

WELLSBORO, PA. WEDNESDAY, NOV. 1, 1871.

Local Items.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 1, 1871.
New Advertisements.
The Goods of T. L. ...

FIRE.—There was a fire in Hornellsville on Thursday evening last, which destroyed the stables of the Osborne House. Twelve horses were burned.

TIME TABLES.—The time tables of the Wellsboro and Lawrenceville, and Blozburg and Corning Railroads will be found correct in another column.

SEWING MACHINES.—Miss H. W. Todd has the agency for the Singer Sewing Machine for this locality. This machine is one of the best manufactured, having had one in our family for ten years, we can speak from knowledge.

A NEW DODGER.—We would call special attention of our readers to a new dodger which was now in practice by evil persons, of passing counterfeit money. The dodger is this: A man carries a store in a building, and in the rear of the building, with sleeves rolled up and a cloth bespattered with lime and mortar, and a brush in his hand, he is seen to be at work. The dodger is this: A man carries a store in a building, and in the rear of the building, with sleeves rolled up and a cloth bespattered with lime and mortar, and a brush in his hand, he is seen to be at work.

ELMIRA WEEKLY ADVERTISER.—We call attention to the Elmira Advertiser in another column. It is a valuable paper, and should be taken by every farmer in this locality. It is filled with choice reading matter, giving the latest current news. Try it.

RELIGIOUS.—On Sunday evening last, Rev. S. L. Reynolds preached the first of a series of sermons on the book of Genesis. The subject was "The Creation of Man." The sermon was well received, and the congregation was large.

HOTEL CHANGE.—The Cone House changes hands on the 15th inst.—Mr. A. B. Graves, and Mr. Peleg DeWolfe, of Elmira, take charge of the house. Mr. DeWolfe is a well-known and successful business man, and we are glad to see him in charge of the hotel.

SURGICAL.—A gentleman from Hornellsville had an operation performed on Friday last, for the removal of a fragment of steel, which had remained in his eye, which was worked in by a shop. Dr. Up De Graaf cut through the eye, removed the steel, together with the injured lens, and so removed the last vision. The patient is at the City Hospital, together with his wife.

CONCERT.—The music which has been prepared for the meeting on Wednesday night, will be a prominent feature of the entertainment offered to the public. We have not heard in a long time better music than that which has proceeded from Miss Todd's rooms while the glass club was rehearsing. Wellsboro has musical talent of no mediocre order, and we are glad it is to be brought forward.

TO OUR PATRONS.—On the first of January next the AGITATOR will be printed on new type and greatly improved mechanically and otherwise. To accomplish this, we shall be under the necessity of enrolling our patrons in advance for subscription, advertising and job work, to hold in their respective amounts on or before the coming November term of Court. After that date, Mr. H. H. Curtis, our printer, will be unable to receive a distance from Wellsboro. We trust each one will be prepared to "fork over" at sight, his money around as rapidly as possible in gathering in the little birds due this office. Please remember and be prepared.

THE IMPERIAL SPRING BED.—This bed is manufactured by Messrs. Davis & Kimball, at Osceola, and is well worth the attention of the public. It was on exhibition and took the gold medal at the Centennial. It has been thoroughly tested by the editor of this paper, who is willing to vouch for its superiority. It is cheap, durable, and only needs to be seen to be appreciated. Persons wishing to purchase it, let us know above—O. C. L. 18, 1871-2.

THE COMING CONCERT.—It is with pleasure we announce the coming concert of the Mendelssohn Quintet Club, of Boston, Thursday evening, the 9th of November. The program will be generally patronized by our people, as their concert is of the first class, judging from the complimentary notices they receive from the press all over the country. A list of one of their concert recently says, "Their music was the highest order in all respects, and rendered with most artistic skill. No less merit could have been more complete, and the expression and tone were perfect. Persons who do not hear them will lose the finest musical treat ever offered."

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

VALDELECTORY.—With this number the collection of laws with the Agitator ceases. For nearly ten months he has shared the privileges and privations of the editorial room, and has stuck to his vocation closer than a bear to his honey. The engagement entered into for a few weeks, has extended to more than three quarters of the year, and the collection will be a permanent one. Though disagreeing with the chief editor on "points of doctrine and views of a factor state," there has no unpleasantness arisen from that or any other reason; and it remains the office with the Agitator, and the collection with the Valdelectory.

PREPARE FOR FIRE.—As many of the western villages have recently been destroyed by fire, should that be a warning to other places to prepare before they meet a similar fate. How is it with Wellsboro? Have we sufficient water in case of fire? We are sorry to find that we are in a different part of the village, in our opinion, and of little consequence in case of fire in our wooden buildings—either of which would be destroyed in less than five minutes. We trust no more time or expense will be thrown away on that kind of boy's work. Let us have a large reservoir built in either the branch and hammer, which will do us no harm, and will do us good. With a small expense this water can be brought into the village which would supply any demand. This looks to us as the only way, and we are sorry to find it is not being done.

PUBLIC MEETING.—There will be a public meeting in Bowen & Co's hall, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 1, at 7 P.M., in the interest of the schools of this village. Hon. H. W. Williams and Hon. Henry Sherwood will carefully prepared addresses, after which various resolutions will be called for. Mrs. Todd, assisted by the ladies of our best churches, will present several pieces, duets and choruses. The selections have been made with care, and cannot fail to add much to the interest of the evening. It is earnestly desired that every parent in the borough be present.

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

PERSONAL.—M. H. Cobb, Esq., has resigned his position on the T. D. and accepted the appointment by Assistant Treasurer Eyster of paying teller at the United States Mint, at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This responsible position he has filled with credit, and we are glad to see him in a position of honor and usefulness.

A large potato, weighing 44 pounds, and raised on the farm of Adam Day of Middlebury, has been put in this office. It is of the Russet-coat pink-eye variety.

DEDICATION.—The services connected with the dedication of the new M. E. church at Blozburg, will commence on Tuesday evening, November 7, with preaching by Rev. Wm. Baird, of Rome, N. Y., on Wednesday, at 2 P. M., by Rev. D. W. C. Huntington, D. D., President Elder of the district; and on the evening, Rev. F. G. Hilliard, D. D., of Rochester, N. Y., will preach, and conduct the dedicatory services.

LIFE OF CHRIST.—Another work on the life of our Saviour has made its appearance before the world, written by that great religious writer, Henry Ward Beecher, who has made his mark in the world by his eloquence and his sanctity, but a work of true Christian character. The New York Times says of it: "The charming style in which the book is written, the poetic imagery and beauty of sentiment with which it is written, and the tender treatment of Mary's experience of motherhood, the vivid pictures of the manners and customs of the Orient in the infancy of our Lord, and all its parts and features are characterized by the peculiar freshness and originality which Mr. Beecher brings to whatever subject he touches."

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. Beebe, Gaskill and Howard, Principals of schools of some 500 to 400 pupils each, at Blozburg, Arnot and Morris Run, left Blozburg at 8 A.M. on Friday last, to spend the day in visiting the various grades of our school, and making themselves acquainted with the system of instruction carried out there. It was a very interesting and profitable visit, and we are glad to see the principals of these schools so interested in the progress of our schools.

May applicants for divorce to the courts, each having an uncongenial partner at that time, and each obtaining a divorce at the same time—divorced without the usual delay, and without any delay in getting a new partner—were very good food for scandal, but to us seemed more sad than funny.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract. The admission, however, was strong corroborative testimony of a subsequent contract, and was so argued.

Perhaps we are expected to be facetious on this subject; but we do not see in that light. We tried to do so, but we find it impossible. We tried to do so, but we find it impossible. We tried to do so, but we find it impossible.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

It was proved that pending the divorce plaintiff kept house for defendant, and that, in lieu of wages, he had agreed to marry her when they were both free; also, he had given a written contract, which he made up as a part of which was to have an interest in his property, in case she survived him, of $100 per annum. The paper had mysteriously disappeared, and the contract of marriage, admitted by him, was void, because at the time neither party was in condition to enter a valid contract.

NOTICE.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Toga Railroad Company, for the election of Directors, President, Secretary and Treasurer, will be held at the office of the company, in Corning, New York, on the 6th day of November, 1871, at 10 o'clock A. M., the election to close at 12 o'clock noon, on Oct. 18, 1871. A. C. STEARNS, Secy.

Music! Music! AT THE MUSIC STORE in Bowen & Co's, Block, BRYANWAY and other