OUR NEW SENATOR .- A correspon dent of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, gives the following, in reference to John Scott, nominated by the Repub-licans of the Legislature for U.S. Sen-

Pennsylvania rarely selects for high political station men whose ability has been developed in the pursuits of private life. Our habit has been to overlook merit conspicuous only in professional, literary, business or social circles, in pursuit of some political hack or veteran office-holder, as the more appropriate candidate for such distinguished places. Hence, many people who do not know John Scott, of Huntingdon, nominated for United States Senator, are curious to know what manner of man he is.

" Having known him from boyhood I may gratify their curlosity. Mr. Scott was born in Huntingdon county, his father having many years ago represented the district of which that county was a part in Congress. He is about forty-six years old, and has been was a Democrat of mild type, taking but little part in politics, until the retime he has been angearnest, conspicouand advanced Republican, the accepted and trusted leader of the Republican centiment in central Pennsylvania .-Although he presided at a Republican State Convention (held at Williamsport,) and has done faithful and effective campaign service since his accession to the party, he has never followed politics as a trade. His life has been kinson. Mr. Daggett must know that mel of professional and social usefulness.

"The spontaneous popular movement in the central and western counout of the universal recognition of his Senate than ever Wilkinson was. admirable fitness for public life, and was mainly conducted by gentlemen eminent in the development of the State's industrial interests. For fifteen years he has led the bar in his judicial district, and I think the lawyers and judges who know him professionally will bear witness that he has no superi United States Senate."

A HERCULES.-James Gibson. East Bradford township, Chester Co., went into the West Chester Record office the other day and wrote hish one against the wall while a fifty-six pound weight was hanging on his little linger three-score years. He made the following statement to the editor of the Rechammer at Hibernia, with great ease, and could shoulder three bushels of wheat standing, with both feet in the one. half bushel. In 1828 could take a barrel of cider from the wagon, carry it several steps and place it on the porch two 56 lb., weights together and take end hoops and lift it arm's length. On Saturday evening, Jan. 5 1869 John Stone o Waverly, offered to wark from Mitcheff's tavern to Joseph B. Miller's and back, barefooted, in the snow, for five dollars; the distance down and back being about a mile. The money was promptly faised by the bystanders, and he put off bootand stockings and prepared to run with patience the race set before him. But re did not find it a way of pleasant- ness, nor a path of peace. Being com-passed about by a cloud of witnesses. one of them managed to trip him ut the walk was long, and his feet were tender, and the snow was cold, and much of the vigor of youth departed good soldier; and having respect to the recompense of the reward, he pressed was more noise in that tavern over one sinner that returned barefooted, than over the ninety and nine that were

Having honestly earned the money, he did not pocket it, not did he treat the crowd, but he handed it to Deacon Wright, saying, "There is five dollars for your Sunday School."

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 20, 1869.

We regret to note the death of THOM-AS MALONE, Esq., of the McKean Miner, on the 2d inst. Mr. Malone served in the Bucktails during the war with great credit, and probably contracted the disease (consumption) which caused his death, in the service. Mr. Malone was an estimable man, and closes his career at the early age of 27.

We note with pleasure that a joint caucus of the Maine Legislature has nominated Hon. Hannibal Hamlin for at the bar some twenty-five years. He the U. S. Senate. ABOUT RAILROADS.

That railroads have their advantages over turnpikes, dug roads and bridlepaths, that a comfortable, cushioned, warmed and lighted car, has its advanor at the bar of Pennsylvania, which is equivalent to saying that he will encounter no professional superior in the in winter and the swaggering stagein winter and the swaggering stagecoach in summer; that time is economized by these appliances of steam locomotion-that jointly and severally an accident has occurred to his train these things are true, we are bound to during the time. Congress—or the House of Representatives— has committed an act of retrogrission in its vote to repeal the Act of March 2, 1867, known as the Tenure-of-Office law.
