A lover can never despair: For the world is uncommonly wide, And the women uncommonly fair. Then poots their raptures may tell, Who never were put to the test; A first leve is all very well, But, believe me, the last is the best-

And o'en should the second subside,

AN BEXACTING HUSBAND.-Wych erly, the comedian, married a girl of elghteen when he was verging on eighty. Shorty after, Providence was pleased in His mercy to the young woman to call the old man to another and better world. But ere he took his final departure from this, he summon-ed his young wife to his bedside and announced to her he was dying, where upon she wept letterly. Wycherly lifted himself up in the bed, and gazing with tender emotion on his wife, said: 'My dearest love, I have a solemn promise to exact from you heare I quit your side forever here below. Will you assure me my wishes will be attended to by you, however great the sacrifice you will be called upon to make?"

Horrid idea, of suttees, of poor Indian widows being called upon to expire on funeral Pyres, with the hodies of their deceased lords and masters, the beautiful to the property of t flashed across the brain of the poo woman. With a convulsive effort and a desperate resolution she gasped out an assurance that his commands, however dreadful they might be, should be obeyed.

Then Wychorly, with a gharily smile, said, in a low and solemn voice:
'My beloved wife, the parting request I have to make of you is—that when I am gone, (here the poor woman sobbe and cried most vehemently,) when I am in my grave—(Mrs. Wycherly tore her hair)—when I am laid fow—(the disconsolate wife roared with grief)when I am no longer a heavy burden and a tie on you—'Oh, for heaven's sake,' howled Mrs. W., 'what am I to do?') -I command you my dear young wife-(yes, y-c-s, love, sobbed Mrs. W. -on pain of incurring my malediction -(y-c-sdear ground) the horror-stricker wife) -- never to marry an old man Mrs. Wycherly deied her tears, and in the most fervent manner, promised that she never would-and the faithful woman kept her word for life. A young man seated at dinner the other day, said to his wife: "Ellen, if you are good at guessing here is a coundrum for you:

"If the devil should lose his tail where would be get another one "" After some time spent in guersing, she gave it up.

, "Well," said he, "where they retail Eager to get it off, she has engl to: lady friend with: Oh! Marian, I have such conundrum! Joe just told me of it.-I know you can't guess it: 'In the devil should lose his tail, where would be go to get another?"" Her friend Marian having given up, she said:

"Where they sell liquor by the glass Fowts.--Those who keep the small est number of fowls together wenerally obtain the greatest proportionale miniber of eggs. This is easily accounted for when we call to mind the fact that they are very filthy birds, and when kept in large numbers with limited space they very soon sour their premises. They are filthy, nor by nature, but by habit. The size of the flock must always depend upon theacommor dations, and the smaller the flock the more easily can it be kept cleanly and healthy; and in proportion as these conditions are observed are fowls profi-

A gentleman remarked at a favori that he had shot a hawk at ninety yard with No. 6 shot. Another replied: "Must have a good gun, but Uncl Dave has one that beats it.' 'Ah! how far will his kill a hawl with No. 6 shot?" asked the first. 'I don't use shot or ball either, said Uncle Dave himself. "Then what do you use?" "I use salt altogether. I kill my game so far with the gun that the gam might spoil before I could get it."

THE EFFECT.—An exchange says: neighbor who had been repeatedly urged by some female acquaintances to accompany them to a skating pond, at last yielded, no longer able to resist the blandishments of his bewitching tormentors. He went. He said he put or a pair of skates and struck boldly out and the next thing he knew was him self in bed, the minister beside him singing a psalm, the doctor courting his wife, and the undertaker measuring him for a walnut coffin.

ARGUING WITH A WOMAN.—" You must admit, doctor," said a witty lady to a celebrated doctor of divinity, with whom she was arguing the question of the "equality of the sexes," must admit the woman was created before the man!" "Well, healty, Madam," said the astonished divine, "I must ask you to prove your ease."

POSITIVELY THE LAST.—It is stated that the last—positively the last—surviving soldier of the Revolution is just deceased. The event deserves more than a mere passing paragraph. Why don't some patriotic philosopher, masculine or fominine, get up a lecture on The Last Man of the Revolution.

THE CHURCH UNION. This paper has been recently enlarged to mammoth' proportions. It is the Langest extensive paper in the world. Is the leading organ of the Union Movement, and opposes ritualism, close communion, exclusiveness and church caste. It is the only paper that publishes Henry Ward Beecher's Sermon, which it does every week, just as they are delivered.— without qualification or correction by him. It advocates universal suffrage; a union of christians at the polit; and the rights of labor. It has the best Agricultural Department of any paper in the world; publishes stories for the family, and for the destruction of sodal ovils, Its editorial management is impersonal; its writers and editors are from every branch of the church, and from every grane of society. It has been apply termed the freest organ of thought in the world. Such a paper, offering premiums of Sewing Machines, Dictionaries, Appleton's Cyclopedia, Piamps, Organs for Churches, etc., makes one of the best papers for canyassers in the world.

HARPER'S NEW MONTHLY MAGAZINE Critical Notices of the Press. This most popular Monthly in the world .-- N.

We must refer in terms of culogy to the high one and varied excellences of Harper's Magazine —a journal with a monthly circulation of about 170,000 copies—in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and general reading of the day. We speak of this work as an evidence of the culture of the American People; and the popularity it has acquired is morited. Each Number contains fully 144 pages of reading-matter, appropriately illustrated with good wood cuts; and it combines in itself the racy, monthly and the more philosophical quarterly; blended with the best features of the daily journal. It has great power in the dissimination of a love of pure literature,—Trubner's Quide to American Literature, London. We can account for its success only by the simple fact that it meets precisely the popular taste, furnishing a variety of pleasing and instructive reading for all.—Zion's Herald, Boston. 'A Repository of Fashion, Pleasure, and Instruction.' Harper's bazar. A supplement containing numerous full-sized patterns of useful articles accompanies the paper every fortnight, and occasionally an elegant colored fashion plate.

Harper's Bazar contains 16 folio pages of the size of Harper's Weekly, printed on superfine onlendered paper, and is published weekly.

Critical Notices of the Press. Harper's Bazar contains, bosides pictures, pat-terns, etc., a variety of matter of especial use and interest to the family; articles on health, dress, and housekeeping in all its branches; its editorial matter is specially adapted to the circle it is intended to interest and instruct; and it has besides, good stories and literary matter of meric. It is not surprising that the journal, with such features, has achieved in a short time an immense success; for something of its kind was desired in thousands of families, and its publishers have filled the demand.—N. Y. Evening Post.

Whether we consider its claims as based upon Whether we consider its ciaims as based upon the elegance and superiority of the paper, its typographical appearance, the taste and judgment displayed in the engravings, or the literary anontributions contained in its pages, we unhesitatingly pronounce it to be superior in each and every particular to any other similar publication here or abroad .- Phil'a Legal Intelligencer.
