CLOSE OF SCHOOLS.—The schools of this borough will close Friday of this week.

SEARS & DERBY have just received a lot of ladies' shoes. They expect a large assortment soon, as Mr. Sears is in the city purchasing.

AUCTION.—The subscriber will sell at public auction on Friday, the 29th inst., at his residence in Delmar, the following property viz: Horses, cows, farming utensils, household furniture, &c, &c. A. CROWL.
April 26, 1870-1t.

APPOINTMENT.—Owing to the recent flood, County Superintendent Horton was unable to reach Roseville on the 20th, as per his appointment. He will be at the above place on Tuesday, May 3d, 1870.

Harry Mix, of the Towanda Green House, is offering great inducements in another column, to his patrons. He advertises a much larger assortment this year of flowers and plants than heretofore, and at very reasonable prices.

WICKHAM & FARR have just returned from New York with a fresh and well selected stock of goods, which they are selling at such low figures that high prices are completely ruined. See advertisement next week. 2t

The monotony of the times hereabouts renders the local interest extremely dull, except now and then, when "bad whisky" develops itself to the disgust of our better citizens.—Street brawls are quite frequent of late. We ask what can be done,—yes, echo answers what?

MILLINERY.—Mrs. E. D. Mitchell and sister, of Bath, N. Y., thankful for past favors of their Tioga friends, would say that they are now prepared to furnish customers with everything in their line, of the best make, and the latest and most approved styles, at the lowest possible prices. They will give particular attention to all orders sent them, and are satisfied that purchasers will find it to their interest to give them a call, or send an order for anything they may want in the line of millinery.

INSURANCE.—The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, issued during the last week a noticeable milestone in its growth and progress. In the short space of twenty months since its organization, it has issued 10,000 policies, with an insurance of $8,337,369. Such success is a far more unqualified and emphatic endorsement of this Company by the public than ever has been awarded in this county or abroad to any new organization. It is a valuable tribute to integrity, enterprise and low rates of Premium which are consistent only with the now popular Common sense or Stock Plan of life insurance.

The policy numbered 10,000 is for $10,000, and was issued to a prominent railroad officer of New Jersey, who thoroughly knew the Company and its merits, and had the wisdom to patronize it.

R. C. SIMPSON, Agent.
Wellsboro, P. A.

GOSSIP.—My dear old dame—oh, take it as I mean. Do not think I mean to call you old in the sense of ugly, or stricken with age.—I use only in the sense in which we speak of things most dear to us, because we have long been accustomed to know and love them, or to see and make a use of them. I have a great passion for antique things. They look easy and natural, and so softened and beautified with their hoary antiquity. Now, I am too constant in my nature to be led off with every new thing. There stands the old hickory tree, dear dame, the same under whose grateful shade I played so many days away when I was a boy, whose height I measured just to know what was its real majesty; the first signal of my approach to the place I sacred of all I knew in early life; and how I should miss it, did some maddened storm level it to the ground, and so take away one more reminder of the happy past, that sometimes seems so dim and distant, and so buried in the mist of years, that it is almost lost, as is the appearance of the first violet, wafted away, ere yet it was caught upon the sense. Ah me! Old, old! It is the dearest of all endearing terms; for, does it not embrace all the memory contains? The treasures of all the past, and, through them, the alphabet of all the future. In it, is contained individuality, all that distinguishes us from one another; for without these landmarks, we might go straying after some new fancy, and leave behind us, and forgotten, all there has been, and, through memory, now is, in the years which have made us what we are. By it, then, I mean all there has been in our lives to cherish, all there has been in yours to love, and by which to remember you, should I meet the hard, hard fate, of having nothing but the memory left to love. For I was about to say, when that look which made you call me old," led me off the way—I was about to say I had a story to tell you.

It was a bright, beautiful morning in early April. Arriving too late at the capital of the State, where first I put on the blue, with so many of my old associates, now, alas, so scattered, all or are left of them, that I have to pause and ask me whether I am yet in the world, or whether have left it for that land where no wars disturb the sweet rest of souls departed, to take a room to sleep, yet too early to dress for breakfast, we might a walk in the early morning would sharpen the appetite, and afford us opportunity for investigation. I was not alone, yet I was alone; for of all who had once traversed the same road with me, in the awkward step of raw recruits, in the early days of the war, none was there to greet me with me that feeling of martial and patriotic ardor which led so many to leave their homes to try the fates of war. Of all those manly forms that at one time cast their shadows upon the dusty road, as they wended their course wearily out to the front, alas, how many sank, to rise no more, upon the field of battle! And how many survived, to meet and embrace their dear ones once more, only to meet a fate a thousand times more terrible in after years to come! How the well remembered faces of all I had known there irradiated my mind, as we walked along by those familiar objects, which the few years had failed to drive entirely out of mind. And one I well remember, who was to me all that even a brother could have been, on the march, in the tent, and through the battle; and now he sleeps all quietly in the cemetery of his native village, in an early grave. He was dear to him, and his life dear to many; for he was loved by all. How many others, too, have gone the same way, and found a rest at last, that life could not give!

How the few years have changed the scene!—Ten years! And in them are wrapped up all that is most dear to me, and my greatest sorrow! Ah me dame! It would have been better not to have seen them! Better to have been one who came not back to that same spot to take the general muster-out, which was to restore to friends and for so short a time, in which to be one's self, and then to walk the earth, with only a recollection of it all to cling to! Better to have been remembered, than to remember. All the pleasures of a restoration, to be untimely turned to sorrow at a final parting.

"This is truth, the poet sings,
That a sorrow's crown of sorrow is remembering happier things."

Away in the distance stood forth the same mountains: before us lay the same beautiful landscape, with the broad Susquehanna, now made furious by the storms from the north, plunging, foaming, rushing wildly, madly on, as if it would bear down overwhelming all the race of men—so deep, so broad, so resistless was its onward rolling current! Oh, if that had been the eternal river, that would bear a weary soul away into the mystic world, that he might know its mysteries; how easy to have shut out all the dread future, and how kind and grateful would its waters seem. But no; we live within a circle, as do the waters which heave, and plunge, and dash so furiously along to the sea, to return again by the clouds to the sources of the eternal springs.

Where trained the new-made soldiers, in awkward squads, at the intervals of drill, and where the long line was drawn up in fancy "dress parade," the green but ardent officers in gay uniform, with swords and sashes, new, and bright and pretty, dazzling to the eyes of damsels gathered there to see, now is seen the tilled field, with naught but a remnant of the hospitals in rusty whitewash, now used as barns and outhouses, or as dwellings for the poor tenants, to distinguish the place from any other. The familiar objects around, the Asylum away on the hill, the roads, and lanes, the farm houses, and the conformation of the country, fix the location. All the din and confusion and bustle of thousands of men in camp, is now succeeded by the quiet Sabbath morn', with the warm sun shining benignly down upon the place which was the scene of so many tales, to be told by father to son, as long as history lasts in the perpetuation of the name, now so little heard, "CAMP CURTIN."

LARGE EGG.—Mr. L. C. Bennett laid a large Brahma hen's egg on our table the other day, measuring in circumference eight inches one way, and six inches the other. Mr. B. has a choice lot of these fowls, and is prepared to supply any one with the above eggs for setting, at $1 per dozen.

COVINGTON.—L. W. Kiff has rented his farm, and intends moving to Bloss.

Patrick Sullivan has bought the house and lot of Edward Donne, who has removed to Bloss.

The firm of Packard & Kinney having dissolved, Mr. Kinney leaves us. He is an old resident, and on his return renewed his old, and formed many new acquaintances, who will regret his departure.

We hear rumors in the air of a fast train over the Tioga railroad this summer, and we rejoice. There is no reason why a trip to New York, or West, should have the shortest tenth the longest half. Now, gentlemen, buy the depot, give us a telegraph office, and let us be like unto the rest of your patrons.

The following is a list of the present officers of Covington Lodge, No. 548, of I. O. of G. T.:—James Everett, W C T; Mrs. Robbins, V T; Anna Meeker, S; Philotha Rumsey, F S; Burt Vedder, T; Lizzie Holman, I G; F. M. Patcben, O G; Will Holman, M; Minerva Barber, D M; Addie Vedder, R S; Mrs. Keltz, L S.

D. D. G. M. Butler installed the following officers on the evening of the 6th, for Covington Lodge, No. 274, of I. O. of O. F.:—S. L. Barber, P G; M. R. Walker, N G; A. M. Bennett, V G; Ira Patchen, S; L. R. Walker, P S; S. S. Packard, T; C. F. King, W; E. B. Decker, C; Eugene Kinney, R S S; Volney Levalley, L S S; George Cowan, I G; Henry Levalley, O G; V M. Gray, L S; James Everett, R S; Star Lodge R S to V G; I. M. Hoagland, L S to V G.

Fire at the glass factory is out. The present owners, Mess, Stenson & Howell, purpose enlarging their works materially. These works deserve more than a passing notice. They are probably the model glass works of the United States, for cheapness in manufacturing. Their coal is dumped from the cars, direct from the mines, within forty feet of the furnace door. The furnace has a powerful natural draft, and runs, under the direction of a competent master shearer, six melts in a week. Their material comes in on a siding from the main track, is rolled into the loft of the "catch room," thence into the mixing room below, where it is prepared, and from thence on a car to the furnace. The flattening house is adjoining, and delivers the flattened sheets at the door of the cutting room, where it is cut to order. The packing room at one end, (where it is carefully packed and branded), communicates with the storehouse, which stands beside the main track, with the railroad communicating with the siding for shipping in car lots. No expense for carting or handling. CORRESPONDENT.

LAMB'S CREEK.—The flood of the 17th and 18th instants came very near removing the whole town. Except for the two hours on the evening of the 17th that the rain stopped falling, we would probably all have been washed down stream. The appearance of things on Monday morning was anything but cheerful; the river banks full to overflowing, and covering the whole flat from one hill to the other, with the exception of a few hillocks; logs, boards, trees, old stumps, hen coops, outhouses and rails went rushing past, filling the road in some places, digging great holes in others, tearing down fences and sidewalks, undermining houses, cellars falling in, and the rain still pouring down with all its fury, threatening to sweep everything toward the ocean;—but, thanks to the pleasant weather that had melted most of the large body of snow and sent it on down the river the week before, and in defiance of the rain, the water began to fall; yet none dared to predict, fearing it might rise again. Among the damage done to the citizens, which includes nearly all, Messrs. Fralic Brothers had nearly all their mill dam carried off, and the mill more or less damaged. Their loss will exceed $1500.

The river bridge came very near being washed down stream, and is impassable, except as a foot bridge. The lower bridge, at Big Hill, is completely destroyed, which renders traveling impossible for the present. The mail has not been received for three or four days.

The new post office box is nearly completed, and is the handsomest one of its size in Tioga county.

On the evening of the 20th instant, on his return home, D. H. Cooper was attacked by two cowardly ruffs, knocked down and severely beaten, his coat stripped off, and he left senseless; but he soon recovered sufficiently to crawl out of the road, and in a short time walked home. He has suspicion of two young men, one of whom wears a white hat.

Quite an excitement was caused by the discovery of an old Indian camp kettle in the road where the water had washed it. The pieces were carefully collected by Professor Sherwood, and will probably find a place in his cabinet of curiosities. BOOZ.

TROY.—The storm, which raged so fiercely on Sunday and Monday last, did considerable damage to Troy and vicinity. The creeks rose to a very great height, and fences, pig-sty's, bridges, &c., were carried away; and it was feared that dwellings would eventually be swept from their foundations. Some parts of the railroad were washed away, and Monday and Tuesday we had no mails. A freight train came as far as Canton on Monday, where it was warned back; and on attempting to return, found a culvert gone, which it had just crossed, and consequently had to stay where it was. Tuesday morning, one train, with Superintendent Bowen on board, managed to get through, but no others.—On Wednesday, the roads having been somewhat repaired, the mail trains commenced running, and now come on time.

Tuesday evening, the report of a gun was heard, and the ball struck the door of Mr. Delos Herrick's residence, within two or three inches of Mr. Herrick's body, who was just coming out. It was accidental, of course, but rather too close for our liking.

The Rev. Mr. Camp will be installed pastor of the Presbyterian Church in this place, April 27.

The old wooden awnings on the west side of Canton street have been torn down, which should have been done long ago, and a coat of paint applied to the buildings, making quite an improvement in the looks of our town. TENNY.

THE LADY'S FRIEND.—The May number of this magazine is a beautiful one, and breathing of the spring. Its large, double fashion plate is as fresh and richly colored as a tulip bed; and we observe that this magazine is often one and even two months ahead of its contemporaries in the fashions. Then there is a beautiful cottage scene, "The Return of the Swallows," and another appropriate engraving called "Gathering Snowdrops." The literary matter of this magazine is always of a superior character. The stories this month are both varied and absorbing. The ladies will be also pleased with the patterns for spring costumes and the varieties for the work table. And the editorials, being written by a lady for ladies, are particularly attractive.—Published by Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut street, Philadelphia. Price $2 50 a year, (which also includes a large steel engraving). Four copies, $6. Five copies, (and one gratis), $8. The Lady's Friend and the Saturday Evening Post, (and one engraving), $4. Sample copies, 25 cts.

TIOGA.—For want of space, we give only the following from our Tioga Local: "The high water of Monday made things lively here for some time, as our village was mostly flooded. The damage all along the river has been very great. There are very few of our citizens who have not sustained some slight loss, while many have suffered severely.

Mr. L. H. Smith has purchased the Hazlett House, and, judging from his supply of cold water on Monday, (the hotel floor being covered about eight inches), we should judge he intends to run it strictly on temperance principles.

The Good Templars propose to give an entertainment on Tuesday, May 3d. They are getting up fine scenery and will no doubt surpass all previous efforts."

The Tioga County Convention of G. Templars will hold its next session at Mansfield, beginning on Wednesday, May 11, 1870, at 10½ A. M. GEO. A. KINNEY, Sec'y.

We trust it will be remembered that the Commissioners of Internal Revenue decides that persons, firms, or corporations who continue business after the first day of May, or commences business at any other time, without having previously made application for license, shall be assessed and the penalty added. Assessors or Assistant Assessors have no authority to omit the penalty in any case.

EVERY SATURDAY, for April 23, contains a pictorial supplement of remarkable attractiveness and great merit as a work of art.—It represents Edwin Booth as Hamlet, and will be recognized by all who have ever seen the great tragedian in his favorite character, as a striking and admirable likeness. The artistic excellence of the picture may be inferred from the fact that it was drawn by Hennessy and engraved by Linton. The next number will contain a companion picture, representing Mr. Fechter as Hamlet.—This number contains a continuation of Dickens's new story, "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," which has already excited great popular interest. Fields, Osgood & Co., publishers, Boston.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK continues to maintain its reputation as one of the very best publications of its class. With its superb engravings, its fashion plates, its new music, its short and its serial stories, its carefully prepared articles upon health and upon cookery, its literary notices, prepared by competent hands, it is truly a gem. Published by L. A. Godey, Philadelphia, at $3 per year.

GOOD HEALTH is, as usual, full of instruction upon hygienic matters, of which the people should know much, but know very little. The articles upon "Mental Treatment of the Sick," "The Effects of Mental Labor on Health," "First Help in Accidents," and the "Advice to Young Mothers," are particularly useful and practical.

PREACHERS AND LAYMENS' ASSOCIATION OF TROY DISTRICT E. G. CONFERENCE.—The next meeting of this Association will be held at Leona, Bradford county, on the 6th of June, commencing at 7½ o'clock, P. M.

Opening address by W. D. Taylor.
Quarterly sermon on Tuesday evening, by Rev. C. W. Bennett.
Special Essays:

2. Roman Catholicism, how shall we deal with it—by Rev. O. L. Gibson.
3. Female Suffrage—by Rev. T. L. Weaver.
4. Did the Divinity of Christ Suffer—by Rev. L. D. Watson.
5. Present Status and Demand of the Sunday School Work—by Rev. C. L. F. Howe.
6. The Relation of the Temperance Cause to the Church—by Rev. J. D. Requa.

Other brethren will come with essays or sermons on themes of their own selection.
C. L. F. HOWE, Sec'y.

S. S. CONVENTION.—The next S. S. Convention of Troy District will be held at Canton, in Bradford county, commencing May 11, at ten A. M.

The pastors of the District should all, if possible, be present, and bring with them two or more delegates from their respective charges.

PROGRAMME OF EXERCISES.

1. S. S. Conventions and S. S. Institutes—by Rev. W. Cochran, P. E.
2. The Domain of S. S. Influence—by Rev. J. D. Requa.

4. The Systems of Instruction in S. S's.—by Rev. O. L. Gibson.
5. How May S. S. Teachers Become Qualified for their Work—by J. J. Turton.
6. Miscellaneous business.

After each theme has been introduced by the Brother to whom it is given, it will then be open for discussion by volunteers; therefore brethren will come prepared accordingly.
C. L. F. HOWE, Sec'y.

DR. WISTAR'S WILD CHERRY BALSAM.—This Balsamic compound has become a home fixture. Let all who suffer, and have in vain attempted to cure their coughs, colds, bronchial or pulmonary complaints, make use of this unequaled remedy. It can be relied upon, the mass of testimony that has been published since its introduction, being ample proof of its efficacy.

Lorillard's "EUREKA" Smoking Tobacco.

Is an excellent article of granulated Virginia; wherever introduced it is universally admired. It is put up in handsome muslin bags, in which orders for Meerschaum Pipes are daily packed.

LORILLARD'S YACHT CLUB SMOKING TOBACCO

Classed by all who consume it as the "finest of all;" it is made of the choicest leaf grown; it is anti-nervous in its effects, as the Nicotine has been extracted; it leaves no disagreeable taste after smoking; it is very mild, light in color and weight, hence one pound will last as long as 2 of ordinary tobacco. In this brand we also pack orders every day for first quality Meerschaum Pipes. Try it and convince yourselves it is all it claims to be, "THE FINEST OF ALL."

LORILLARD'S CENTURY CHEWING TOBACCO

This brand of Cut Chewing Tobacco has no equal or superior anywhere. It is without doubt the best chewing tobacco in the country.

Lorillard's Snuffs

Have now been in general use in the United States over 110 years, and still acknowledged "the best" wherever used.

If your storekeeper does not have these articles for sale, ask him to get them; they are sold by respectable jobbers almost everywhere.

New Spring Goods
AT THE PEOPLES' STORE.

OUR STOCK IS NOW VERY COMPLETE in all its branches, and Prices down to the standard of Gold at par. Our is very large, and we make Clothes to order when desired. Our is the largest in this section of the State, and prices 10 to 20 per cent lower than last year.

Linen and White Goods are as low as before the war. We keep the Buffalo Brand Black Alpaca, which Madam Demorest, Frank Leslie and Harpers' Bazaar unite in pronouncing the best Alpaca in market; also the Beaver Brand pure Mohairs, a splendid article, and full assortment. The send us with the last invoice just received, the following notice. "We propose after April 1st, 1870, to pack a certificate for an elegant Silver Plated Tea Service, daily, in one pound package. The certificate when found, will be forwarded to us through our agents, and they will deliver the service to the fortunate party."

We so the agents for the Company, and we can assure our customers, that their

are cheaper than they can be sold at retail, besides the chance of getting a Tea Sett.

We solicit a call from all the citizens of Tioga County and vicinity, visiting Corning, and we assure them that they shall be kindly and fairly treated, and we will do them good.

Notice.

THE COLLECTORS of the several townships in Tioga county, having duplicates in their hands which remain unsettled for year 1869, with balance of tax due the county are requested to settle the same before or during the next term of court, and for balances due the county from delinquent collectors on duplicates for any previous year, if not settled within said time, costs will be made. The county, as seen by the Auditors report is paying interest on a large amount of money, and deriving no benefit from a large sum which must be collected.
