GRANT &

T was somewhat astonished to learn ] from a reliable source, while on this trip that when John Morgan made his es cape, or, to use his words, "was bribed out," he did not cross the river below Cincinnati, as was reported, but above the city, and passed through Campbell county. "Murder, will, always out," county. "Murder will always out," and the lesser 'crimes, too, so we may reasonably hope that time will reveal who the "influential persons" were who were the chief instruments in effeoting, this bribery. At Murfeesboro, Tennessee, it is well understood, and not denied, that Morgan's Democratic friends in Ohio and Kentucky paid a large sum of money for his release, and that somebody else did the digging. To go further into the details of the different conversations which I had with different people, and which I over-heard, would only be a repetition of what I have already written.

The sight of the stage upon which I was to return to Cinciunati was a welcome one, on Saturday morning, and I was soon being whirled over the pike toward, "God's country," Seated next to me was an Episcopal clergyman recently from Virginia. As we neared

Newport I pointed out to the earth-Newport 1 pointed out to the earth-works on the hill and said : "There are the fortifications we built in 1852 to defend the people of Newport and Covington from their friends." "Yes, and you did it successfully," he replied ; "but if Seymour is elected we will try the thing over again, and workage the result will not he so two berlings the result will not be so tavora-ble to your side." (1) As a summary of what I saw and heard in Kentucky, I can only say that if the people over this mean anything at all by their talk, they mean fight, and, in the event of a Democratic victory, will inaugurate it at once. They seem to be desperate over the loss of slavery and political power in the ua-tion, and they now feel like doing what they, did not in 1861, going into the fight as a State as well as individuals.

B. DADD PERPLEXED.

Mr. Editor :- If you don't wish to become a gibbering idiot, don't read the World, and other N. Y. democratic papers. I have been reading them; and although I have not become a gibbering idiot, like their editors, they have had a very queerly effect upon me, indeed I am told they are very good papers for those persons that like such papers but those that like such papers cannot be very good persons. This is a poor rule that don't work both ways. The World and other N. Y. democratic papers have become so addicted to calling people by their wrong names, that, after a week's perusal, I scarcely know whether my own nom de guerre is B. Dadd, or D. Babb, or B Dabb-or which.

And sometimes I think it is. Since reading the World et al., I am sorely puzzled to know who are the Republican Presidential candidates.-One day they are Hiram Ulysses and duty. Coler Chuylfax, and the next day they aren't.
