'The San Domingo Commission left New York on the 17th, on the U. States steamer Tennessee, and resolved to sail directly for San Domingo city.

indeed said so; but it is a poetic fiction. History contradicts it; the fearful dominance of error contradicts it : the martyrology of the church contradicts it.-The trath must become concrete in living men ; the faith must embody itself in the faithful. The Cross is powerless, its doctrines are powerless, till they enter and fire human souls, make themselves yocal on human tongues and felt in human deeds.

Jeremiah Hart, who emigrated from Charleston township to North Carolina, writes us as follows :

"I spent several weeks in the vicinity of Raleigh, but did not like it as a farming country; so 1 went about 100 miles west of there, and found land plenty, good and cheap, with as good water as can be found in Tioga county. I have bought 252 acres, 80 acres of it ent discourseth as follows: good timber land, with a tolerably good two story brick house, six rooms in it, a large kitchen, and with more fruit one, has pitifully missed the other. A comparitrees than any three farms in Tioga county. I bought the whole for $1500, and there are plenty more such chances here. I think this is the best county in the State for farming ; and if you know of a good chap up there who wants a cheap farm, where he can raise grapes, peaches and melons, as easy as potatoes, send him to Thomasville, N. C."
