THE MURDER CASE.—We have been requested to publish the account of the alleged murder of the boy Tierney as it appears in the Troy Gazette. Taking all the circumstances into account we conclude not to do it. We have stated the alleged facts without note or comment. When the trial takes place the pious public may feast its fill of the gloomy horrors which always surround such cases.

FARM GATE. - Esquire Hastings, of Farmington has shown us the model of what appears to be the champion farm gate. It is cheaply made, easily operated, out of the way of any snow-fall, and may be had by any farmer at a low price for a farm right. The gate is Mead's natent. If there is any humbug about it we fail to discover where it is. The gate folds up like a camp stool, rising vertically from the path.

IMPROVEMENTS .- Mr. Geo. Wagner is making a fine improvement of his property or Cratton Street north of Main. He has added a fine large wing to his dwelling, and is now putting on a handsome front.

The Smith brothers have built a nent fence i front of their premises on State Street. The borough authorities have replanked th bridge, junction of State and King Streets.

PERSONAL .- Mr. H. H. Dartt writes us from Fontanelle, Adair Co., Iowa, to say that after traveling over a great portion of the State he has settled at that place. Fontanelle is hetween the Burlington R. R. and the Rock Island up very fast by Eastern people. Wild land is is a good country for men who want a home, and a poor country for land sharks and speculators. Gossip.—The man who goes about

When remonstrated with, and himself on the ground that it cost five dollars less than a much stronger and lighter spring wagon As he left town a man possessed of an old fashion scythe, with a sneath weighing 25 pounds, inquired which road the former took, stating that he was going to trade the old scythe to him for a modern mower and reaper. His idea was that a mower. We since learn that a sharp bricklayer has contracted with our lover of cheap things to take his American cooking stove at cost, and in exchange put in for him an eight-foot fire-place. Another story hard to believe, is that an enterprising bookseller has bargained with him for of Paine's Age of Reason without charge. We can hardly believe this, togit seeing impossible that a man should prefer a new book to any other, without reference to its contents.

-P.S. Later :- The man who buys things be cause they are cheap has exchanged a copy of the amended Constitution of the United States for the original instrument, receiving twenty-five eents, boot-money. He is delighted with his

-The weather. It is cool, but not delightfully so. It is damp, but not comfortably so. It is cloudy but not agreeably so. The farmers want to plant corn and potatoes and the ground is too wet and cold. They are beginning to tremble lest seed time and harvest fail in 1869. Look here, triends: The hay and grain crops are our best hold here on the Alleghenies. When there 18 plenty of grass there is plenty of hay, usually, a good growth of oats; and in a stock and dairying county these staples constitute prosperity." While you grumble the grass is thickening at the bottom, and the wheat and oats are getting ready for a spell of drouth possible before harvest. An election for tellicers of Cavington Union have been caused by the heating of a box in the upper part of the mill, a saw mill just in the rear following ticket: Miss Fannie A. Dyer Supt, of the grist-mill escaped the fire, owing to a large quantity of green slabs between the mills.

DEATHS.

At Woodhull, N. Y., May 4th, 1869, in the 39th year of her age, of consumption, Sarah H. Atwood, wife of Urial Atwood, and daughter of Luke Darling, Esq., of Colesburg, Pa. The subject of this skotch was born at Sullivan, Tioga county Pa., in the year 1830. She leaves a husband and three children and a wide circle of friends to mourn her loss. She was a quiet unassuming christian lady, and an active member of the Order of Good Templars—holding at the time of her death the position of W. R. S. in Woodhull Lodge, No. 820.

The burdal rites and ceremonics of the Order were performed at Woodhull M. E. Church on the 6th inst., Rev. Mr. Parrot, of Addison, preaching the funeral sermon.

Rev. Mr. Parrot, of Addison, preaching the funeral sermon.

There was a large procession of Good Templars in attendance, including several members of the Addison and Jasper Lodges and about seventy-five members of the Woodhull Lodge.

At a regular meeting of Woodhull Lodge No. 820, of Good Templars, Saturday evening, May 8, 1869, brothers Wm. W. Tubbs, B. T. Hollis, and sister E. Husted, were appointed a committee to draft resolutions of condolence on the death of sister S. H. Atwood. The following were presented by the committee and unanimously adopted by the Lodge:

Resolved, That the relatives and friends, and especially thy busband and children of the deceased, have our warmest sympathy in their great bereavement, and ially the husband and children of the deceased, have our warmest sympathy in their great bereavement, and while we feel that he words are adequate to assunge their sorrow, we can only commend them to look for strength and comfort to that Supreme Being who can alone afford consolution in the hour of trial.

Resolved, That the Elmin Advertiser, Addison Advertiser, Tugga Agarance, and Condersport papers be requested to publish these resolutions.
