Interview with Gen. Longstreet.

Yesterday a chieftain of the late Rebellion, Gen. James Longstreet, arrived in New-York. Since the war he ac-cepted the situation and has used his influence to counsel and guide his people and to lead them safely back to an enduring peace. Yesterday evening a reporter of THE TRIBUNE called upon the General at the New-York Hotel. Im-agine seated at a table, a tall, well-built man in a suit of black. The face is a kindly, pleasant one, the beard is sandy and grizzled and the cheeks are flushed. The forehead is high and the eyes are grey and soft in expression.-The mouth squarely cut denotes decision, and there is that quiet resolute air about him that reminded one of Gen. Grant, whom he strongly resembles in looks and manner. Although suffering from an attack of fever he bore himself resolutely above pain, and after dinner conversed freely upon affairs in the Southern States. As a portion of the conversation bears directly upon the coming campaign I give it in full. Reporter-Do you think we will have better days in the Southern States? The Gen. Longstreet - Assuredly. cotton crop has been very large this year, and we will soon have capital of our own to work upon.

Rep.-Suppose Seymour is elected, do you think we will have another war? Gen. L .- I cannot say as to that, but I believe that if he is elected it will open all those old issues, and we will have trouble; but I don't think he will be elected.

Rep .- What do you think of Grant Gen. L.-He is my man. I believe he is a fair man. I met him at West Point. I think he is above meanness His silence is grand. Rep .-- There is one thing I would like to ask. It is in regard to the negro. Gen. L.(smiling)-I will tell you all I know.

Rep.-Will he keep his contracts in regard to labor? Gen, L.-I can relate my own experience. My men have worked well.-They like to have a white man a come out in the field and tell them what to do. There was always a class of lazy men who would sit in their houses and give their orders. These men deserve have trouble Rep.-And in regard to jury trials-mean negroes upon a jury beach? Gen. L.—In some cases that is badfor instance, where an action involves an account." Negroes generally, are ignorant upon intricate matters of business. But, if a district is disposed to do right with them, the jury may be divided-white and black. They (the negroes) soon learn, and appreciate the position. Rep.—About negro supremacy ? Gen. L .- Ah, that can never be ; it'i silly to think of it. They can never be stronger than they are to-day, and the whites of the South know it, but they are misled by the politicians. Rep.-In regard to the acts of Recon struction ? Gen. L.-I advise my friends to ac cept them, and come in to the Union and try to bring about peace and prosperity. I told the people of Alabama, if they would not be guided by the politicians they would come out all right.

Rep.-And you think it will come out all right? .....I do : the crops are large.
