ICE CREAM PARTY.—There will be an ice cream party at the Baptist hall in this village, on Friday evening, June 16. Friends are cordially invited to participate.

CHURCH SOCIABLE.—The ladies of the Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a Sociable, and furnish ice cream, at the residence of Mr. Isaac Sears, on Wednesday evening of this week, June 14.

TO DEALERS.—Firecrackers, best No. 1, $3 10 per box of 40 packs. Torpedoes, sixty cents per thousand. All other fireworks very low at wholesale, at the Post Office Store, Corning, N. Y. O. J. ROBINSON.

For the latest news by the dailies; for books, stationery and wall paper; for the best literary prose works, from Josephus to Ginx's Baby; and the choicest poetry, from Homer to the Heathen Chinee; go to the bookstore and newsroom of H. Young & Co., No. 3 of Bowen & Cone's block, Wellsboro.

PLEASANT GATHERING.—On Tuesday last a goodly number of our citizens, by invitation, assembled at the house of L. C. Bennet, Esq., to enjoy his generous hospitality. The evening was fine, the company genial, affable and pleasant, which rendered the affair one of the pleasantest of the season. May our friends "at court" live long to enjoy the good opinion of their many guests.

DIPTHERIA CURED WITH LEMON JUICE.—The Health and Home, a very excellent health journal, says: "Some time ago, Dr. Revillout, in a paper presented to the French Academy of Medicine, asserted that lemon juice is one of the most efficacious medicines which can be applied to diptheria, and he relates that when a dresser in the hospital, how his own life was saved by this timely appliance. He got three dozen lemons, and gargled his throat with the juice, swallowing a little at the same time, in order to act on the more deep seated parts. The doctor has noted numerous cases of complete success obtained by this method of treatment."

From the Corning Journal we clip the following:

"The Wellsboro Agitator has a local editor who does not usually get items of interest to us outside the county, because they are not to be had, but he 'spreads himself' gracefully and facetiously on what topics he handles. He would be invaluable on a daily if he could stand the pressure. The last number gives a fine report of some lectures delivered by William Parsons, a member of the English Parliament."

Ye Local makes his best bow for the pleasant compliment, and would rise to explain that the dearth of local matter is mainly attributable to the dearth of local incidents. It is not the Local's fault; he has done his best. He has incited dog fights, egged on pugnacious Irishmen, encouraged misunderstanding at the end games of B. B. clubs, to no purpose. This is a quiet town. Folks, as a rule, do not kill or wound each other in Wellsboro, without the most unendurable provocation. We do not like the style of local that spoils clean, white paper in caroneling the twelve new palings and the coat of paint on Esquire A's fence; or that exhausts the list of adjectives in describing the devouring element at the burning of a one-horse shanty. We note improvements that are worth noting, and do not intend that any event of real importance shall escape us.

By the latter end of summer, that great civilizer, the railroad, will bring us into direct communication with the outside world—also with its inevitable concomitants, rowe, rowdies, pickpockets, and an occasional homicide. Then we shall have local enough—mores the pity. Then we, as a community, shall go into training for a city charter; and the quiet, sunny, Rip Van Winkle days of Wellsboro will have passed away forever. More's the pity.

THE LYCEUM.—HERMAIC.—It is an honor to, and evidences the intelligence of, the people of this section, that the full and expensive course of first class lectures was so well supported and so thoroughly appreciated in Wellsboro the past season. People hereabout may not generally know that this lecture business is mainly managed in a regular, business like manner, by the agency of bureaus, whose business it is to take charge of and send out the lecturers to various localities, as they are required, in different parts of the country. The Lecture Bureau in Boston is an institution of this kind, managed by Mr. James Redpath, the once well known and well liked Kansas correspondent of the Tribune. And those who know James Redpath, by reputation at least, may like to hear what he says about us on the lyceum question.

Writing to the Corresponding Secretary of the Hermaic Society in this place, under date of May 2d he says: "Wellsboro has a better record on the lyceum question than any other town of its size on the lines of railroad travel, in the United States, so far as we know, and we are in correspondence with at least nine tenths of the courses in the country."

Mrs. Livermore also complimented us highly in the Woman's Journal. The Boston correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune thus discourses of the lecturers present, passing away, and to come:

"Anna Dickenson is in Kansas, still harping on my daughter Phillips is here, at his home; and he does not intend to talk a great deal next season, though he is in great demand. Every year new names suddenly shoot up, and most of them as quickly go down again. The committees call them one-term lecturers; like railroad tickets, they are good for one trip only. I do not care to name last year's crop; it is enough to say that it is harvested. But a few have gone on into the ranks of standard lecturers; among them are James Parton, William Parsons, Mary A. Livermore, Gen. Hawley, and W. H. H. Murray, who has perfumed our old Park street church with the fragrant breath of the Adirondack pines. Mr. Parton talks without notes, and wins his way by a certain quaint humor, so crisp and sparkling that one forgets to wish he were more eloquent. William Parsons is an 'imported stock,' and has long held a fine position on the English platform. He is a born orator, next cousin to the long line of clever Irishmen, custodians of the Blarney stone. The Bureau call him their encore ite, because he is sent for so often in the same season at the same place. Mrs. Livermore stands next to Anna Dickinson in popularity. Gen. Hawley is to talk, next year, about 'Rings and Lobbyists.' It is pleasant to know that literary men are taking their rightful place on the platform. James T. Fields, the poet-publisher, bids fair to be one of the lyceum conditions of next year; and among the competitors for the lyceum honors of next season are numbered Col. Higginson, Whipple, Dr. Lord, Richard Grant White, Moses Coit Tyler, Edward Everett Hale, Oliver Optic, and your own Colonel John Hay. Of course not every man who writes well can speak well, and some of these may prove to be only one term lecturers. A new feature, next year, will be the discussion of 'Woman Suffrage' before lyceums, by Gen. Hall, of Maine, and Mrs. Livermore. As some one said, lately, 'both gentlemen are born debaters,' so it will doubtless be entertaining. The humorists hold their own. Nasby and Josh Billings, and I think Mark Twain, will run, for one more year, the fearful risk of being as funny as they can. Kate Reignolds is to tell the story of Charles Reade, whom she knew well in London, and who offered her the materials to form a sketch of his life. I say nothing of Kate Field, who is in England by this time, but is not out of mind because out of sight, or of the other fascinating fair ones who are awaiting offers, because, though my notes are not exhausted, I have filled out my allotted space, and must make my farewell briefly."

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—'Dairy Maid' writes us a rather spicy letter. She says: "You wont publish my verses. Perhaps you prefer your own poetry." [You are right.] "You seem to know a little of everything—may be you can tell me the best way to set geese eggs and raise goslings."

Certainly. We never cultivated the goose to any alarming extent; we dislike the monotone of the gander's song, at four o'clock in the morning; but we have run pretty largely to potato onion sets, which are much about the size of eggs. Reasoning by analogy we should say, set the eggs in rows about 18 inches apart and six inches apart in the row. When the goslings appear, water freely, and tie to stakes, if they show a disposition to run. They succeed best on moist ground. As to varieties, we know nothing of the Chinese, or Bremen. Drawing on our experience in strawberry culture, we should recommend pistillate varieties, with a few staminates for fertilization. And you are a spicy—not to say peppery—correspondent. Write us again, please.

—"Politicks" writes us a long, misspelled letter, in which he complains bitterly of the manner in which the people are "gulld" by politicians. He is "sick of the whole thing," "don't care if he never votes again," "don't look into a political paper any more," "would'nt go half a mile to vote for President," with more of the same sort.

We are glad to hear from "Politicks." We have been wanting for some time to pitch into just such asses, if only to see whether they had life enough left to kick. Why, you consummate donkey, do you think you mend the matter by staying away from the polls—leaving the politicians to make up and elect the ticket, in favor of themselves? Are you fit to take a hand in a government which you are so fearful of understanding that you won't even read a paper? Do you suppose that spending your evenings at the corner grocery, whining about the way in which the people are "gulld," is going to mend the matter? Don't you know that the people—the producing classes—are largely in the majority, as yet, and may get up primary meetings and manage the entire matter of nominations and elections to their liking, if they will, and have the intelligence to do it? Whose fault is it if they do not? One evening in each week given to the reading of the laws, Constitution, and political usages of the State, would make any man of ordinary intelligence sufficiently well informed to conduct the proceedings of a primary meeting or convention; but if you and others choose to let yourselves be led and "gulld," when you have the halter in your own hands, whose fault is it? Wake up. Spend your evenings for the next twelve months in posting yourself in governmental affairs and policy. Get up primary meetings of the people; vote directly for the nominees, and see that they are the men you want. Fit yourself for self government; not your part in it, and induce your lazy neighbor to do the same. Rely on it, your part in the government will depend mainly on yourself and your ability to do and understand.

Politics and politicians are bad enough, but the fault lies, for the most part, with the masses, who allow it to be so, when they have the power to run the machinery of government in their own interests.

OUR GRADED SCHOOL, AGAIN.—On Thursday last our school was visited by a large number of our most intelligent citizens, among whom were Superintendent Horton, Judges Bentley and Veil, Rev. N. L. Reynolds, Doctor Webb & J. B. Potter, &c. all of whom took a lively interest in the proceedings, and most of them, we may say, expressed unfeigned surprise at the rapid advance made in the few well chosen branches which scholars of from seven to eleven years of age are being trained in.

We have frequently had occasion to speak of this school, and always favorably. No one who has not seen the school in operation can fairly appreciate the difference between the present quick, intelligent mode of imparting knowledge and the old slow-going method of instruction which obtained when most of us were children.—We saw children seven and eight years of age who, to our knowledge, could barely count up to twenty by ones, when first attending this school, now counting by twos, threes and fours, up to a hundred, backward or foward with equal facility. Children that last summer were ignorant of the alphabet, reading creditably, and able to write the reading lesson on the slate afterward, in a way that might shame some men of substance who don't want to be taxed for educating other people's children.

After watching this school in its progress for months, we are of the firm opinion that a scholar, under the system pursued in it, may attain as much knowledge in three years as the same amount of studious effort would afford in five under the usual academic methods. Better than the technical knowledge, the ability to answer questions and repeat lessons, is the training in rapid, self reliant thought and mental analysis, which, to our thinking, is the best basis for success in after life. The habits of order and discipline which prevail in a school of several hundreds—many of them normally unruly and full of wild spirit—is a marvel to all who visit the school; and it has been brought about in a quiet way, without flogging, we believe, or any severe punishment.

We do not purpose to give a synopsis of the exercises. Any one can visit the school who takes interest enough in it to do so; and if he or she feel competent to criticise and pass judgment on the mental exercises of the higher grades, Professor Winters will be pleased to have them do so.

What we wish to urge just here, is the importance to the county—to the country—of keeping up this school. We believe there is a movement on foot that looks to the crushing of this school, and a return to the old system—all along of taxes. Of course, taxes being the dead-weight, it follows that those who oppose the school are men of property, to some extent—and we are glad that their number is small. Do these men ever reflect that "the years of the days of a man's life are three score and ten?" that, after a man has once reached fifty, the remnant of his life is much given to rheumatism, and little worth the holding, save for the good he may do? Twenty years is a short time to look back on; but in twenty years more, by far the largest portion of what we reckon as property will be in the hands of children who are now attending school;—and the present holders will have been stowed away "where they never see the sun." But, to the nation, to the communities in which they live, the education of the little men and women of to-day, who are so soon to hold—not only all the taxable property, but the destinies of this republic—is of more real importance than any other question of the day. Never having sought very anxiously for riches, caring very little about money, except for present needs, we may be excused for placing the training of the nation's future rulers far beyond and above any question of money. Nothing to us looks so sad as a man who, having toiled up to old age for property, coolly measures his life, the lives of others, and his country's best interests, in his own vest pocket,—the measure is so small for so large a quantity.

The school, however, will stand, oven by the vest pocket test. We do not believe there is an owner of 100 acres of land within easy reach of this school, who could not afford to give twenty acres rather than have the school go down, even as a matter of profit and loss.

The system pursued in this school is the result of more than 100 years' experience and experiment as to the best and readiest methods of imparting valuable and practical knowledge in the affairs of life; knowledge which may be always at hand for everyday use, which makes the successful, self-reliant business man, and the intelligent, judicious mother

We have refrained from speaking personally of the Principal of the school; but it is only justice to say that the excellent management and discipline, the good order and rapid progress of the school, are mainly—perhaps entirely—due to one directing mind. We have no flattery for any man; but we know that Professor Winters has taken hold of our children by the intellect, and led them, at a quick but easy gait, along the path of knowledge, without running them afoul of the thorns that are usually found so plenty in that path. And if we should lose him, we are very doubtful if his place could be filled for years with a teacher of equal ability. His heart is in his work. But abilities like his are always in demand, and, though the school is not likely to go down, we have reason to believe that Mr. Winters will not remain if there be any considerable opposition to, or feeling against the school.

The visit to and examination of the school lasted about three hours. It was closed by short, well worded speeches by Judges Bentley and Veil and Superintendent Horton.

A GOOD PAPER.—Most men who live in the country like to read of lively doings at trots, races, &c., where the races are fair, or, if not fair, where the rascality is exposed. And most of us like to read of manly sports and recreations. And men who own good horses like to have an intelligent authority at hand for reference, in case of disease which threatens the loss of a valuable animal. On all these points we can refer our readers to the Turf, Field and Farm, published at 37 Park Row, New York, as one of the best published in the country. It does not countenance prize or dog fighting, or any species of brutality, under the name of sport, but is a paper that may fitly be laid before a family of ladies and children, without reproach or offense.

MAINSBURG.—I do not pretend to be a close observer, but this fact I have noticed, that since there has been no license at this place, we have scarcely seen a drunken man, and we have no brawling or fighting. This is a circumstance of almost daily remark by persons coming to this place and by our own citizens. Even those who before favored license, now say they prefer no license; and this is the expressed feeling of our worthy landlord. This seems to be a place of refuge for those who drink. Not long since a gentleman from Blossburg, who was once a lawyer of Wellsboro, came to this place on purpose, as he said, to get out of the power of whiskey; and in the condition that he came here, it was probably his only resort, to extend his life.

The wife of Rev. [illegible] Rhinevault died on the 1st instant, at Mainsburg, where she had gone some three weeks before to be treated by a physician of that place. Elder Rhinevault had gone out there with a carriage after her. No one at this place knew of her death until the hearse brought her remains here on the 2d, and of course it came very suddenly to the family here, and to all.

Mr. Otis Robbins, of Sullivan, was hurt quite seriously a few days since, by falling from a horse. We are having a fine rain this morning, and farmers and ducks alike are happy.

All persons who aspire to beauty of personal appearance should not neglect that natural accessory, the hair. By many it has been neglected until the hair has become thin, gray, or entirely fallen off. Messrs. Hall & Co., Nashua, N. H., have produced an effectual remedy, called Sicilian Hair Renewer, which cures all diseases of the scalp. This wonderful preparation acts upon the glands, which support and nourish the hair, restores gray hair to its original color, makes the scalp white and clean, removes and prevents the formation of dandruff and all cutaneous eruptions; and, by its tonic and nutritive properties, restores the scalp to a healthy state, and causes a new growth. ARE dressings, it is unsurpassed, giving the hair that brilliancy so much admired by all.—Boston Commercial.

AYER'S AMERICAN ALMANAC, for the new year, has arrived for delivery gratis by W. C. KRESS, to all who call for it. This little annual has the largest circulation of any book in the world, made by the fact that it furnishes the best medical advice which is available to the people—enables them to determine what their complaints are and how to cure them. It contains the startling announcement of the conflagration of a world, or the combustion of one of the stars in the firmament with all its attendant planets.

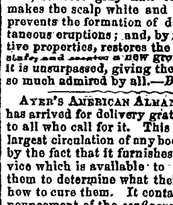
Ayer's Sarsaparilla



Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities, or diseases that have lurked in the system for years, soon yield to this powerful antidote, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhœa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even where no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

Every year increases the popularity of this valuable Hair Preparation; which is due to merit alone. We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard; and it is the only reliable and perfected preparation for restoring GRAY OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken. The scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. It removes all eruptions and dandruff, and, by its tonic properties, prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair-glands. By its use, the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth, except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HAIR DRESSING ever used, as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair a splendid, glossy appearance. A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes."

Buckingham's Dye
FOR THE WHISKERS.

As our Renewer in many cases requires too long a time, and too much care, to restore gray or faded Whiskers, we have prepared this dye, in one preparation; which will quickly and effectually accomplish this result. It is easily applied, and produces a color which will neither rub nor wash off. Sold by all Druggists. Price Fifty Cents.

WHO WANTS TO BUY

A HOUSE AND LOT in Wellsboro? Or a desirable lot? Or a farm within twenty minutes walk of Wellsboro? I hold for sale on reasonable terms, the following property:

A well finished, new two story dwelling house, containing ten good rooms; with a half acre lot, good barn, good well of water; and every way desirable as a residence. Location, corner of Walnut and Meade streets, adjoining the Clymer grounds.

Also, a large village lot, containing about one acre, and in good shape for dividing into three building lots. Location, corner of Meade and Grant streets.

And a desirable farm in Delmar, containing 105 acres (known as the Whelan lot) Said farm comprises a twenty acre meadow newly seeded, a fine field of winter wheat, and about 60 acres of excellent timber, consisting of ash, hickory, oak, basswood, whitewood and hemlock. The farm is well watered, and abuts on two roads—the new Stony Fork road and the road leading from Samuel Dickinson's to Wm. Etherens's place.

Likewise, ten fine yearlings. All on reasonable terms. Inquire of WILLIAM CARROLL.

MANHOOD: HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED. Just published by DR. LEWIS 256 pages, Third Edition. THE MEDICAL COMPANION AND GUIDE TO HEALTH, on the radical cure of Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., and the Venereal and Syphilitic Maladies, with plain and clear directions for the speedy cure of Secondary Symptoms, Gonorrhœa, Gleets, Strictures, and all diseases of the skin, such as Scurvy, Scrofula, Ulcers, Boils, Blotches and Pimples on the face and body. Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Treatise, clearly demonstrates, from a forty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequence of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, can be effectually cured, cheaply, privately, and radically.

☞ This Book should be in the hands of every youth, and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope. Price 50 cents. Address, DR. LEWIS, No. 7 Beach St, New York.
