THE CAPTAIN'S DAUGHTER. We were crowded in the cabin ; Not a soul would dare to elega-

It was midnight on the waters, And a storm was on the deep. Tis a fearful thing in winter To be shattered by the blast, And to hear the rattling trumpet Thunder, " Cut away the must."

So we shuddered there in silence; For the stoutest held his breath While the angry sea was roaring, And the breakers talked of death

As thus we sat in darkness,

Each one busy with his prayers,

"We are lost," the captain shouled.

As he staggered down the stairs.

But his little daughter whispored,-As she took his icy hand, " Isn't God upon the water, Just the same as on the land?"

Then he kissed the little maiden, And he spoke in better cheer; And we anchored in the harbor When the morn was shiming clear.

SPRING DISEASES.-Reader! have you a mite, one solitary atom of common sense? If you have, be persuaded to make a healthful use of it, and commence on the instant. As soon as spring begins to set in, almost everybody has more or less a feeling of lassitude; there is less buoyancy, less of appetite, less disposition to exercise; some are so indisposed that they have to keep in the house, and numbers take to their because you have got no sense, not a particle of it, or if you have, you do not make use of it. You can readily unin the house; and may be you are won-dering why the servants will persist in making the house hotter now than in the depth of winter; they are only burning as much fuel now as in and-winter, and they have not the sense to know this, or at least they do not care to think. The human body is a house to be kept warm; and, to be n. health, its heat must be maintained at the same temperature the year round—that is, ninety-six degrees. The stomach is, in a sense, the furnace; the food put into it is the fuel; the lungs set it on fire. Why, then, do you eat in warm weath- Mail Train leaves Eri er as much as you do in cold weather? On a spring day, when scarcely any fire is needed in the house, you cram as much fuel into your stomach as in the depth of winter. You see that you have not as much sense as Biddy; she is only trying to burn up your house, you are trying to burn yourself with fever. baby not three months old has too much sense to poke its little finger into the candle twice; yet you are poking your whole gluttonous hulk, head fore nost, overy day into the furnace, and yet actually don't know what hurts you. You don't think, or, if you do, they are such diluted, nilk and water thinks" that addine a load would be a bad bargan to the purchaser.

In adult life the food we eat serves: two purposes; it sustains and keeps warm. For the latter objects, meats, oil, butters, gravies and sweets are used; hence in warm weather, a comparatively small amount of these things should be eaten; but in their place take breads, fruits, vegetables, melons and berries. Nature's instincts call loudly for the acids of berries and fruits, and for the earliest tender vegetables, the 'greens" and the salads of our gardeners. It is because they have no heating quantities; they are rather "coolin their nature. They who spend much of their time indoors would enjoy an exemption from a great many bodily discomforts, if upon the first day of spring they would begin to have meat, for only one meal in a day, and in lessening quantities as the summer comes on.—Hall's Journal of Health.

RESPECT THE BODY .- Respect the body, dear men and women! speak of it reverently, as it deserves. Don't take it into unworthy places; give it sunshine, pure air, and exercise. Be conscientious as to what you put down its throat. Remember what is fun to the cook and confectionery trades may be death to it. Give it good, wholesome food; let it be on intimate terms with friction and soap and water; and especially don't render it ridiculous by your way of dressing it. Recognize the dignity of the body; hold it erect when you are awake, and let it lie out straight when you're asleep. Don't let it go through the world with little mineing steps nor great gawky strides; don't swing its arms too much, and don't let them grow limp from inactivity. Resolve to respect its shoulders, its back, and its fair proportions generally, and straightway shall stoops, and wriggles, and "grecian bends" be unknown forever.

Respect the body—give it what it requires and no more. Don't pierce its ears, strain its eyes, or pinch its feet; den't roast it by a hot fire all day, and smother it under heavy bed covering all night; don't put it in a cold draught on slight occasions, and don't nurse or pet it to death; don't dose it (with doctor's stuffs, and, above all, don't turn it into a wine cask or a chimney. Let it be "warranted not to smoke" from the time your manhood takes possesRespect the body.

Respect the body; don't over-work, over-rest, or over-love it, and never debase it, but be able to lay it down when you are done with it, a well worn but not a misused thing. Meantime, treat it at least as well as you would your pet horse or hound, and my word for it, though it will not input to this a state. though it will not jump to China at a bound, you'll find it a most excellent thing to have especially in the country. -Hearth and Home.

A drunken loafer was picked up in the street. There was no sense in his head, no cents in his pocket, a power-erful scent in his breath, and he was sent to the station house.

THE CHURCH UNION.

This paper has been recently enlarged to mammoth proportions. It is the Largest religious fares in the world. Is the leading organ of the Union Movement, and opposes ritualism, close communion, exclusiveness and church caste. It is the only paper that publishos Honry Ward Reccher's Sormons, which it does every week, just as they are delivered,—without qualification or correction by him. It advocates universal suffrage; a union of christians at the polis; and the rights of labor. It has the best agricultural Department of any paper in the world; publishos stories for the family, and for the destruction of social evils, Its editorial management is impersonal; its writers and editors are from every branch of the church, and from every grade of society. It has been aptly termed the freest organ of thought in the world. Such a paper; offering premiums of Sewling Machines, Diotionaries, Appleton's Cyclopedia, Pianos, Organs for Churchos, etc, makes one of the best papers for canvassers in the world.

BINDING.

Wellsboro, April 24, 1867-tf. Harper's new monthly magazine Critical Notices of the Press This most popular Monthly in the world .- N. 60,000 Apple Trees. Observer.
We must refer in terms of culogy to the hig tone and varied excellences of Harper's Magazine—a journal with a monthly circulation of about 170,000 copies—in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and general reading of the day. We speak of this work as an evidence of the culture of the American People; and the converte it is the accordant in morted.

Number contains fully 144 pages of reading-matter, appropriately illustrated with good wood cuts; and it combines in itself the racy monthly and the more philosophical quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily journal. It has great power in the dissimination of a love of pure literature.—Trubner's Guide to American Me can account for its success only by the simple fact that it meets precisely the popular taste, furnishing a variety of pleasing and instructive reading for all.—Zion's Herald, Boston. "A Repository of Fashion, Pleasure, and Instruction."

HARPER'S BAZAR. A supplement containing numerous full-sized patterns of useful articles accompanies the paper every fortnight, and occasionally an elegant colored fashion plate. Harper's Bazar contains 16 folio pages of the size of Harper's Weekly, printed on superfine calendered paper, and is published weekly.

Critical Notices of the Press. -Harper's Bazar contains, besides pictures, patterns, etc., a variety of matter of especial use and interest to the family; articles on health, dress, and housekeeping in all its branches; its editorial matter is specially adapted to the circle it is intended to interest and instruct; and it has besides, good stories and literary matter of merit. It is not surprising that the journal. with such features, has achieved in a short time an immense the tures, it is achieved in a short time an immense success; for something of its kind was desired in thousands of families, and its publishers have filled the demand.—N. Y. Evening Post.

Whether we consider its claims as based upon the elegance and superiority of the paper, its typographical appearance, the taste and judg-ment displayed in the engravings, or the literary aontributions contained in its pages, we unhesitatingly pronounce it to be superior in each and every particular to any other similar publication here or abroad.—Phil'a Legal Intelligencer.
