Proparations will be made for a large gathering, and a very interesting time may be expected. Let every person interested in the cause of education, exert an influence to make this annual Institute second to none in the State.

Queen's own alpacas at Hortons'.

Cool weather and long evenings have combined to start the Hermaics into activity, which takes the direction of amateur oratory just at present. On Friday night of each week, in a rear room, second floor, of Wright & Bailey's block, may be heard the resonant tones of forensic eloquence; and the momentous questions of the day-women's rights, men's wrongs, toddy versus spring water, etc., &c .- are ventilated exbaustively.

THE FAIR-October 8d, 4th and 5th. We trust the attendance will be large this year at our county Fair, and that farmers and gardeners will see and feel the importance of bringing their best specimens from farm and garden. Especially should this be the case with new and improved varieties of food products. We hope to of oats, corn, wheat, and whatever goes to make as adviser and amanuousis. Anyhow, here they up the total of food pro duction in our county .--Especially do we want to see milch cows exhibred that will do credit to this county, than which there is no better for dairying purposes; -and we don't want to see an agricultural fair converted into a horse-racing (af) fair. We notice with pleasure that some of the most successful and best conducted fairs exclude the horse-trotting feature altogether; and that in proportion as they cut off racing and the none too reputable contingents thereof, the fairs become more agrioultural and less black-legging,-to the great satufaction of real agriculturists. Fast time and fast horses are well enough on a race track, but do not mix well with steady going farming. The argument that a trot will call out a higger crowd than the best show of agricultural productions, amounts to nothing. It is the farmers, the real producers, who raise the world's food, that such a fair ought to call out. The trot calls out a crowd, most of whom never raised anything but the devil in all their lives. Nevertheless, if we must have the trot, let us bare the single mile in a little less than 2:691. The Fair Exhibitors must make their

APPLE TREE BORERS AGAIN .-- We cannot impress it too strongly on those having roung orehards, that the borer is destined to desatched and summerily dealt with. The ignousee of people on this subject is almost incredi be, and the apathy of farmers who have younge trees is likely to cost them dear. The notion that the borer is only hatched in the spring, ought to be corrected at once; and it cannot be s widely known that this pest is constantly beby bred in the bark of young trees from April tatries on the first day of the Fair. So says the

We have taken out about 100 borers during be present month, some of the trees having as cany as twelve in the soft young bark-enough to ruin any young tree. We are taking them out trery day, nearly; most of them being recently batched, and having as yet done little damage. Sharp eyes, a sharp knife, and a little practice are the cure. All nostrums, all plans of placing omething about the crown of the tree for a pro rention, are but snares for the lazy. We tried it nce, by the advice of some one in the N. York fumers' club; we wrapped half a dozen young trees from the ground to a hight of 18 inches above. It proved a tree protection-for the eggs already in the bark, which we could not have been expected, to know of. The eggs hatched; and when, late in the season, we removed one covering to see how things were working, we found nine healthy, well grown borers at work, and the tree nearly ruined. Others were more or less injured; and we have "protected" no trees sinco-save by the knife.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS, MANUFACTO-Riss, de -- It strike- us just now that Wellsborg esords uncommon facilities for enpitalists who are looking for locations favorable for starting leather tannery, we do not know a better. 'As to inneries, every man knows that they do not ome into competition with each other; a dozen a tach town being not a whit in each other's ond Empire.

In the department of science, it gives the resulting was arise in buying In the department of science, it gives the resulting was arise in buying bark. Of course we mean large tanneries, which tring foreign hides to the bark region and return ble leather to the eastern cities.

There is a well conceived enterprise of this tind on foot about two miles below the village, another on Pine creek-and plenty of room, ith abundance of bark, for a dozen more. Eastno men, when seeking a business location, usu ily follow the great lines of travel, with through etets in their pockets, and hence it happens that they often pass within an hour's ride of the try place that they need, without knowing of its

Now we think Wellsboro is just the place plich a good many capitalists would like to 100m, and we are going to tell them about it. tet us premise that we have one of the quietest, litalantest and healthiest villages in America, in mountain scenery, fertile farms around us, batter equal to the bost Orange county, and plenb of pure spring water. That our people are and disposed to give every enburagement to the man who comes here in good hith, meaning square business. As for manuacturing facilities, we will state fairly what they tie. In the first place, as to wooden were and implements: There is probably not a better imbered region within fifteen hours by rail of New York, than this. Beech, rock or sugar ma he been sawed to considerable extent since the Pa.-[ED.

establishment of a steam saw mill in the village, for exportation to the East. It strikes us that it would be better to use it here, and send the manufactured articles to the East. We see no reason why a cotton factory should not be operated more cheaply here than in the Eastern States. When the Wellsboro and Lawrenceville railroad reaches the Antrim mines, coal can be delivered for $2.50 and $3 per ton in the village, and coal is a large consideration in business where steam is used.

For woolen manufactures we think this region eculiarly adapted. The county produces a large amount of wool, which ought, if possible, o be worked up in the county. And the neighboring counties of Potter and Bradford are also ool growing counties. Building material-brick, stone, pine and semlock are plenty, and far cheaper than in the Eastern States, while business men and capitalists are disposed to afford every facility in thair American steam safe. Also, they have for sale power to any one who comes among us to start a new or add to an old industry. On the State road, the Messrs. Bache have hought the Pierce estate, recently owned by S. F. Wilson, Esq., and have had it surveyed and plotted for a village, for which its clean, moderately elevated position, makes it particularly adapted. As a beautiful, healthy site, it would be hard to beat, and the Messrs. B. assure us that they will give, or sell for a nominal sum, a handsome location to the man or company that will erect a considerable manufactory thereon, in good substantial style.

We are going to send a few copies of this issue "down East;" and if business men who read this never intend visiting this region, let them hand it to some one who may be looking for a location in a healthy country, where land, timber and coal are cheaper than in the Rastern States. And any such man may like to hear that we have the best graded school in Northern Pennsylvania, making our school facilities equal to those of Massachusetts. That we have a nest, thrifty village of 1500 inhabitants, with four churches, a court house and jail, with the other county buildings usual in a county town. Also, that we pay our debts and taxes with very little grumbling, and have a Republican majority in the county—on a full vote—of about 3,300.

NEW Goods .- Horton & Brother have just received an endless variety and quantity of new goods-enough to supply all creation .-They are marking these goods right down, and propose to sell them rapidly at very small profits. Drop in and see the new goods.

NEW CENSUS AND PATENT LAWS .-We are indebted to Munn & Co., publishers of the Scientific American, New York, for a neat little bound volume of 120 pages, entitled as above. It contains the complete Consus of 1870, showing the population by Counties, of all the States and Territories, with their areas, and the population of the principal Cities. Also, the now Patent Laws in full, with forms, official rules, directions how to obtain Patents, Copyrights, Regulations for Trade-Marks, Assignments, how to sell Patents, &c. Also, a large variety of valuable information relating to Water-Wheels, Steam Engines, and other mechanism, with many useful tables and receipts, 175 diagrams of Me chanical Movements, &c. We advise everybody to send for it as above. ' Price 25 cts. A more valuable compendium, for so small a price, has rarely been published.

"DAIRYMAID" WRITES US AGAIN. -She says: "I send you some verse-made just for fun How will it do for your local columns? Tom and I made it. Tom is the poet of the family, and lazy accordingly. He thinks, and we all think, that he is a poet. He wrote the lines you rejected, and he thinks you didn't understand back, without making fun, as you did when I gave you a hint on the goose question. By the way, I don't wonder you took it as personal." Answer: The lines strike us as very passable -for nonsense,-which the best of men are supposed to relish semi-occasionally. We will print see specimens of the two new potatoes, "King | them; and we think most of our readers will of the Earlies" and "Peerless," also of the Hub- agree that they "do" very well. We suspect hard and Turban squashes; improved varieties | "Tom" wrote them, and you aided and abetted,

"IT MIGHT HEV' BIN." Deacon John Davis rode his mare Across the meadows fresh and fair, To a little cottage, old and brown, That stood by a brook in Lindley-town, And asked with a shame faced, modest mien for an interview with Isabel Green. And Isabel, who had seen him come,

Said, " Tell the Deacon I aint to hum. For Isabel wore a Grecian band. And loved a young man with no end Of somp-locks, clustering 'round a face On which much hair left little space For kissing: while a togo mustache Made it close work to wrastle his hash. "I think," said red-lipped Isabel Green,
"That Deacon John is real mean, To ask a girl like me t' engage To marry a man that's twice her age." The deacon said, "She may be right: I walked accordin' to the light I hed. I'm only thirty-eight, An well to du, an' strong, an' straight. I would hev let her kep the puss: She may go furder an' fare wuss."

And the deacon straddled his mare agin-Saying only, "It might hev bin." And Isabel married Charley Cross, Who kept a Hambletonian hoss, And made his living by little games, From which arise unpleasant names. He played at euchre, poker, and whist, And was a noted billiardist; He fought the tiger with might and main, And often got most bitterly slain. But then, he had splendid hair and eyes, And walked like a viscount in disguise; Handled his cane in the latest style,

And had such a bandit look and smile! Oh, sweet to a country maiden's view Is a waxed mustache of sable hue; And dearly the maiden loves to note A well made man in a bob-tailed coat. Ah, sad and sickening is the life That waits on every gambler's wife; And any maiden will rue the day

She marries the man who lives by play. Isabel followed her unwise choice Till she learned to tremble at look and voice And her soul turned sick from time to time At the dirty deed—half trick, half crime—As she thought of quiet Lindley-town,
The little cottage, so snug and brown,
And the happy, healthful, peaceful life
She might have led—as the Deacon's wife.

One night, at Natchez, under the hill, It came to an end, as such things will: There was a scrimmage, which I believe Aroso from aces-in Charley's sleeve. No uso to tell of the savage fight That wakened the town at dead of night; Of pistol shots, and Bowies drawn, And a shallow grave at early dawn;-

But Isabel, widowed and forlorn, Went buck to the spot where she was born. And often, with thoughts too deep for words, She watches the Descon's flocks and herds Or quietly weeps to see him ride With a blooming Deaconess at his side;— Then turns to her wash tub once agia, Saying, only, "It might hev been."

Wellsboro School Tax-1872.

TOTICE is hereby given that the Board of School Directors of the borough of Wells-boro will meet at the office of John I. Mitchell, in Wellsboro, on Saturday, the 7th day of October, 1871, and remain in session from two to four o'clock P. M. of said day, for the purpose of receiving applications for abatements of school taxes assessed by them for the school year ending June, 1872; after which time no applications for abatements will be considered. Attention is called to the reasons for issuing the duplicate at this time :

1. The law directs the tax to be levied in 1. The law directs the tax to be levied in June of each year.

2. The practice of delaying collection till spring is bad, resulting as it does in loss of tax on transient persons, and in confusion of accounts at the end of the school year.

3. We are compelled to collect the tax at an early day, to meet the expenses of the schools. The taxables of that part of the district taken from Delmar refuse to pay their tax for last year, and thereby we are deprived of about year, and thereby we are deprived of about $1600, which cannot be collected in time to meet current expenses. The question must be deci-ded by the Court.

CORNING, N. Y.

Every year increases the popularity of this valuable Hair Preparation; which is due to merit alone. We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard; and itis the only reliable and perfected preparation for restoring GRAY OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken. The scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. It removes all eruptions and dandruff. and, by its tonic properties, prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair-glands. By its use, the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor. and will create a new growth, except in extreme old age. It is the most economical Hair Dressing ever used. as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair a splendid, glossy appearance. A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes." Price One Dollar. Buckingham's Dye

FOR THE WHISKERS. As our Renewer in many cases requires too long a time, and too much care, to restore gray or faded Whiskers, we have prepared this dye, in one preparation; which will quickly and effectually accomplish this result. It is easily applied, and produces a color which will neither rub nor wash off. Sold by all Druggists. Price Fifty Cents. Manufactured by R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA. N.H.
