> LIFE INSURANCE-EQUITABLE NE NATIONAL - Editors of the Agitator : With some reluctance, I wish to call attention to the statemont in your last issue under the above heading. Justice to the National company, which I repre-sent here, seems to require it. The figures of that statement, so far as the Equitable company is concerned, are so absurdly incorrect, that they would deceive no on of amiliar with life insurance; but persons who are not acquainted with the sys-tem, might be misled by them. The deduction of the assumed dividends, should be, in each case, from the amount of the "giginal premium," the only way in which the company makes any deduction. To test the value of Mr. Stone's figures, I suggest that you,' Messrs. Editors, or one of your friends, or "any other man," shall ask him, on briends, or "any other man," shall ask him, on behall of the Equitable company, to write a pol-icy, on a good fife, not 75 years old, as his stateminuty, obtain a wrong version of the detailed minut has it, bat, say 25 years, on the precise eircanstances connected with the case. I will terms of that statement: that is, the annual premiuld, on an " chownent" policy for $1,000, to be just the number of dollars which he has set
