[For the Agitator.] CAMPAIGN BONG They knew that I was poor,
And they thought that I was base,
They thought I would endure
To be covered with disgrace;
They thought me of their tribe,
Who are alther based don't Who on filthy lucre doat,

So they offered me a bribe For my vote, boys, for my vote! CHORUS: O, shame on office seekers, Who would my conscience buy, I will not wear their fetters, Not I, indeed, not I.

My vote is not mine To do with as they will, To cast like pearls to swine That hang around the still. It is my country's due,
And I'll use it while I can, For the honest and the true, Like a man, like a man! CHORUS:

O, yes, I'll use my vote, As a treasure and a trust My dishonor none shall quote, When I'm buried in the dust; And my children when I'm gone, Shall be strengthen'd by the tho't, That their father was not one, To be bought; to be bought. CHORUS:

Once Davis stood as head Of rebels in disgrace, In petticoats he fled, And Seymour took his place. Let Copperheads now shout, And rally round their man; And as they run about, Buy all the votes they can. CHORUS:

Let Seymour's friend now bribe As many as they can; a... And take in all the tribe Of the pure "Ku-klux-klan." Pure Democrats how white, Within the Whisky Ring. The devils take delight
To hear them talk and sing.

CHORUS: The sight of such a crew,
Makes honest men stand back,
See broken rails ahead,
And quickly leave the track; Destruction is at hand,

And Seymour cannot save, So feeble he cannot stand, He soon will find his grave. CHORUS:

They say his ship of state, Can never, never float, And just like Jeff, his mate, He needs a petticoat. So, when he runs away, And leaves his native land, He may without delay, Take petticoat in hand. CHORUS:

But Seymour need not run. For one thing all may know, His running will make fun, And Grant will let him go To find his brother Elf, Where ever he may be, Laid upon a shelf, Or hid in some high tree, CHORUS:

An Irishman's View of the Bond Question.

lowing conversation that occurred be-tween a prominent Democrat and an Irishman of that City, recently. For convenience it designates the parties as Jack and Pat; Jack—How do you like the Democratic platform? Pat-I can't understand it; would ye be after explaining it to me—all about the bond question? Jack—Oh, yes, with pleasure. You see the rich men own all the bonds, and the poor men have to pay for the Pat-The divil, ye say; is that the way?

pade in Yose to pay off the bonds with greenbacks, and thus everybody will be treated equally.

Pat—Is that our platform? Jack-Not in so many words-but that is what it means; and now, Pat, I want you to do all you can for our party-bring the boys out to all the meetings, and—

Pat—Hould on, Jack; will yer paying the bonds off in greenbacks make the poor man as rich as the bondhold-

Jack—Not exactly; the bondholder will have his greenbacks where we can tax them. Pat-Then there will be all greenbacks and money will we plenty, and we'll git gould for our greenbacks, if we elect Seymour?

Jack-Not exactly; there is not gold enough in the country. Pat—Thin we are not to have gould at all. How in the divil are ye going to pay off the greenbacks? Jack A part of it will be paid off by taxation, the money we take from the people for revenue, and stamps, etc., and as the greenbacks get worn by constant handling we will print new ones.

Pat—I see; you propose to take the debt now carried by the rich bondholder and divide it among the people, rich and poor alike, by forcing the bondholder to spend his money for property. Jack-Exactly-you are learning fast, and you see-Pat-Hould on-an idee strikes me.-

If the Government debt is all in greenbacks, and them in circulation, how many cords of 'em will it take to buy a cord of wood?

Jack—I cannot exactly say what they would be worth—that will regulate itself. But by the way, Pat, could you pay me that little note you owe me?—It was due yesterday, and I need the money yery much. money very much.

Pat—Yes, I know the note is due.
and I'll pay you according to the Dimmecratic platform.

Jack-What do you mean? Pat—I mane I'll give you a fresh note for the one ye have.

Jack—There's nothing about giving fresh notes in the Democratic platform. Pat—Yis, ye said we'd pay the bonds off in greenbacks, and both of them are promises to pay of the same government. Ye's give one promise to pay for another one, and I'll give you a fresh promise to pay for the one you have now. The note you have now says 10 per cent, interest; the new one will say without interest; and no time will say without interest, and no time set for its payment.

Jack—But that is an individual mat ter, and the other is a government mat-ter. You honestly owe me, and promised to pay me yesterday. Your proposition is to cheat me out of my money.

Pat—An its cheatin' ye out of your money, is it? An' haven't I as good a right to chate ye as the government has to chate the widders an' orphans whose money is all in government and the state of the st money is all in government bonds? I'll pay ye on the Dimmecratic platform!

A Trenton paper relates the following political conversation which recently took place in that city: Republican Do you think many Democrats will vote for Gen. Grant? Democrat—No. Republican — Why? Democrat — Because he hurt himself when he captured Lee. Republican—Oh! ah! I see.

A FTER twenty years experience in the man ufacture of stoves, we became convinced, some six years since, that a vast amount of money was being expended by the people of this large postion of this creat and worthless stoves, a large postion of this true economy consisted in only in the true economy consisted in only in the true was higher. With this view we proceeded to construct the American Cooking Stove, and spared no pains or expense to make it the best and most perfect stove that could be made. And we have experimented with it, and carefully watched its operation for the last six years, and when an improvement suggested itself, we have at once adopted it, and we have several of these improvements secured by letters patent. In this manner we do not hesitate to say, we have this manner we do not hesitate to say, we have brought it to a higher state of perfection than has heretofore been attained in cooking stoves. The recent improvements in this stove has added largely to its convenience and effectiveness. In all the varieties of stoves we manufacture, we study perfulness, durability, convenience and economy in operation, rather than cheapness in price, and in so doing we are satisfied we study the interest of those purchasing our stores. Knoxville, August 14, 1807-tf. AGENTS WANTED FOR OFFICIAL HISTORY OF THE WAR, Its Causes, Character, Conduct and Results.

By HON. ALEXANDER H. STEVENS. A Book for all Sections and all Parties. This great work presents the only complete and impartial analysis of the causes of the War yet published, and gives these interior lights and shadows of the great conflict only known to those high officers who watched the flood-tide of revolution from its fountain springs, and which were so accessible to Mr. Stephens from his po aition as second officer of the Confederacy.

To a public that has been surfeited with APPARENTLY SIMILAR PRODUCTIONS, we promise a change of fare, both agreeable and sal-utary, and an intellectual treat of the highest order. The great American war has AT LAST found a historian worthy of its importance, and at whose hands it will receive that moderate, candid and impartial treatment which truth and justice so urgently demand.

The intense desire every where manifested to obtain this work, its Official character and ready sale, combined with an increased commission,
