

The Agitator.

WELLSBORO, PENN'A. WEDNESDAY, FEB. 17, 1869.

A LONG VOYAGE.

On the morning of the 8th of October, 1868, the British barque Cadet left the mouth of the Chesapeake...

An error of $10,000 occurred in the statement of the war debt of the County last week. The amount of Bounty...

The Republican State Committee met at the Lehigh House, Harrisburg, on the 4th inst. The time and place of holding the State Convention were fixed for June 23, at Philadelphia.

Undoubtedly many have read, with increasing interest, the series of articles on the Constitution of the Earth, by Col. Emery, the 4th of which is written in this week's issue.

Let us hope that the joint resolution offered by Senator Wallace on the 23d inst., looking to a continuance of the outrageous monopoly of the lines of travel between Washington and the North, will be killed at once.

There may be a few, in each hundred of intelligent men, who can conceive of nothing higher in the scale of human duty than selfish consideration of number one; and there may be a few, in every hundred partisans, who regard the whole duty of a party done, when it has taken all necessary steps for the perpetuation of its power.

When we get out in defence of the principles upon which, four years later, the Republican party notably established itself and went before the people, it was with no special reference to the formation of a party. In common with thousands we determined to battle for those principles, first, always, and to the end.

The Republican party has established liberty throughout the republic; and it has partially established the correlative principle of equality before the law.

Class is a relic of the feudal ages. It cannot be engrained upon a system of Government diametrically opposed to feudal customs and practice.

The only equality possible under any government, is that of Opportunity and Inducement. Not only should all men and women have equal opportunity to gain an English education, but the inducement to seek such advancement should be to all alike.

Reverend—The Elmira Advertiser says that a man from Gettysburg, in this State, had his pocket picked in a crowd the other day.

It would be a gross libel to say that ladies use talcum, yet if you present a bottle of FALCON'S new perfume...
