Her tattered shawl was thin add walls () She little knew, for no one taught her. Her skin was fair, her aubura hair Was blown about her protty forehead; Her sad white face were sorrow's trace, And want and wee that were not borrowed. Heart-broken child, she seldom smiled. Hope pronounced her no bright to-morrow, Or, if its light flashed on her night

Then up came darker clouds of sorrow. She sollly saids two have no bread; No wood to keep the fire a-burning;" The child was still, the winds so chill, Her thin, cold blood to ice was turning. But men well fed and warmly clad, And ladies robed in richest fashion; Passed on the side where no one cried

To them for pity or compassion. Lone fled that night: and then the light Of rosy day in beauty shining, Set dome and spire and roof on fire, And shone on one beyond repining. Alone-alont-as cold as stope, Where no dear parent ever sought her,

In winding sheet of snow and sleet, Was found the drunkard's lifeless daughter. NOVEL VIEWS ABOUT HANGING

Rev. Thomas . K. Beecher writes that is usually found in a first-class country a statement of facts and comments as follows in his "Friday Miscellany" in the Elmira Advertiser.

"It is not common for doomed men to faint away" just before they are hanged, but this is what William C. Bell did on the scaffold at Alton, Illinois, on the 12th ult. "In most cases a man sinking into insensibility. before his time would have been funned and hartshorned into life again, and then have been put to death with all the terror and dignity of the law. But the hangman at Alton appears to have been of a mild and considerate nature; for he hastened to finish off Bell before he could return to consciousness so that in seven minutes he was dead; and in twenty-five minutes he was in his coffin. Of course this hasty way of doing things deprived the company of a neat theological speech from a dying sinner; but the deprivation was perhaps, no great loss. "To send a man out of this world to give an account of himself before the Judge of all the earth, has never seem- AND some people begin to lose faith in the ed to us a very great hardship or cruelty of this fact It is not conceivable that God treats any man well or ill because of what other men may have done to him. The judgment of God is according to truth. Every man gives an account for himself.... Hanging a man is like sending a boy home from school to his father. It, is a confession on the part of the school 'we cannot manage him.'-When a teacher turns a box out of school the boys father does as it seems to him best. Just so when when a sheriff hangs a man. God receives the expelled culprit and does for him the very wisestand best thing that can be done. We do only the best we know how to do. If we make a mistake in hanging a man God makes mistake in the after events.

"Opposition to capital punishment eems distrustfut to God: His wisdom of his power, one or both. We would not be at all nice or scrupulous were we a Sheriff. If a prisoner asked for chloroform or ether, he should have it. His 'cap' should be saturated with friendly oblivion. His going should be painless; or if without our assistance in obedience to declared law, he should kill himself hari kari there is no reason why a sheriff should prevent him. The law declares that a certain convicted criminal is no longer wanted or needed, in the ' form of flesh. The law names the rope as one way of going forth, and proffers assistance. But if the condemned man chooses to go forth alone let him go. We insist no boy suffers wrong when sent from school to his own father, nor can man do harm to his fellow man by sending him to 'Our Father in Heaven.'"

LOST WOMEN.-My friends, has it ever occurred to you what a commentary upon our civilization are these lost women and the attitude of society toward them? A little child strays from the home inclosures, the whole community is on the alert to find the wanderer and restore it to its mother's arms. What rejoicings when it is found, what tearful sympathy, what heartiness of congratulation? There are no harsh comments upon the poor tired feet, be they never so miry, no reprimand for the soiled and torn gar ments; no lack of kisses for the tear stained cheek. But let the child be grown into womanhood, let her be led from the inclosure of morality by the voice of affection, or driven from it by the scourge of want-what happiness then? Do Christian men and women go in quest of her? Do they provide all possible help for her return, or if she returns of her own motion, do they receive her with such kindness and delicacy as secure her against wandering again? Far from it. At the first step she is denounced as lost-lost echo friends and relatives—we disown you; don't ever come near us to disgrace us Lost, says society indifferently. How bad these girls are? And lost irretrievably lost-is the prompt verdict of cohventional morality, while one and all unite in bolting every door between her and respectability. Ah, will not these lost ones be required at our hands in the great hereafter?-[Mrs. Burleigh in the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Convention.]-Ex.

FOUTZ'S This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate blooken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNO FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the intertable keeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure pre ventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster. In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Sicers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be cradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.
