A GREAT BORE.-The various subscriptions affont in our streets, begging for some one. Put your rame on one paper, and fyou are elected sure for several calls a day in the same direction. It is hardly possible for a business man to pass along the street without being net by some one with paper in hand, saying : "Can't you give something, as Mr. so and so has met with an accident-lost a cow, pig, house burnt up, or horse run away and done some damage, etc., etc, etc., etc., as the case may be. Those claims must be "heard," and prossed as worthy, for of course, were it not under very peculiar circumstances THEY would'nt circulate such a paper .-Oh, no, of course not. But our very expensive experience has taught us, after taking a great many bad risks, to invest in that kind of experiment hereafter with both eyes open, giving only to known worthy objects Beware of pickpock

T. the wheels of the vehicle breaking out the large front glass, the horse breaking loose from his rig, and passing through the grocery and storehouse, landed in the back alley. We venture to say, that another circumstance of this kind is be youd the recollection of any one. It is said, that this horse is noted for feats of this kind having recently ascended a flight of stairs, and finding his passage stopped, was compelled to retrace his steps. We shall expect to hear next, that this herse has taken passage on the Air Line.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.—The second week of Court closed up on Friday, There were lar or plural number, and either gender, according important causes tried, unless it be that of ing to the rule which says, "If any man at-Bush vs. Stowell, in which a very nice question of law is involved. It is a suit upon a promist on the instant," You may not see suddenly how sory note, payable in instalments, with annual that rule applies, but if you will study it careinterest. The question is, whether the statute of fully, for a week or two, it will be clear as mud. limitations begins to run from the maturity of I don't want your readers to think I brag on this each instalment, or whether the note shall be considered as one instrument, upon which the statute does not begin to run till the maturity of the last instalment. There seems to be no procedent in our State-a singular fact. The point was reserved by the Court, with directions to the jury to find a special verdict. The jury, after remaining out some ten hours, word unable to agree, and were discharged, by the Court. So it must be tried again.

Several of the most important causes on the list were continued. There were few witnesses in attendance, so the hotels were not crowded, save on the day of the circus. A "side show," on the adjacent green, furnished forth a continuous stream of music, ground out by some good natured, lusty chap, whose motto must be, "Never say die." It no doubt enlivened the senses of the blind goddess. The crier and tipstaves favored clearing away the tables for an old fashioned dance, but the less susceptible few, within the bar, objected, and the Court refused to entertain the motion. One, more wicked than the rest, moved for an inquest to make it out a nui- the other end, (of the plank, I mean), until there sance, but thought better of it when reminded of his boyhood; so the "grinder" did not cease until long after nightfall. . ARNOT.-It is very interesting to icar the news from the various parts of the county, and sometimes from localities outside o the county. I judge it might perhaps be interesting to some of your readers to hear from Arnot. The outside world scens, by the Agitator, to be all astir-building, fencing, and improving generally. Well, Arnot is not behind in general improvements. The primitive forest is being swept away by the sturdy axinan. The steam aw mill is kept running with unremitting vigor, ripping up those stately monarchs of the forest into all sorts and sizes of timber, lumber, lath and shingles. The bark is also carefully peeled and sent to the new tannery at Blossburg. The company are hurrying up with a number of new nouses, to accommodate their-workmen, and enarging their works, with a view to a considerable increase of their business. Another voin of coal has been opened this spring, and an inclined A HORSE IN A GROCERY,—During the plane constructed up to it, for the purpose of runtime when W. A. Nichols, Esq., was a resident of Wellshore, we several times saw a horse in a law by gravitation. This is a vein of heautiful, hure cause I regard the National as one of the best mour, of the State of New York. With a view to conomy and business, the company have one Mathers grovery, made a dash into the front door, of the small engines constructed by Smith & Porter, of Pittsburg, running from the mouth of No. 2 drift, hauling the coal from there to the chutes. This engine only weighs five tons, and lst premium, has been in successful operation for several weeks. The design, eventually, is to use her for hauling coal out of the mines, instead of by mule power, oth as at present. This is the first of this class of 6th " 18 engines ever used for this purpose in this part of the country, and inaugurates a new step in the development of the mineral resources of old Tight 13 10(h; 42 10) 24 25 io nic); but the truth is the ignorance of that oprher, and some other folks, without regard to color or condition, is simply amazing; it reflects seriously on the intelligence of the community; and I am glad I don't live where I would have to patronize that barber. We all take pride in our respective villages; and that is right, and agrees with the constitution, in the third person, singu-tempts to haul down the American flag, spot him town being the kenviest quartered one in the State, for that would be manifestly an error. Philadelphia is bigger than two of it; and be, ween us, here, I am glad it isn't such a tremendous large place, for if it was, I wouldn't amount to much-whereas, now, I am quite a chap. You know "it is better to be a king among cats, than a cat among kings." And now, for the benefit of the rising generation, and their fathers, mothers, and other relations, I propose to devote a few brief drops of ink, for the purpose of demonstra-ting that Canton and Bungtown are very different places. In my former talented communication, I told you where Canton is located, together with a little of its ancient history; but to come down to facts and figures: The oldest man in town, or the most talented, (that's me), can't begin to tell how many populations we have in the borough. The only way we attempt to get at it. accurately, is something on the system they weigh hogs out West. (Did you ever hear it described?) They take a long plank and balance it across a log, put the pork on one end, and some stones on is an equipoise, and then guess at the weight of the stones. Well, our way of getting at the correct amount of people here, is similar to that in this only : we guess at it. Canton borough, then contains somewhere from 1,000 to 1,500 people; and a more honest, temperate, industrious race of critters, you can't find in the United States, of New Jersey. Our village is built on land gently sloping (give the long sound to the "o") to the south. The streets all run at right angles with the others, except when they run parallel. In the buildings, we have not the extremes of architecture and style that is found in large places we have no brown stone fronts, and no huts of poverty; and it is the remark of strangers who have visited our village, that we have the fewest poor houses of any town of its size anywhere.-

We have some nice residences, but most of the lwellings are those white cottages whose whiteness and neatness are suggestive of that purity of domestic enjoyment, which makes those of us who have known the sweets of connubial happiness, so contented to stay in this world of sunshine and shadows, and, without murmuring, bide our time. In regard to our business houses: we have four dry good stores, bix groceries, two hardware stores, one drug store, one clothing store, three boot and shoe stores and shops, one harness, two jowelry, two tailoring, and three millinery shops; beside the usual number of other shops-blacksmith and wagon shops. And let it be known we have one barber shop, run by two ections of the Fifteenth Amendment. As for manufactories in the borough, we have of steam one woolen factory, one each and blind and planing mill, one agricultural implement manufacto ry, one grist mill, and one saw mill; and we have two water power cabinet factories. Then we have three hotels and four churches; but what we brag on in our public buildings, is our new and beautiful brick school house, now nearly completed, at a cost of about $15,000. We are going to put at the head of our school, a thorough, competent man, give him a good salary, and then have a place to educate our children, without brying to send them away from home. I must not forget, while writing, to mentio the fact that we have a new banking house, run under the name of Strait, Clark & Co. Mr. Clark, the managing head of the concern, is a well known business man here, a gentleman without estentation, and we believe they will be putronized by all in this section having need to do business with such establishments. Our butter shipments are heavy, one firm last year handling about $100,000 worth of the greasy stuff; and their shipments this year will overrun that amount. The name of this firm is Burk. Thomas & Co., and it is composed of three young mon and beside their heavy shipment of butter, and other things in proportion, they have a direct retail trade of more than any two stores in Wellsboro-fact, and no blowing. The character of ions are well filled, in numbers; in fact, we don't want any more professional men; we thave quite enough, for the health, wealth and happiness of the people, And now, Messrs. Editors, I have hild my say, and feel much easier; in fact, I am getting quite good natured, and feel as if the people will in future appreciate us, and not stick up their noses at Canton. I am a mind to have 1,000 extra copies of the Agitator struck off for gratuitous cifculation among outside barbarians, so that when I chance to register my name from Canton, they won't get it mixed with Bungtown; and so that I can step into a barber shop without being asked whether we support such a sweet 'scented institution ourselves. If anybody thinks I am "blowing" in this letter, let him come and see. We welcome with clean hands, to hospitable homes, all who will add to the real strength of our village. It is no place for bummers and loaf ers; but is a good place for men of capital, whe ther that capital consists of money, muscle, or brains. | Yours truly, RELIGIOUS.—Rev. J. B. Gilmany (uni versalist,) will preach in the Court Hause, Son day next, at 2 P. M., the 19th inst.

SPECIAL NOTICES. TO CONSUMPTIVES.

ALABAMA CLAIMS. We are informed that the most persistant and unyleiding of the private citizons who have claims vs. the British Government are Rr. J. C. Ayer & Co., of Lowell. Mass., the manufacturers of mediricines. They will consent to nothing less than that their demand for medicines destroyed by the British pirates shall be paid in gold and in dollars to the last cent. They are embodiened by the fact that the destruction of their goods by, the English in China and elsewhere (for where are not the thoublesome nation trampling upon somebody t) have hitherts been paid in full, and they now say that they shall be. They however propose this compromises: Give us Ganada and we will call it even, because we can then send our remedies there without duty. [Washington News.

It is an Established Fact, that Consumption can be cured; but it is far better to prevent the cruel disease from fastening itself on the system, by the timely use of a remedy like Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.
