TABLES, STANDS, &c.-Mr. D. K. Barnhart, of Gaines, showed us a model the other day, which he has just patented, of an im-provement in the extension table, other tables, and stands. The improvement renders a frame unnecessary, is simple in construction, convenient and effective in use, and inexpensive in manufacture and it consists in the construction and combination of various parts of the table.

There are metal sockets to receive the tenons of the legs, which may be secured in said sockets by screws passing in through the sides of the sald sockets and screwing against or into the tenons of the legs. Upon the upper ends of the icokets are formed two or more arms, having holes through their ends to receive the screws by which the sockets are secured to the top or leaves their regular trips to Browster's, half a mile from of the table, the arms thus giving to the sockets broad base. The under side of the top of leaves of the table near the edge or edges has a groove formed in it to receive the edge of the scother rogue a few days since, and placed him | rim, which rim may be made light and thin .in secure hands. When Pomeroy gets after a The rim at its cude, or in other parts, if desired, toque, he might as well own up, for he is sure to may be strengthened by knees or brackets. In the case of square tables, the side arms of the sockets may be extended so as to form bars. which should be provided with holes to teceive the screws for securing the top or leaves in place. This improvement is designed to be attached to round tables, square tables, center tables, extonsion tables, stands, &c., and enables firm and substantial tables to be made without any frame. For office, State or county rights, or for one of these tables, address the patentee, D. K. Barnhart, Galnes, Tioga county, Pa.

THE FAIR, AND OTHER MATTERS.-Our hurry last week in getting the paper out before the election, must be our excuse for any shortcomings in our local columns. We were unable to give the report of the second day's races, because the forms were locked before the report was in the office. We give it to-day, And we had intended saying something about the musical and dramatic performances in Bowen & Cone's hall, on the evenings of the 3d, 4th and 5th. The hurry of election prevented. But we may say here that they were exceptionally successfu!. We have rarely seen the hall so crowded as it was on one or two evenings of these per-

We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard; and it is the only reliable and perfected preparation for restoring GRAY OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken. The scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. It removes all eruptions and dandruff, and, by its tonic properties, prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair-glands. By its use, the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth, except in extreme old age. It is the most economical Hair Dressing ever used as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair a splendid, glossy appearance. A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes." Sold by all Pruggists, and Dealers in Medicines.
