Presented to Every Reader of THE STAR-INDEPENDENT

Many dictionaries of various kinds have been placed on the market, but none would pass muster with the STAR-INDEPENDENT. Recently a large publishing house in the East brought together the world's greatest authorities on the English language and the result is this New Modern English Dictionary, illustrated, which a syndicate of leading newspapers immediately secured for the purpose of following out a plan of education throughout the country. So for a short time the STAR-INDEPENDENT in connection with these other papers will offer this LATEST dictionary on the remarkable terms outlined herein, before it is placed on sale at the stores at the regular retail prices. THIS DICTIONARY HAS NEVER BEEN OFFERED IN THIS CITY BEFORE.

THE NEW Modern English Dictionary

With The Latest Census

This Is What They Say of It Money Returned If Not Satisfied

The Best Dictionary Yet Printed

Indianapolis News—"A dictionary that almost attains the latitude of an encyclopaedia is the Modern English. Besides having an unusually large vocabulary of words, both ancient and modern, it contains words that have become popularized through aviation and other new creations. It also has the Census, a section of Foreign Words and Phrases, a dictionary of Commercial and Legal Terms, a collection of Synonyms and Antonyms," etc.

A Truly Modern Dictionary

Indianapolis Sun—"An innovation in Dictionary publishing is this New Dictionary, which has just come from the press. Instead of being merely a revision of the uncopied edition of the original Webster, the new dictionary is a combined product of recognized authorities from many of the great seats of learning and is a combination based upon the principles of Webster rather than a revision. It is invaluable for modern research."

An Improvement on All Dictionaries

Chicago Daily News—"Here is something new in the way of dictionaries, or rather an improvement on the old style dictionary. It is complete, accurate and convenient. It is thoroughly modern and up to date, and probably contains more of the latest words than does any other dictionary of language now published. In addition, there is a large amount of useful information such as is usually found only in comprehensive encyclopedias."

Nothing Like It in the World

Cincinnati Times-Star—"This New Dictionary is an innovation in Dictionary publishing, in that other dictionaries have been but revisions, made by an employe of a publisher, of the uncopied edition of the original Webster, whereas the new Modern English sought a combination of the greatest authorities from the largest seats of learning and endeavored to produce a new combination, rather than a mere revision of an antiquated work."

Practically all dictionaries heretofore have been but revisions of and additions to the unabridged edition of the original book turned out by Noah Webster before his death in 1843. But in the NEW MODERN—for the first time in dictionary making—is combined the work of the greatest MODERN authorities from the largest seats of learning, who have produced a new compilation based upon Websterian principles rather than a mere revision of the obsolete work. It is right off the press—truly the 1913 Dictionary.
