REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.
FOR AUDITOR GENERAL,
COL. DAVID STANTON.
FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL,
COL. ROBERT B. BEATH.

THE LAST HOURS
Of the Legislature was devoted to speech and presentment. Mr. Stantton apologized to the Senate for his speech of "harsh and unparliamentary" spoken by him at the meeting of the Speaker. Mr. Stantton presented the Speaker with a complimentary speech and a handsome gold watch and chain. Mr. Marshall, on behalf of the Legislature, presented the Speaker a large crayon portrait. Mr. Stantton, on behalf of Gen. Seifried, also presented the Speaker with a watch and chain. Mr. Stantton, on behalf of the Legislature, presented the Speaker with a watch and chain. Mr. Stantton, on behalf of the Legislature, presented the Speaker with a watch and chain.

The reduction of the public debt for the month of May has been only about $3,000,000.
The American Missionary Association held its anniversary in Boston on the 1st inst. The annual report shows 55 teachers, 100 employees, principally to the instruction of freedmen, with a school attendance numbering over fifty hundred. Mr. J. W. Phelps, president, made a brief address, in which he stated that the President and Congress had failed in their duty in protecting the rights of the South. It was necessary, five hundred thousand men should have been sent to the South. He said there was a gigantic conspiracy on foot, and the emancipation would be seen at the polls in November, 1872.

ADJOURNED.
On Saturday, May 27, the Pennsylvania Legislature adjourned, without day. It was a mixed Legislature: not all good, and far from being all bad. The small majority in the Senate has cost the people of this Commonwealth many thousands of dollars, and on a night to point a warning, adorn a tale.

On the whole, it was not so bad a Legislature; and we think the comparative few who "sold out" got a better price than usual. As more or less always do, we do not particularly complain of this, and we trust that members who have made their small pile during the present session, will retire to the obscurity for which nature designed them.
That the session has been a tedious and protracted one, was owing to the dead-lock; and the dead-lock, as every one knows, was attributable to the Democratic members, who did their level best to block the wheels of legislation that they might thereby force the Republicans into repealing the Registry law. As the law is a general one, we don't see why it should be so particularly obnoxious to our Democratic friends, unless they are determined to admit that the objection to it lies in the fact, that the political rascality which it is intended to prevent, mainly inures to the benefit of their party. On the law is well calculated to frustrate the villainous, political seven-shooters who pepper the ballot boxes at every city election with fraudulent votes, we suppose no sane man will deny. So many of these may be found "repeating" in favor of Republican candidates, we hope may be dealt with in accordance with the laws. We want no candidate elected by such votes: neither do we want to be beaten on count, when we have a clear majority of the right voters. The most that the most rigid law can do, is to exclude all illegal voters—and it ought to do no less. The fierce, uncompromising opposition with which all safeguards to the ballot box are met by the Democracy, has a fishy look, that is a little unfortunate for that party.

The Democratic Senators and Representatives have issued an address to the Democracy of this State, which addresses us—first, key and subject matter—the registry law. Why? Is there anything in the law that does not apply to Republicans as well as Democrats?—Is it because Republicans do not desire to carry elections by fraud, while illegal voting and ballot box stuffing are the right and left bores of Democracy? If not, will somebody tell us what is the reason.
The late Legislature has been guilty of passing acts that will be remembered by taxpayers in after days. But it has also stood up bravely and well, on occasions when the temptation must have been strong to mix up right and wrong by compromise. The unfortunate discussions in the first district, that sent Col. Dechert to the Senate, thereby securing a Democratic majority in that body, have brought the usual result of all such brainless "spills," and ought to furnish a useful lesson to all who are willing to ruin where they cannot rule. Col. Dechert was in all probability unfavourably elected, some duty at the leading citizens in his district so testified under oath; but the Democrats refused to investigate, and we believe Colonel Dechert had the honor to vote against the investigation, knowing that his vote was necessary to such a decision.
In a closing speech, Mr. Cummings said:

"This Legislature, while it may have done some unwise things, has given the people much timely and wise legislation. Among the best acts of the session are those which amend the Constitution of the State, and the provision for the holding of a convention to revise and amend the fundamental law. Acts since will commend this Legislature to the people; and while I rejoice that so much has been accomplished, I regret that I was unable to secure the passage of the joint resolution which I presented to this House providing for submitting to a vote of the people at the next election another amendment to the Constitution, providing for the election of a Lieutenant Governor of this State, whose special duty it would be to preside over the Senate, and to stand as the legitimate successor of the Governor. Such an office, I believe, is needed in this Commonwealth, and I trust those who may succeed us in these halls will see the propriety of such an amendment to the Constitution, and will use all endeavours to secure its submission to the people at the earliest practicable day."

We rather agree with Mr. Cummings, "unwise things" and all. Perhaps he will agree with us, that it was an unwise thing for the Legislature to vote extra pay to clerks and other government employees, supplementing the salary generally with the people's money by voting themselves ten dollars a day extra pay.

The forests at several places in the Highlands of the Hudson are on fire, and the flames illuminate the sky at night. Reports from Sullivan County state that extensive fires in the woods from Monticello. The Angel mill property and the Black Lake school-house have been destroyed. It is also thought that many deer and bear have perished in the Shandaken Mountains. Ulster Co., fires in the woods are also raging.

ATROCITIES OF THE THIRTEEN GOVERNMENT.
We have never, as our readers will bear witness, joined in the unmeasured denunciations of the Paris Commune. We have said that whatever there was in France of this republicanism, had its representation rather in the Commune than in the Thiers government, or its supporters. But enough, the Reds were; we never denied that. But we contended that with the light of the century, the century of the oppressed—they were better than their oppressors. To-day, we say, and say it in sorrow—they are better men, truer men, and truer Republicans, than the Versaillesists, who have conquered them; less cruel, and less given to wanton destruction of human life.

We are sick at heart with reading the bloody account of the Versaillesists in Paris. But it is meet that we should present the best and select a few paragraphs from the dailies that may serve as samples of Versaillesist recollections. The number of Communists taken prisoners is immense, and the trials are of the most summary nature, ending with a brief shrift and a volley of musketry. The slaughter on a fearful large scale. Were the Communists who were thus trying and shooting their fellow countrymen, the civilized world would burst into one universal howl of execration.

HARMONIOUS FAIRY.
There is mourning in the Copperhead halls of the Hoosiers, and dimmy in the camps of buck-eyed young Democracy. Tammany pauses for fresh news, and Democratic committees are covered with confusion. Vallandigham has departed!—not this life—but from the Golden Circle and the doctrines of the seven wise men (more or less) who declared the war a failure, encouraged desertion, declared for peace at any price, always eulogized Southern and discredited Northern victories; always—reason against reason, loyalty against loyalty—against the cause of the Hoosiers, and dimmy in the camps of buck-eyed young Democracy. THE PITTSBURGH DISASTER.
Which we briefly mentioned last week, was the result of carelessness and culpable negligence on the part of the employees and also of the Inspector. The Elmira Advertiser has the following:

Pittsburgh, May 31.—The coroner's jury in the case of the recent disaster at the West Pittston mine, rendered a verdict this morning. After listening to the evidence, the jury found that the miners met their death from improper ventilation; that when the breaker took fire, there was a sudden rush of air, which carried with it the smoke and gas, and that the negligence on the part of the employees of the company in not keeping portions of the machinery properly oiled; and further, that the company had employed on the day of the accident a greater number of men than the act actually referred to warrants.
The verdict found further, that Thomas W. Williams, Inspector of mines, knew these violations of law, but did not report against them, and that he failed in applying to the courts for an injunction against the operators. Williams has stungally called together a jury, to hold a second day, and public opinion here regards the step as an effort on the part of the Inspector to whitewash himself. The verdict is now under appeal.

PARIS.
A dispatch dated London, May 25, says persons denounced, as soon as they are discovered in their hiding places, are arrested and shot. "Numerous arrests of men and women continue to be made. There have been renewed attempts at assassination and arson. Many of those executed seem to be perfectly crazy. A horrible effluvia from the bodies of the dead fills certain quarters of the city. There are abundant signs of a speedy coup d'etat in the assembly to depose Thiers and summon Count de Chambord to the throne of France."

Another Reign of Terror.
LONDON MAY 29, 1871.—The apical correspondent of the Tribune at Paris telegraphs on Sunday evening: "Paris is now completely conquered. The shops are all closed, and even those of retail necessity, such as chemists, remain shut. The restaurants, bakeries, and grocery stores have also suspended business. I walked across Paris last night, and never saw anything so desolate. I saw no human beings, but sentinels every 100 yards, and one shabby civilian. There was no sound but the footfalls of the sentinels, and the hum of the machine guns. They struck their muskets on the flag-stones."

The old revolutionary system of denunciations is going on with terrible ferocity. Nader, the 'Eronaut, has been arrested for supposed sympathy with the Commune. Nader is safe, even in the presence of their most intimate friends. A rash word or imprudent gesture by a man or woman incurs instant death. Men, women, and even children are seized by the hand, and shot. The saddest feature is the conduct of the women, the female insurgents having in many instances been detected firing the houses of innocent people with petroleum.

Tammany tactics did not work well in Connecticut at the last election; as we have taken great delight in showing. It now appears, not less to our gratification, that Tammany rogues have badly in her courts of justice. One of the fraudulent Democratic voters in New-Haven has been detected, tried, condemned, and sentenced to State Prison, and the Democratic register, who connived at the fraud, is likely to be sent about the same way on this rate. Democratic candidates will appeal for Tammany aid as vainly as Grog English did at the last election, and Connecticut, in that event, will be lost to the Democracy without hope of recovery.—Tribune.

A special dispatch from Scranton says: "The whirl of machinery is heard this morning for the first time for many months in all the breakers at the shafts of the great coal companies in this valley. Everything is bustling, active and cheerful throughout the community, and the general disposition is to believe that we have at least five years of constant work before us without interruption from strikes, and that all dissensions and sufferings are to be buried in peace and plenty."—Adv.

London, May 30, 1871.—The special correspondent of THE TRIBUNE at Paris telegraphs this evening: "I learn from a trustworthy source that Rochefort has been condemned to death by a court-martial held in Versailles, and has, probably, been executed already."

The following from a dispatch dated May 31, shows how the Versaillesists do it: "This most revolting sight I ever beheld, occurred this morning on the Plaza in front of the Hotel de Ville. Thirty-three Communists, among whom were several women, were shot in a body by a company of soldiers. Around three sides of a square, troops to the number of fifteen hundred were drawn up for agriculture and grazing. Just here, at eight o'clock the prisoners, who had been confined in coal cellars in the Hotel de Ville, were brought out, their arms in their hands, and a red flag in their right hand. They were arranged in a row and made to kneel down close together. There was nothing on the whole Plaza but three empty coffins, and the Versaillesists were at the rear of the prisoners. When the company was in line and ready to fire, Col. Guizot stepped forward, and told them to suffer death for having been caught in the act of setting fire to buildings and dwellings. At this moment the Versaillesists uttered a piercing shriek, and began to advance themselves back and forth. An officer advanced and made them keep still, with the flat of his sword. A few moments afterward a volley was fired, and when the smoke cleared away a most horrible sight was presented. Three of the women, who were in the front of the row, lay dead in awful agony. A second volley was fired, and a third, and not until the third had been fired, did the Versaillesists begin to move. The bodies were then flung into three open graves and carried away to be buried."
