

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 11, 1871.

New Advertisements. Millinery Mrs. G. P. Smith. Working Machine-Luke Stevens.

NOTICE.-The ladies of the Baptist Society of Mansfield, will give a social Friday evening Oct. 13th. Object-repair of the church.

A good housekeeper wanted; one who has had experience with children preferred; good wages will be paid. Inquire at this office, Oct. 11-71.

READINGS.-Miss S. R. Preston, Elia, will give Readings in Bowen & Cone's Hall on the evening of the 13th inst. Miss Preston is well recommended, and we speak for her a good house. See ad. in another column.

LARGE POTATOES.-L. L. Russell, Esq., has left a lot of fine potatoes at this office, the largest of which weigh respectively 2 lbs., 1 1/2 lbs., and 2 lbs. 5 oz. They are a mixed lot, most of them being Chiles and the largest being what we should call Californians.

SOME POTATOES.-Mr. P. H. Boatman, of Delmar, informs us that he raised this season on a patch of ground six rods long and three rods wide one hundred bushels of potatoes of the Chiles variety. This is at the rate of 850 bushels per acre. Who beats this?

Mrs. O. P. Smith has just received a lot of new goods in the millinery line. Said lot comprises all the most desirable styles, and will be disposed of at figures that will gratify the purchasers. Mrs. Smith keeps up with the times and with the fashion.

LARGE ONIONS.-This is the season of large vegetables, and we take pleasure in recording the achievements of a local fruit-raising gentleman, believing firmly that mankind lives mainly by eating. The best on our table is a lot of Onions raised by Charles Olose, very large and fine, of the old red variety. Now, someone try it with a bunch of fine apples; or a sack of fine flour; or a quart of fat beef-we will do the handsome thing.

PERSONAL.-Mr. Archie DeVos, of the Elmira Advertiser, visited our County Fair last week and wrote up some good things for that paper.

Mr. J. E. Warren, Printer, formerly of the Orange Times, N. Y., is spending a few days with his friends in this place.

Our old friend, Wm. Garrison, Esq., of the National Revenue Office, Washington, D. C., put in an appearance in our office on Friday last, looking hale and hearty. Our readers may look for a letter from him occasionally in the Agitator.

In contrast to our coil nights and bright blighting days, comes a private letter from Oama, on the river Tontantiss. The writer was room-mate with Jones one year ago, and is an engineer of ability, whose test of engineering on the private pleasure yacht of the Khedive of Egypt, the Commodore, Cottingham, died in Paris of fever, and budding the engineer, died from the pestilence, being one of the very few foreigners who escaped. His letter is graphic, and so interesting that we will try and make room for it next week.

COVINGTON VETERANS.-This company of soldiers was at the county fair during the last day of the county fair. They are deserving much praise for their gentlemanly as well as soldierly qualities. They are fully armed and equipped, and their appearance added much to the interest of the fair. Their officers are as follows: Captain, E. B. Decker; 1st Lieutenant, Thos. Whittingby; 2d Lieutenant, Howard Merrill.

THE RACES.-The races on the Wellsboro driving course, which we announced last week, resulted as follows: Best three in three, male heats. First day, first trot, for horses that have never been first in public. For this race there were six entries.

Edw. Powers enters, Fanny Kato, 1, 2, 2, 2. W. H. Hill enters, Covanquey Boy, 0, 0, 4, 0. W. D. Knox enters, Spotted Tawn, 4, 0, 0, 0. A. C. Brown enters, Chestnut Bird, 0, 0, 0, 0. B. Moore enters, Bella John, 0, 0, 0, 0. Leonard enters, Lunderman Pavy, 2, 3, 3, 3. Second trot, for horses that have never been first in public, best three in three, male heats.

Lock enters, Captain, 1, 2, 2, 2. A. Bentley enters, Lady Myer, 1, 2, 1, 1. J. Decker enters, Clara, 3, 3, 0, 0. B. Leonard enters, Polly Parkins, 0, 0, 0, 0. The time was not made public, but it was good for recorded horses, and we saw no disposition to jockey the race.

The scoring was tedious in the first race, but second-off was fair; and we may remark that all of the horses in the first race (except Bird) will be likely to make his mark as a trotter.

THE FAIR.-It is no boasting to say that our county fair was a success and a credit to our people. The weather looked unpromising in the first morning, and when a steady rain commenced pouring down, the weather-wise prepared a stormy time for exhibitors, and consequent failure, to a degree. The prospects were dim. There was just rain enough to put the grounds in solid condition, and then the sun came out to stay. By the first of the first day, the weather could not have been third day.

On the first day there were some 400 entries, and the entries on the second day brought the number up to 554. Most of the classes were well represented. Class 1, mares and colts, and class 2, horses, brought out better quality stock than we have before seen in the county, collectively. When we all come for single mares, roadsters, there were five that we regarded as a first class. None of one speed-though that was a leading point-we were rather interested in watching the action of the contestants. All were driven at will, as one might say. We did not see a whip used, but the training was very fine, and the mares behaved in a way that surprised the owners. They got right up and got along without a skip; went just where they should go, with loose lines; and we saw no reason why the most spirited of them might not be driven by a woman, or a child.

No man can help holding speed; and we found ourselves watching a sorrel roan, driven by a man in a gray coat, (stranger to us,) because he behaved beautifully and showed signs of not being tired. Next to her own head, with lines hanging loose, she got around that track in a way that looked very good indeed.

In the show of matched mares, J. Locke and L. Holmes led; both good, and hard to beat in roadsters, or as well watched, well trained teams.

The show of single horses was fine, and the reputation sharp. We do not choose to risk an opinion on their respective merits; that is for the committee of awards; but we could enumerate several that we think will be heard of in history.

Mr. Russell showed a very fine young horse, with good promise of speed, and fine action. The matched teams and draught horses would credit to an older and more populous county than we have had seen in any fair that we have been to here last week.

were shown-for the best of which our readers are referred to the premium list. If there is any one thing in which Tioga county ought to excel, it is dairy stock. It is a notable fact that there is not a better county in the United States than this for dairying purposes, and we have some very deep milkers in the county, that should have been on the ground, with a record of their products. But they were not there.

There was some fine stock exhibited, and the show was good; but it should and might have been better. L. Bennett entered his Alderney bull, and we think him the best bull in the county. His mark is beginning to be prominent on the young stock hereabout; and a great deal of young good native animals to a farm.

Mr. B. exhibited his boar, Young America, Chester white, and the best animal of the kind we have seen in this county. L. Kilkenny's sow and pigs of the same strain; and the best lot of fruit exhibited, a trio of Brains, and a pair of Toudans; also a pair of fine geese. There should have been a dozen or more of fowls. But the season is fast showing poultry, because it is the moulting season, and those having fine fowls do not like to put them on exhibition in a fall market sale.

On fruit we were agreeably surprised. The warm weather last April brought fruit buds forward, and the nine successive hard frosts in May pretty effectually squelched the hopes of fruit growers. Consequently we were not looking for such a show as the tables presented.

C. H. Adams showed 35 varieties of large, choice apples. H. Griffin, of Charleston, had a stand of apples, pears and quinces, excellent in quality and well grown. John Shannon showed a lot of fine fruit, as did C. H. Johnson, and one of two others.

Darwin Thompson exhibited specimens of two seedling peaches, raised from the stone by himself, which we think deserving of notice, and well worth propagation. The most promising of them is a seedling of the name of 'Globe,' and has borne well and ripened its fruit in such a season as the past one, goes far to prove it a success here, and valuable in a more genial climate as well. The peach is not usually a success here, for going out to Brazil with a steady rain, and that of seedling. It is worth money to this county. Of the other seedling we do not think so highly, though it may be as valuable.

In class 19, there was some good work in the way of sabb, blinds, doors, &c., by W. Austin. The exhibition of agricultural machinery was well filled. The show of ploughs, cultivators, power machines, having and harvesting tools, etc., was as good as we ever saw at any county fair, and some were new, especially one called Arnold's hay tractor and conveyer, well adapted to the time and season. A combined grain drill and sower attracted much notice, and appears to us of much value. Also a mower and rake, which seems to us an improvement on anything in use hereabouts. There were 31 entries in this class, and space forbids us to particularize further than to say that the entries were highly creditable.

Class 9, dairy products. This class was very full and fine, as it should always be in this county. There was not a cheese or a sample of butter that would not be a credit to the New York market. The premium list will tell just which samples were considered best, but where all were so excellent, it must be a question to decide. We do not feel at all to challenge anything that lies out of doors in the way of cheese and butter.

Specimens of maple syrup and sugar were very full and fine, and we saw many fine samples of maple sugar, and some very fine. The exhibition of agricultural machinery was well filled. The show of ploughs, cultivators, power machines, having and harvesting tools, etc., was as good as we ever saw at any county fair, and some were new, especially one called Arnold's hay tractor and conveyer, well adapted to the time and season. A combined grain drill and sower attracted much notice, and appears to us of much value. Also a mower and rake, which seems to us an improvement on anything in use hereabouts. There were 31 entries in this class, and space forbids us to particularize further than to say that the entries were highly creditable.

Class 12, garden vegetables, there were 54 entries, and the samples were first class. Some premium flat Dutch cabbages, shown by O. F. Ellis, was extra large and solid. A basket of Essex red potatoes-the best on exhibition-was exhibited by William Harrison; and of this potato, we wish to suggest that it is the potato for this place; that is, the most healthy and profitable. The potato, parsnip, radishes, and other roots, were of moderate size. Some yellow round roots, in the ear was as good as we ever saw; and, on the whole, this class was one of the best represented at the fair.

The mechanical department, class 15, was not very well filled. There was an entry of horse shoes showing extra skill and workmanship; and a very fine harness, by William Hollands. We doubt if the latter can be beaten in the county. It was an excellent buggy from Lawrenceville. We did not hear the macker's name, but it deserved a premium.

Class 16, household and domestic, was first rate in every respect, and deserves a longer notice than we have room for. There were 64 entries in this class; and the quilts, counterpanes, and quilted goods, were of the best. The finest bedspread taken all the usefulness of it (and, finally, in the country at least. We noticed one quilt, which the maker, Mrs. S. Gillett, told us was composed of 1500 pieces, and by the same hand, which attracted much attention, and showed great taste and industry.

One quilt was entirely the work of a bright little girl of five years, Ada S. Bodine. And we wish to mention a neat night suit and under clothes exhibited by Miss The Tyler, of this place; the girl who has the skill to make the good and the good sense to exhibit such specimens of womanly skill and industry, is worth looking after. The articles in this class were too numerous for special mention; we can only say that it was one of the best filled and most creditable.

Class 17, was devoted to flowers, paintings, &c. The entries were 51. Among them we noticed feather flowers, wax flowers, and one large frame containing flowers made from reeds entirely. In the way in which quash seeds, beans, corn, sunflower seeds, &c., were worked into flowers. There were some very fine specimens of our home art. C. O. Thompson, and a Madonna, by Mrs. Winter, which attracted much notice.

This class also brought out some good work in photography, by Naramore. Class 20, house plants, produced a good show of such articles as flowering plants-which we would say more if we knew more. The girls' discretionary class brought out 53 entries, and the ladies' discretionary 38. This class comprised, as it always does, an olla podrida of everything not otherwise classified. A book case, composed of broken old books, bookshelves, and other articles, were exhibited in this class. It was ingenious, and may be useful.

A case of fine surgical instruments, and another of dentists' duty, were shown, under this head, we think; but, for the life of us, could not find out just what was discretionary. B. T. Van Horn showed some excellent cabinet work; and Andie Foley had on exhibition a neat case of dentists' duty, &c. There were some very fine specimens of penmanship, some neat fancy work, and many inconspicuous, oddities that were interesting to look at, but not perhaps, of great practical value.

There was about the usual amount of patent washing machines, clothes wringers, dog power, &c., with a very effective wood-sawing machine. And there was an invention on exhibition that deserves to be better known; and that is the patent mortar mixer of our fellow townsmen, both Wetmore. We have had many opportunities of seeing this machine work the past season; and we think it no exaggeration to say that two men and a horse, with this machine, will do the work of twelve ordinary men in making mortar, and the work better than it can be done by hand. We could say much more in praise of this particularization, but space forbids; and we will only advert briefly to the trial of sawing machines, which is a standing feature of every fair. The machines in competition were the American, the Weed, the A. B. Howe, and the Illinois Howe, Jr.

This trial was thorough and fair, and the committee were inclined to award the premium to the Illinois Howe, Jr.; but, through some misunderstanding, it was finally decided to give each of the four machines a first premium, with this addition in favor of the Illinois Howe, Jr., by the committee. It is a pity that we have no more of these machines in competition, as they are so useful and so economical. The Illinois Howe, Jr. is the best, and we think it no exaggeration to say that two men and a horse, with this machine, will do the work of twelve ordinary men in making mortar, and the work better than it can be done by hand. We could say much more in praise of this particularization, but space forbids; and we will only advert briefly to the trial of sawing machines, which is a standing feature of every fair.
