LOST—a man's gray shawl, on the Tioga road, between R. E. Lent's and Niles'. The finder will much oblige the owner by sending it to this Office.

NOTARY PUBLIC.—Gov. Geary has appointed Henry Allen, Esq., of Mansfield, a Notary Public. We congratulate him.

Miss Adelaide Ladley, formerly Preceptress of the Mansfield Normal School, is lying very ill of brain fever, at her residence, Brooklyn, N. Y.

PERSONAL.—The Governor has reappointed R. C. Simpson, Esq., of this village, Notary Public. Mr. Simpson is an excellent officer, and the appointment is a credit to the public service.

BAPTISM.—Rev. C. A. Stone administered the rite of baptism, by immersion, to seven persons at Cherry Flats, Sunday 18th inst. Others await the ordinance.

CONCERT.—The Concert by the Wellsboro Cornet Band will come off on Friday evening, April 30, instead of Saturday evening May 1, as advertised last week. Let everybody go.

CORRECTION.—We erred last week in announcing the commencement of Mrs. Bush's school for little folks on Monday, May 12. It commences Monday, May 10.

FIRE IN LAWRENCEVILLE.—"A. F. B." writes:

"On Tuesday afternoon, the 13th inst., a fire was discovered issuing from the roof of the residence of Dr. Lewis Darling, Jr., but by the promptness of the citizens in gathering to the scene, and their exertions after arriving, the flames were stayed with but a small loss to either building or furniture, both of which were covered by insurance.

The fire originated from a defect in the chimney."

NEWSPAPORIAL.—We, last week omitted to notice the dissolution of the firm of Hooker & Jenkins, publishers of the Northern Tier Gazette, at Troy. Mr. Hooker has purchased Mr. Jenkins' interest, and the paper will hereafter be carried on by Mr. Hooker. The Gazette is one of the most enterprising journals in the State, and deserves a large patronage. We do not learn what becomes of Mr. Jenkins.

BUSINESS.—Mr. William Roberts of this village, and Mr. R. C. Bailey late of Morris Run, have effected a partnership in the Hardware and Tin trade, under the name of Roberts & Bailey. The new firm starts under favorable auspices and cannot fail of an increasing and successful business.

We mistook the fact in stating, two weeks ago, that Mr. E. H. Hastings had purchased the Miller property on Nichols Street. He purchased the property lately owned by Mrs. Green.

REMEMBER THE DAY.—Sunday, the 30th day of May, proximo, is set apart by the Grand Army of the Republic for the decoration of the graves of the brave boys who fell in the war for national life. Last year the day was remembered by a few, only, of this place, and those few mindful ones were women. No excuse can be rendered this year for neglect of this sacred duty. It falls on Sunday, when business cares do not distract.

The cemetries of Tioga county contain the ashes of many brave soldiers. The heroes of the war deserve all that we can do in their remembrance. Their sacrifice, the cause in which they fell sho'd ever be fresh in recollection. Let our people remember "Decoration Day," and strew every grave however humble, with flowers.

IMPROVEMENTS.—A. P. Cone, Esq., has broken ground for a brick hotel to occupy the site of the old United States, burned two years ago. We have not examined the plans and elevation, but learn that it is to be of three stories, with stores on the ground floor. We believe Mr. Cone intends to put up a first-class building, which, when opened to the public, will compare favorably with any hotel outside of the large cities. He will be entitled to the gratitude of not only the traveling public, but to that of the citizens as well.

Van Horn is about to erect a new and spacious Wareroom on the site of the old building used heretofore for that purpose. His business is steadily increasing, a fact which rejoices his friends and patrons. His factory is now most complete in its appliances, the machinery being new and of the best patterns and improvements. His planers and matching machine have abolished jack-planes and reduced the cost of building measurably. He contemplates enlarging his factory at no distant day, to make room for other machinery required by increasing patronage.

Mr. Franklin L. Sears has purchased the Foundry property, and proposes to enlarge the circle of its patronage. He has engaged the services of Mr. S. S. Spencer, a first-class operative machinist, and we know no reason why men should pass Wellsboro and go to Corning for any work except planing. Shall we have the pleasure of announcing the purchase of a planer of iron (it has a Woodworth machine,) for the Foundry and Machine Shop?

Wright & Bailey are putting a neat front into their new store; but ah! if it had been a nice brick store how much better it would have been.

The Messrs. Sturrock have just completed a beautifully arranged set of book cases for the Register and Prothonotary. The heavy books lie flat on friction rollers, thus avoiding the wear and tear of the old method. The cases are specimens of nice work.

TIOGA LOCAL.—We notice the return to this village of our sojourner of watermelon notoriety. He brings with him four sturdy foreigners—just the chaps to hoe the vine, and have an abundance of melons on hand for the fall campaign.

The residence of C. Otis Thatcher has been enclosed with a neat and durable picket fence. To those whose fences are old and shabby, we would say—"go thou and do likewise."

The log-runners are very busy at present in this vicinity, running the spring drive to the mills at Lawrenceville.

John Van Ostin is making a great improvement in the appearance of the store lately occupied by J. J. Brady. He has bought the property, and will keep, as usual, a first-class saloon and grocery.

Abial Sly lost a good five year old horse last Sunday. Disease unknown, at least to your correspondent.

Hydrophobia has made its appearance, a dog having been killed last Sunday not far from here, infected with that disease. The village authorities have as yet done nothing in the way of protection. We hear of several cases at or near Lamb's creek. A steer was bitten there, and died in great agony, and it is supposed many dogs were bitten, as the rabid one passed through in the night.

Better that the whole canine family be annihilated than one person be even exposed to this terrible disease.

The Brooklyn steam Mill has again mingled its shrill voice with the others of the place. Our stationary steam music is now represented in full, and aided by an occasional chorus and so high—not now—from the "iron horse," it renders it very attractive, and particularly so, about five o'clock in the morning.

There is a rumor in circulation to the effect, that the "Lucky Oil Well" is to be tested again this spring. But it will take a vigorous action on the part of those interested, to create any excitement in oil speculation again.

Philo Tuller has gone to New York to replenish his stock of yankee notions, drugs, &c. He keeps a good assortment of the above articles, and all who deal with him will find him to be a pleasant and agreeable trader.

"Aleci." We cannot with a due regard for self, deliver our "horn" over to Lawrenceville: although we should be thrice happy to hear a strain from that locality. But they must "toot" their own "horn," or remain in a dormant state until Gabriel sounds the final trump.

Mansfield has furnished them with an attorney, and we have given them a landlord and wagon-maker, and could Wellsboro send them a commission merchant, or insurance agent, perhaps they would be well enough fortified for a venture a gun or two. SCRIBBLETY.

GOSSIP.—Cruelty and injustice appear to be more contagious than kindness and charity. As it is easier to pull down than it is to build up, so it is easier to fall than to climb.—We have been reminded of these things by the labored effort of somebody in a late number of Putnam to rob a dead man of what, though it may not do him much good now, still belonged and [illegible] to him, his heirs and friends, forever. We refer to Wolfe, the author of that popular poem, "The Burial of Sir John Moore." The writer in Putnam, alluded to, publishes that poem in both French and German, claiming that both the French and the German versions antedate Wolfe's poem. It is a noticeable fact, however, that the writer in Putnam does not produce proofs in support of his theory. If the French and German versions antedate Wolfe, surely some book, or periodical, must be in existence, the date of which might be supposed to settle the question. We are not of those who greatly value Wolfe's poem as a sample of poetry; but it touched a tender spot in the public heart when it appeared, and has retained its hold up to this age.

However, Wolfe, his poem and his fame, is not the subject of our story. It is founded, rather, upon a complaint put up by Mr. Patrick McWhirter, "a gallus Irishman", who sends us the following morceau under the name and style of "Daylight in a Barnyard":

"The zephyrs of morning play over the tatoes,
The mist is so lazy it don't care a darn;
A pean of praise o'er the sleeping tomatoes
Is ringing to welcome the coming consarn.
Is loftily ringing, exultingly ringing
From the spot where an old dunghill rooster is clinging,
The end of the ridge-pole—the peak of the barn!" "PATRICK JAMES MCWHIRTER."

—And complains: That one Geo. W. Sears, not having the fear of the tenth Muse before his eyes, and with irreverence prepense, did, some years ago, write, and furnish to the AGITATOR, certain lines in the nature of a parody upon other certain verses composed by Patrick James McWhirter, and published foregoing. In testimony whereof the said P. J. Mc W., submits the alleged parody by Mr. G. W. S., and asks us to publish the same in vindication of his, (P. J. Mc W's) life, fortune, and sacred honor. Here is the alleged parody, entitled—"Sunrise in the Forest":

"The zephyrs of morning are stirring the larches,
And lazily lifting, the mists roll away;
A paean of praise, thro' the dim forest arches,
Is ringing, to welcome the advent of day:—
Is loftily ringing, exultingly ringing,
From the spot where a little brown songster is olinging—
The top of a hemlock—the uttermost spray."
G. W. SEARS.

We recollect very well that we begged the publication of the above seven lines, some five years ago, and prefaced them with some words of eulogy. We do not see just where the "parody" comes in; nor do we admit the prior claim of P. J. Mc W. In turning over an ancient book the other day we were greatly surprised to find something antedating both; and as a matter of curiosity feel bound to lay what seems to be the original of "Daylight in a Barnyard," before a critical public. It is supposed to have been written by the author of the Sorrows of Werter and Thaddeus of Warsaw, sometime during the 10th century. More elegant French seldom gets printed in these degenerate days. The poem is entitled

"L' AUBE EN LA METAIRIE."

Avec les pommes de terre les zephyrs du matin s'amuser,
Les bruillardes paressense ne s'inquister pas;
Un chanson de gloire pour les pommes de l'humour endormie,
Sonnant ost bon accueil par haut et par bas:
En haut l'est sonnant, avec transport c'est connant,
Hors la perche ou le coq vieux du fumier s'agrifiant—
Des sommet de la grange—[illegible]

—And with this we respectfully submit the case of McWhirter vs. Sears to the judgment of a critical public, knowing that the author of the Sorrows of Werter is beyond reach of carping criticism, and superior to the base envy which rends the souls of modern poets.

TABLEAUX.—The Ladies of the M. E. Church in this village will give an entertainment consisting of Music, Dialogues, and Tableaux, on Tuesday evening of next week, at the Court House.

MANSFIELD LOCAL.—Accidental writes:

"Geo. Lyman, one of the orphan boys, got two of his fingers on the left hand badly cut with a circular saw at Elliott & Clark's factory, Thursday, 22d inst. George was one of a party of orphans detailed to handle lumber, and got his trouble by being where he ought not to have been. The proprietors of the factory would doubtless be glad if those not in their employ would keep away from the machinery. They cannot always be watching, or spend their entire time to save from trouble, such as have an irresistible desire to get hurt. Master Lyman had felt the edge of the saw only the day before.

Messrs. Hall & Co., late of Springfield, Bradford Co., have leased of C. V. Elliott, M. D., the building formerly occupied by him as a drug-store and P. O., on Main street, last used by C. C. Brown as a grocery store and saloon. Hall & Co. have refitted the rooms, and are about opening a "bran new" lot of goods and groceries.

Dr. C. V. Elliott, our enterprising druggist and P. M., has been cleaning up and whitewashing, and is now off to New York after new goods. By the way, we saw a great pile of wall-paper, nice and cheap, make its way to his counters the other day. What in the world do you mean to do with these doctor?

Mr. Fenton Allen, for three years steward of the State Normal School, has gone to Seneca Falls N. Y. and engaged in the tub manufacturing business. Mr. Allen has been back here a few days on business.

In reply to Mr. Henry Hollands, of Blossburg, who asks if "Accidental" "knows of any place where they take only those who vote on one side as a basis of representation," I would say: I do not consider the question fairly put. If he had asked if I knew of any place where a larger class were represented, than had a voice in choosing representatives, it would have been germane to the view he has taken; and I know of many such places; it is an old English rule and has existed in nearly or quite every State in our Union, ever since the formation of the Federal government; but thanks to the "14th amendment" that is to be dispensed with hereafter. In a state or national legislature, or other public assembly, where all parties are to be represented, the whole and not a part, or party alone, should be made the basis of representation; but in a party caucus or convention, where only a part, forming a party, are to be represented, to make an unrepresented class or party, a part in the basis of that representation, is to return to exploded ideas, and doctrines "adverse" to the spirit of the age in which we live.

The whole vote of Tioga county at the last October Election, was 7949.
Republican vote 5411.
Democratic vote 2088.

Mr. Hollands asks for a Republican party Convention, made up of 68 members, or one delegate to every 110 voters, which would give 19 delegates in a Republican Convention, for the 2088 democratic votes cast. Probably the democrats would not object to the arrangement, if they could have their say in choosing the 19 delegates. To illustrate: Bloss has 486 votes giving her four delegates. Fall Brook and Jackson have 466 votes which would entitle them to four delegates. Bloss has 334 Republican votes, and Fall Brook and Jackson 237—making them equal to Bloss, with 97 fewer Republican electors, and gaining one delegate over the Bloss Republicans, by virtue of their unrepresented democratic vote being made a part of the basis of representation, according to Mr. Hollands, plan.

But it is a foolish thing to find fault with anything, for which we can provide nothing better; that I think I can do by modifying Mr. Hollands' plan so as to make it comply with Republican, and not Democratic principles. Make the Republican vote of the last proceeding October election, the basis of delegate representation in every Convention, and a Republican in Bloss will be equal to a Republican in Fall Brook; and my word for it, there will be very little Republican buckwheat threshed at the October Elections.

If by accident, you get scalded, bruised, burned, or sprained, then apply

Salutifer

If you are afflicted with lameness, or numbness and stiffness of the limbs, or with severe pain, or painful swellings like Neuralgia and Inflamatory Rheumatism, then try by all means. Apply it quickly so as not to leave it open to the air; and use it according to directions on the bottle.

If you have Sore Throat, or Quinsy, or Felons, or Croup, or Pleurisy, or Chilblains, or any of these disorders that require an outward remedy, then

SALUTIFER

Is what you want, for it has proveda blessing to thousands. Although it is reckoned to be one of the strongest medicines; yet it is so safe that even a child may handle & use it.
