STOLEN BAG IS RECOVERED

Police Get Back Only Article Reported Lost—Window in Shoe Store Kicked in

Imported detectives aided the Harrisburg Police department over the trying time in the arrest of but one man, and he had no record as a pickpocket and was committed to jail for thirty days. Detective Kratz, of Baltimore, saw him insert his hand in another man's pocket and picked him up. He claims Harrisburg as a home. A $15 mesh bag containing a meal ticket and some money was reported stolen from Miss Irene Moat, of West Catawqua, while standing in a crowd at the Mt. Vernon fire house. Morris Bland, colored, was arrested and in the basement of his home in West alley was found, according to the police, a keg of beer that had been stolen. He was locked up and this morning, the police say, the bag was turned over by his wife. J. E. Drawbaugh, of the Mt. Vernon company, appeared against him in police court this afternoon. The theft of those two articles was the only crime reported to the police.

STATE COMPLAINS ABOUT THE RIVER WALL FILL

Water Supply Commission Insists That Directions Concerning Excavations on River Bed Be Strictly Carried Out

A complaint that certain requirements of the State Water Supply Commission, which approved the plans for the concrete protective wall along the river front, are not being carried out by the city, was to-day sent by that body in a communication to City Commissioner Lynch, head of the city highway department.

In approving the wall plans the Commission directed that a two-foot excavation be made in the river bed directly in front of the wall, the material to be used for the fill back of the wall. In the complaint it is charged in effect that the required excavating is not being made but instead the city is permitting excess filling and construction material to be thrown promiscuously about on the river bed.

Mr. Lynch this morning referred the communication to the Board of Public Works which has supervision of the city improvement work and attached to it a letter recommending that proper steps be taken at once to have the Water Supply Commission's directions carried out. The letter received by Mr. Lynch was as follows: "Referring to the permit issued by the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania to the City of Harrisburg, dated the fifteenth day of July, 1913, for the construction of a stepped, reinforced concrete protective wall extending along the foot of the river bank from Iron alley to Seneca street, a distance of about 14,000 feet, your attention is called to Condition No. 3 of said permit, which requires 'that no material be borrowed from outside the flood channel of the river,' which condition was imposed for the reason that the fill to be placed behind the protective wall should be secured from excavation made on the river bed. The approved plans indicating that the total amount of fill required would about balance the necessary amount of excavated material from the river channel.

"An inspection by this Commission shows the entire fill behind the protective wall was not secured in the manner directed, and that excavated material remains in the river bed beyond the toe of the steps. You are, therefore, requested to cause such excavated material on the river side of the protective wall to be removed as soon as possible. Your attention is called to the matter at this time for the reason that the present low stage of the river makes it possible to remove this material under more favorable conditions than could be done when the dam is completed and the river rises."

J. D. Justin, chief engineer of the Board of Public Works, after receiving the two communications, announced that he will get in touch with the contractor, the Stucken Brothers Construction Company, and insist that those provisions of the contract, relating to the two-foot excavations in the river bed, be carried out as promptly as possible. "The contractor has been doing some work along that line," said Mr. Justin, "although it is not going along as speedily as it might be. The material to be obtained through the excavating is to be used in making the fill back of the wall. There is a provision in the contract by which the contractor agreed to make the two-foot excavations in the river bed directly in front of the steps and that must be complied with before the job will be accepted by the city."

The engineer added that he does not anticipate any difficulty in having this part of the contract carried out.

ROAD TO ANTWERP BLACK WITH RUINS

Germany Boring Hole Through Belgian Resistance Like a Tunnel in Mountain

HURRY 200,000 MEN FOR FINISH

Gigantic Force of Kaiser's Soldiers Being Hurriedly Brought From Aix-la-Chapelle to the Scene for the Final Attack

Antwerp, via, London, Oct. 8, 11:30 P. M.—The Germans on Saturday spent sixteen hours in a terrific artillery duel in an effort to ford the Nethe. The Belgians held their ground magnificently with great sacrifice and prevented the Germans from crossing. The Germans were evidently unwilling to lose men in an assault on the fortifications by bombardment of the forts between the river Some and Scheldt, which were unable to hold out against the steady downpour of shells.

Thus the first line of Antwerp's defenses was destroyed. For the final attack the Germans are hurrying 200,000 men to the scene of battle from Aix-la-Chapelle via Brussels.

The Germans are boring a hole through the Belgian resistance like the boring of a tunnel through a mountain, in which progress no mercy is shown. Whatever interferes, villages, churches, schools and factories are wiped out with steady precision.

The road from Brussels to Antwerp is one of a blackened ruins. Some of the towns including Termonde, have been completely erased. The population fled before the Germans like American settlers before a prairie fire. An endless procession of peasants and shopkeepers, young, old and invalids, with their chattels loaded in hand carts and antiquated wagons and followed by countless children dumbly pursuing their parents, driving bellowing cattle, are slowly moving in the direction of Antwerp's cathedral tower. They have difficulty in avoiding the numerous military trains of guns, wagons and automobiles rushing to the front and occasionally hastening toward the city with men wounded in the fighting.

The refugees on arriving in Antwerp are cared for by the civil guards and Boy Scouts and taken to the public buildings and the German ships, which, contrary to the accepted version, were not destroyed but were temporarily taken over by the government. The refugees are well fed and large numbers of the children have been taken in charge by nuns who are caring for them.

The German shells continually strike the roads leading to Antwerp and the exploding shrapnel has in some cases play havoc among the peasants. The dead are left where they fall and the wounded are placed in wagons and taken along. In the city they are placed in charge of the local police who have hoisted red and white bombardment flags on the churches and public buildings.

During the worst part of the battle on the Nethe many priests and monks were on the firing line attending the wounded and giving the last care to the dying.

The fortifications at Wavre-St. Catherine were ruined with about 130 shells while the blowing up of the powder magazine ended Waelhem. Both forts were evacuated on the same night.

AUSTRIA SAYS DECISIVE BLOW WAS ADMINISTERED THE SERBIANS IN BOSNIA

London, Oct. 9, 1:10 P. M.—The Austrian War Office made the following official announcement under date of yesterday, says a dispatch to the Reuter Telegram Company from Vienna, coming by way of Amsterdam: "To the already announced successes against the Montenegrin troops now is added a decisive blow against the Serbian troops who invaded Bosnia at Visegrad. Their northern column from Srebrenitz, moving against Basta, already has been repulsed and driven across the Drina with the loss of their supply train.

The main Serbian forces, who advanced on Romana and Plania under command of General Mylos Bojanovic, former Minister of War, were routed by our troops in an engagement which lasted two days and only escaped capture by last night. One battalion of the Eleventh regiment and several quick-fire guns were captured. (Signed) "Potiorek, Field Marshal."

Concerts in the Rotunda

Two fine concerts were given in the rotunda of the Capitol this morning, and since the famous orchestra of Theodore Thomas played on the occasion of the dedication of the Capitol seven years ago there has not been a larger or more appreciative audience or a more popular program rendered.

The Liberty band, of Hazleton, which accompanied the Pioneer Fire Company, of Hazleton, to this city, gave the first concert and at the first notes of "Robin Adair," played most exquisitely, hundreds of visitors who were going through the big building flocked to the galleries and the various departments were at once emptied of their clerical forces, the crowd being so large that every foot of space was taken. The Liberty band is an old organization and during the Civil war was attached to the 147th regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers. Prof. J. E. Antmiller is the leader, and his father led the band during the war.

The Spring City band of Chester county, accompanying the Liberty Fire Company, also gave a most delightful concert to another large audience and was frequently encored.

KING ALBERT'S PRESENCE INSPIRES HEROIC EFFORT IN DEFENSE OF ANTWERP

London, Oct. 9, 4:11 A. M.—The fierce resistance of Antwerp's defenders on the Scheldt was partly inspired by the presence of King Albert himself, says the Ghent correspondent of the "Chronicle" in a dispatch under Thursday's date. He says: "The repeated German attacks aimed at the line of defense proved futile and the losses attack was attended with terrible losses. The batteries were engaged in a brisk duel, while on our side the machine guns were also hard at work. The Germans for a time did not succeed in locating the Belgian batteries, and it was amusing to watch their shells exploding as a rule in any but their right places.

Orders to Belgians to Withdraw "Early in the afternoon, however, they sent an aeroplane over the Belgian lines and positions, and very shortly afterwards their shells began to drop in inconvenient places. The Belgians found that they were being overpowered and orders were given to withdraw from their positions.

"It must be remembered that the whole of this country is covered by villages and hamlets and I hope I may not again see scenes similar to what occurred. These poor peasants hold on to their homes to the last moment and when the end comes there is confusion. "The retirement of the guns and infantry meant, of course, that in a very short time the Germans would be on the ground and the narrow road running back from the back of the Scheldt and village of Berlaere were soon blocked by field guns, ammunition wagons and ambulance vans, while the infantry made their way back as quickly as possible.

HEAVY CANNONADING ALL DAY IN THE DIRECTION OF BETHUNE

London, Oct. 9, 3:15 A. M.—A dispatch to the "Daily Mail" from Dunkirk, France, dated Wednesday, says: "Beginning at dawn and continuing until 6 o'clock this evening, heavy cannonading has been heard in the direction of Bethune, 17 miles north of Arras.

"The railroad company managed to get a train through to Lille during the night and the second attempt failed, owing to the presence of German cavalry patrols all along the line. German cavalry is reported near Dixmude."

BERLIN SAYS OFFICIALLY THAT GERMANS CONTINUE TO PROGRESS AT ANTWERP

Berlin, Oct. 8, Via London, Oct. 9, 2:45 A. M.—It is officially announced that the Germans continue to make progress at Antwerp and that they are already over the flooded area along the river Nethe.

A writer in the "Militar Wochenblatt" issue of last night waded the people against optimism regarding Antwerp, as the garrison of the fortress there is still able to continue a desperate resistance.

The newspapers are reprinting President Wilson's reply of September 16 to Emperor William's communication, in which he reported the finding of dum dum bullets at Longwy and protested against the war in which the war was being waged by Germany's opponents. President Wilson's reply in effect was that it was unwise to express a final judgment on the dum dum protest and expressed the opinion that an accounting would come at the war's conclusion, when the nations will assemble to make a settlement. The newspaper comment on this reply is most friendly and is to the effect that any other answer could not be expected.

Crop reports for October show potatoes, sugar beet, clover and alfalfa are middling to good. Autumn planting is making good progress, despite the earlier droughts.

LATEST SUMMARY OF THE EUROPEAN WAR SITUATION

German heavy artillery is pounding Antwerp, the last remaining stronghold of the Belgian army, while German armies to the west continue thus far the indecisive struggle with the French and British allies.

Beyond this little is known of today's developments in Belgium and France. The situation at Antwerp is in doubt. The censorship which masked the fighting there until the Belgian government was compelled to withdraw to Astend, is now veiling the attack on the city proper. Reports coming through London refer only to events of yesterday morning or earlier.

King Albert is variously reported as leading a part of the Belgian army out of the city with the intention probably of effecting a juncture with the British and French, and as having arrived at Selszaete, a village on the Dutch frontier. Refugees from Antwerp continue to pour into Holland. They report that the German guns already have done much damage in the city.

The bombardment of Antwerp's inner forts is said to have begun at 12:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Two of these forts are reported to have been silenced and fire is said to have started in four parts of the city.

The most recent statement by the German war office stated that the Germans had crossed the flooded area along the river Nethe and continued to make progress.

The general situation in the west has undergone no change, says a French official announcement made at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The battle continues along the line of Lens, Arras, Brays-sur-Somme, Chaumes, Roye and Lassigny. An artillery duel is occurring in the Woevre district. Otherwise nothing of importance on the right or on the center of the allies is reported by the French.

The Paris announcement says that Montenegrin troops continue their advance on Sarajevo, the capital of Bosnia. A similar report has been made almost daily for many days.

The Austrian war office, in its most recent communication, reports successes against the Montenegrins and a decisive blow against the Serbian invaders of Bosnia at Visegrad.

The Austrian army headquarters also reported the receipts of Przeszow and the repulse of the Russians who are marching on Przemysl in Galicia.

The latest reports from the eastern theatre of war are that the Russians who invaded East Prussia and later were defeated and driven back to the Niemen river, have again invaded East Prussia, driving the Germans back as far as Lyck. On the other hand the Germans are in force in Russian Poland, having reached almost to Warsaw while the Russian movement west through Galicia is meeting a stubborn resistance from German and Austrian forces. The Russians claim to have captured one of the forts at Przewal. A similar claim was made several days ago.

A dispatch from Athens says that German officers have placed large German guns in the forts on the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus.

HAD PLANNED REDUCTION OF ANTWERP FOR MANY WEEKS

London, Oct. 9, 3:20 A. M.—Telegraphing from Ostend, the "Daily Express" correspondent sends the following: "The German plan for the reduction of Antwerp has carefully developed for many weeks past. The serious bombardment will only be begun when, in the opinion of the commandant, he is in a position to take the city with little delay. Emplacements for the big guns have been carefully constructed at most advantageous positions. These guns were brought from Namur and Maubeuge. The Germans have a large number of them at their disposal."

Villages in Flames

October 3, the action is now general in all directions. We go out in the afternoon with the Red Cross. Going in the direction of Cambrai the shells hurtle overhead as we run the gauntlet. Away to the south villages in flames and northward a huge cloud of black smoke hangs over Lens where the coal mines are on fire.

"It is a real battle picture, awestruck and fascinating. We reach a little hamlet where outbuildings are full of wounded and nurses and doors are working heroically at the terrible, shrapnel-mangled limbs. We take all we are able to in the cars back to Arras station, where they are entrained. They are already streaming out on foot for St. Pol and we join them also afoot."

Fishing Vessel Blown Up by Mine

Copenhagen, Via London, Oct. 9, 6:55 A. M.—A German fishing vessel has been blown up by a German mine on the coast of Denmark. The captain was killed but the rest of the crew were saved.

Wonderful Battle Scene

"I am deducted to some rising ground outside the town where a wonderful battle scene bursts upon my view. In front, on the horizon, a farmstead is blazing fiercely and the black smoke trails across the evening sky. Within 500 yards of us the French batteries are in action, shelling the woods to drive out the enemy. Flashes of flames burst over the woods like lightning dancing in the trees. Pressing the German artillery begins shelling the battery near us. We watch the shells burst and as the shrapnel fire becomes heavier and nearer our guide suggests it is time to go.

Wonderful Battle Scene

"On October 3 I am awakened at daybreak by the thunder of heavy guns, now from the north and east, where the third day's battle is raging in a triangle formed by Arras, Lens and Douai. During the day I watch a daring aeroplane fight in the air and am invited to watch the battle at closer quarters.

Diary's Bloody Chapter

"As darkness fell the tired, blood-stained soldiers began streaming into Arras and for hours the air resounded with the din they made. Throughout the night the boom of guns could be heard in the distance from the east and west.

Diary's Bloody Chapter

"The next morning opened quiet in town, but the roar of guns was still heard. Apparently as the day advanced the sound was coming nearer, but the citizens showed a stout heart.
