arms their right to be called: nation. It remains for us to establish the right to welcome to our shores all who are willing by oaths of allegiance to become American citizens. Perpetual allegiance, as claimed abroad, is only another name for perpetual bondage, and would make all slaves to the soi where first they saw the light.

Our national cemeteries prove how faithfully these oaths of fidelity to their adopted land have been sealed in the life-blood of thousands upon thousands Should we not, then, be faithless to the dead if we did not protect their living brethren in the full enjoyment of that nationality for which, side by side with the native born, our soldiers of foreign birth laid down their lives.

It was fitting, too, that the representatives of a party which had proved so true to national duty in time of war should speak so clearly in time of peace for the maintenance untarnished of the national honor, national credit, and good faith as regards its debt, the cost of our national existence. I do not need to extend this reply by further comment on a platform which has elicited such hearty approval throughout the land. The debt of gratwho saved the Union from destruction; the frank approval of amnesty based on repentance and loyalty; the demand pathy of the party of liberty with all throughout the world who long for the liberty we here enjoy, and the recogni-tion of the sublime principles of the Declaration of Independence, are worthy of the organization on whose banners they are to be written in the com-

SURVEYOR GENERAL COL. JACOB M. CAMPBELL, OF CAMBRIA COUNTY.

We see it stated that the nomination f Grant & Colfax creates but little enthusiasm in Washington, Just so. The further you penetrate into rebeldom the less enthusiasm there will be for Grant & Colfax.

James Buchanan died at his residence near Lancaster, on the 1st inst. aged 78 years. It was his misforune to be elected President of the United States n 1856, and to find himself unequal to the discharge of the duties of that high office. He is dead. We could find no words to praise him living, and will not censure him dead.

Messrs. Henderson, Ross, and Fowler, pretended Republicans, voted no on the resolution of thanks to Secretary Stanton, alleging that while they agreed with the sentiments of the resolution its passage would be a reflection upon their votes for the acquittal of the Pesident. So much sensitiveness leads us to believe that those three Senators were bought with a price. THE PHILOSOPHY OF NOISE.

Man, in his uncultivated state, is a noisy animal. The savage tribes of Africa excel in the accomplishment of Noise.
