Wellsboro.—Owing to a drenching rain Friday evening the meeting at the Court House was not as full as usual, only about 150 persons being present. Mr. S. B. Elliott ad. dressed the audience in an able speech which was frequently applauded.

PROGRESS.—The walls of the M. E. Church building are now about half way up, and the promise of a fine structure is made good .-The weather has not been favorable to, the rapid progress of the work for some days. With the usual good weather of the season, however, we see no reason to doubt the completion of the walls and roof before hard frosts sets in.

The Copperhend Caravan took advantage of this Fair to set up its side shows in Elkland, and really furnished nearly as many speakers as the Fair furnished auditors. Wednesday night was set apart for known as the Demogratic Caravan, and Judge Maynard was announced to enter the cage of teroofons beasts in the presence of the people -Night come. The Caravan repaired to the Hall | of Bunnel's Hotel, and the performance began. The audience was fair until the Boys in Blue of Oceola and Elkland paraded the streets with their tarches The glare of the torches sent a lurid light up into the Hall and startled the an ditors, who thought of fire. Mr. Mayrard assured his auditors that the light proceeded from a few Republican torches and nould that wobally. The audience thus argued began to leave the Hall rapidly, and betook themselves to the street in front of Culver's Herel where Hon. Gossip.—Honesty is not the best policy, because it is not a policy at all. Pure and simple, honesty is a principle, just as life is a principle. It cannot be put off and on like one's "Store clothes," It is a part of a man and woman, an attribute of the soul. Is a man or woman nonest, he or she is so born. And we do not know of anybody born with dishonest tendencies who has so gotten the upper hand of them that they will not crop out sometime and somewhere Dishonesty does not lie in flagrant departures from the path of rectitude alone. The woman who goes to the merchant's, and after getting his lowest living prices sets herself about beating him down a peg or two lower, is, whether she mows it or not, dealing with a dishonest tenlency. It is not, strictly speaking, either fair or honest to attempt to purchase anything for less than it is worth in the market, nor can it be called flagrantly dishonest. It is the beginning of disionesty. It is a departure from the honest and upright course of living, and letting to live. Perfect honor requires one to conceds to every other person all that one claims for oneself. If Jones makes baskets, and cannot afford to make them for less than a certain standard price, what right has Jones to demand that Smith shall pay full price for his baskets and sell him a pound of ten at its cost in the city? If Dobbs makes cheese which is worth sixteen cents in the market, and Hobbs pays him the price without grumbling, why should Dobbs insist upon buying a suit of clothes of Hobbs at less than a living and meets every Saturday evening at Babb's and profit? On the other hand, why should Smith sell factory cloth to Jones for two prices because Jones pays for the cloth in baskets at the fair living price? Now, to our mind none of these non-reciprocal acts are honest. They are not of the grade of rescalities and they full below the leeds of fair dealing. -We once heard Ward Beecher preach a ser-

non upon unrecognized sins. It did not seem for a time that anybody was to be scorched a great deal. But as the discourse began to take shape many a man and woman moved about uneasily; and finally everybody came to know County Baptist Association would urge the ne- | He took the fine lady who shopped ut Stewart's gessity of each church being prompt in sending and painted her all the way from the moment she concluded "a bargain" to the moment when the Committee. "in fact I know I got it for less than it cost at the custom house." "Then you cheated the dealer," said Beecher; "for no man can live and sell at cost, or below it. He then paid his espects to the man who attended church regularly, had family worship, was liberal in church matters, gave large sums to the missionary fund, and was known for extensive charities. He pictured him in the stock exchange, watching for a man who had bought recklessly and sold short. He showed how this man bought Erie at a low figure when it was sure to rise, and afford him a chance to sell out at a fine profit; and painted gat forth by the old vetpran and his agents the him as he looked in his back office when he had accomplished his purpose, and was richer by twenty thousand dollars at noon than he was at materials for a bonfire consumed untimely. Important Facts. SINCE Salutifer is now being used in thousands of families the following facts are important to be known.

First—Though it is the most powerful of all popular remedies, yet it is so compounded, as to be safe and harmless. It is of such a nature that it may be handled and used by children, and persons who are ignorant of Medicines.

Second—It is found that Salutifer will relieve evere pain in any part of the body sooner than any other application.

THIRD—It is important that the bottle be well

orked, if left open only a few minutes it loses

trongth.

FOURTH—This useful remedy can be obtained from almost every dealer in medicines. Notice. THE attention of Merchants and others liable to HE attention of Merchants and others liable to a License, is respectfully called to the set of the 11th of April 1862. Pamphlet laws, 492, regulating the collection and payment of Licenses which are payable at the Treasurer's Office on the 1st day of May in each and every year, and by said act, all Licenses remaining unpaid on the first day of July, the Treasurer is required to sue and press to judgment and collection, as soon—as practicable thereafter, and in default thereof, to be personally liable.
