rid coat. And he's got the expression of a murderer!" Murderer? Jupiter! this from my wife! . Tis to much. I'll be the death of that vile scoundrel; and then, madam, we will live apart heuceforth and forever!" and seizing a heavy candle-stick from the mantle, he made a dive at Mr. Swift. Swift grappled with him-Hopkins trod on the tail of his coat, and down he went and dragged Swift with him. "Oh, gracious me!" screamed Mrs. Hopkins, "he'll kill Frank, I can see murder in his eye," and woman-like, she wanted to have a finger in the pie, and with a huge copy of Shakespeare she fell to beating poor Hopkins on the "You stole my clothes, you dirty wretch you!" exclaimed Hopkins. "And you stole mine!" exclaimed Swift; my swallow-tail made out o one that my grandfather was married in, and the butternut trouserloons that Aunt Sally contrived out of a bed blank et! And you left your piebald affairs and they're so straight that I've been afraid to stoop all day, and nothing in the pockets of 'em but a quizzing glass and a bottle of biled down musksquash!' "1'll strip you on the spot!" thundered Hopkins, making a grab at the gorgeous chlaids: "off with them, or take the consequences. It's bad enough to find you hugging my wife, but to hear you abuse them pantaloons-it's sufficient to make a minister swear? The best fit in the United States. Cut by Jerkins right from Paris!" and every word was emphasized by a punch in the ribs.

Darn Jenkins! and darn Paris! eried-Swift in a rage; " if I owned a pair of breeches that bit me in the wast hands as these things do, I'd be the death of the man that spilt em !!

Its. Hopkins bee in to smell a rat.—
She drew blek from pounding Hopkins, and took a survey of the parties.

"Good gracious!" cried she. It's rank himself, but the t'other one's got on his clothes. Oh Lordy me!" and the Tainted; but recovered herself instantly when she saw her husband about to throw some water in her face.
"Dod't Frank! don't!!! she exclaimed, "it cost me hal a dollar to get my forchead enamelled, and there's a quartor's worth of gold powder in my hair fil shall be better in a minute." do she was, and the mistake was explained fully. Hopkins, and Swift shock hands—retired and changed Phry becarao the best of friends, and in due time Swift married, Mrs. Hopking sister, and after a season the too rejoiced in a pair of plaid pantaloons ent by Jenkius, and a bob-tailed coat cut by:Jenkins also.

THE MILLER'S DAUGHTER.

ET ALFRED TENNYBOX. It is the miller's daughter, And she is grown so dear, so dear, That I would be the jewel That trembles at her car:

For, hid in ringlets day and night,
I'd touch her neck so warm and white. And I would be the girdle

About her dainty, dainty waist,
And her heart would best against me
In sorrow and in rost:
And I should know if it beat right,
I'd clasp it round so close and tight. And I would be the necklace.

And all day long to fall and rise
Upon her balmy bosom,
With her laughter or her sighs.
And I would lie so light, so light,
I scarce should be unclasped at night.

How SHE HAD HIM.—A gentleman pleasautly situated, married and blessed with two beautiful daughters, the pride of the neighborhood and their parents joy, would seem to have all that was needed to make life cheerful, but strange as it may appear, he took his chie pleasure in propounding to the wife of his bosom hard conundrums, which she, quable to guess, would give up, saying; 'I can't guess—what is it?' and he invariably answered, That's a unt was, Eagle quiet having, no way of redress, and thinking that sometime she might pay the debt with interest. Thus matters remained until the hed and her dissolution was fast approaching. She asks in a feeble voice for her husband, to whom, on his coming to her bedside, she said. 'Joshua, we have two beautiful and affectionate 'Yes,' said the stricken husband and father, 'yes, they are indeed beautiful and affectionate children.

'Well, Joshua, I can't leave this world without telling you something that has long been weighing upon my mind, and may perhaps surprise you.—You are the father of only one of those 'What!' exclaimed the astonished busband, 'great God! which is my daugh-The wife turned to with a look of triumph, as she said: 'That's a nut for your to crack.' And before he could raily to ask more, the spirit of his partner was wafted away, leaving him with the toughest nut of all to crack by him-

Charles Lamb tells his sad experience, as a warning to young men, in the following language: "The waters have gone over me. But out of the black depths, could I be heard, I would cry out to all of those who have set a foot in the perilous flood. Could the youths to whom the flavor of the first wine is as delicious as the opening scenes of life or the entering upon some newly discovered paradise, look into my desolation, and be made to understand how drear it is, when he shall feel himself going down a precipice, with open eyes and a passive will to his destruction, and have no human power to stop it, and yet feel it all the way emanating from himself, to see all godliness emptied out of him, and yet not able to forget a time when it was otherwise; to bear the pitcous spectacle of his own ruin; could he see my fevered eye, fevered with last night's drinking, and feverishly looking for to-night's repeating of the folly; could he but feel the body of death out of which I cry hourly with feebler outcry to be delivered, it were enough to make him dash, the sparkling beverage to the earth, in all the pride of its mantling temptation."

A Puzzled Yankee.—Jinks tells a drear it is, when he shall feel himself

A PUZZLED YANKEE.-Jinks tells good story of a man on a Missssippi steamer who was questioned by a Yankee. The gentleman, to humor the fellow, replied to all questions straightforwardly until the inquirer was fairly puzzled for an interrogatory. At last Look here, Squire—where was you born?

'I was born,' said the victim, 'in Boston, Tremont street, No. 44; left hand side, on the 1st day of August, 1820, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon; physician, Dr. Warren; nurse, Sally Ben-Yankee was answered completely.-

For a omment he was stuck. Soon, however, his face brightened, and he quickly said: Yeas; wall, I calculate you don't recollect whether it was a frame or a brick house, do ye?'

Wellsboro, Nov. 4, 1868.

FOUTZ'S CELEBRATED Horse and Cattle Powders. This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestinces.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG PEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite-fives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms, the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one half a major to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be cradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a bertain preventive and gure for the Hog Cholera. DAVID E. FOUTZ, Proprietor, BALTÍMORE, Ma.
