Congress has provided to to convert it all eventually in one form of security bearing four pe in one form of security bearing four per cent, integest. If successful in these ef-forts, we secure two great advantages-one form of indebtedness and a low rate of interest. To fund the debt at this low rate of interest, we must prove to the world that we are able and willing to world that we are able and willing to pay it. There is no way to prove this so effectively as to begin to pay. Gen-eral Grant has begun. During the eighteen months of his administration, $170,000,000 has been paid. This is about one fifteenth of the whole. To accomplish this required great economy, and during the eighteen months the expenses of the government have been nearly $83,000,000 less than in the last administration. In a word, this is our policy about the debt; first, fund it in sentation of facts in this county. That one kind of bond at a low rate of inter-est and then slowly but honestly pay it. Our revenues are now deprived from two sources-internal revenue and tariff. Each system has its offices and its
