

FAVOR PENSIONS FOR TEACHERS

Members of State Educational Council Deliberate to Frame Bill for Legislature

STEELE ELECTED AS SECRETARY

Resolution Calls on Teachers' Association to Appropriate $1,000 for Necessary Expenses in Seeking Passage of Law

The State Educational Council met today to discuss one subject—a teachers' pension bill. The matter was debated at length the entire morning, as the subject presents more difficulties in this State than in any other.

The Attorney General's Department holds that a teachers' pension bill will be unconstitutional, but some members of the Council felt that the difficulty might be met in the same manner as the pension for retired judges. The bill providing for the retirement of judges, after a certain age and after a certain amount of judicial service, provides a salary for them, but the judges are to be considered liable at any time to be called back to service and the money given them is looked upon as a salary not as a pension.

Many members of the Council held that a teachers' pension could be arranged along the same lines as the judges' bill. The teachers' pension bill has never as yet been tested in the courts, but many lawyers hold that it is plainly unconstitutional although probably no one may test it in the courts.

The second point debated was the manner of raising the pension money. Some members of the Council advocated raising a certain per cent. as is done in Harrisburg, by a compulsory assessment of the teachers, the State supplying the balance of the money needed. Another plan proposed was that the State itself provide all of the money needed for pensions. The Council finally agreed upon the following resolution which will be presented to the State Board of Education at its meeting in December:

Resolved that the president of the Council be authorized to appoint a committee of five persons to draw a pension bill involving the principles of a retirement fund made up of equal contributions from teachers and State, this committee to include the president of the Council and two other members, an expert on teachers' pensions, and a legal expert; and that the executive committee of the Association be asked to appropriate a sum of money from the treasury not to exceed one thousand dollars for their necessary expenses. And further that this report shall be presented to the State Teachers' Association in December for consideration and discussion.

The Educational Council of the State Teachers' Association favors a law for the retirement of teachers on age or disability. It believes that such a law should provide for a retirement fund to be made up from equal contributions by the teachers and the State.

The election of officers of the Educational Council was held this morning. Dr. George Becht being elected president and Dr. W. S. Steele, of the Harrisburg High school, secretary.

CIVIC CLUB MAKES PLANS

Directors To-day Discuss the Fall Work of the League of Good Citizenship

The Board of Directors of the Civic Club of Harrisburg held an important meeting this morning at the home of Mrs. William Henderson, 25 North Front street. The report of Mrs. H. Lindley Hoford, chairman of the Educational Department, showed that the League of Good Citizenship is now in fourteen school buildings and that only a lack of workers prevents it being placed in more. The subject of the talks in the schools this month is "Our City's House-cleaning." The paper is preparatory to the municipal house-cleaning which will be undertaken in November by Dr. Raunich.

The Civic Club believes that it can aid efficiently by interesting the children in the cleaning of back yards, cellars, etc.

Mrs. Edwin S. Herman reported 542 entered in the home garden contests. Twenty-seven dollars worth of seeds were given to the children and the final visits for awards will be made this afternoon. The names of the prize winners will not be announced until October 19. The department will probably give a large number of small prizes rather than a few large ones.

Miss Pollock, of the Municipal Department, told of the twelve bushels and a half of flies that were killed in this year's swatting contests. The year books will be ready for distribution at the first meeting, October 19. Mrs. Rely and Mrs. Jones will represent the club at the State Federation.

CALL ISSUED FOR MEN TO HELP ERECT TABERNACLE

Hasty Action Taken by Stough Workers When Request Was Made to Remove Banner Is Termed a 'Stupid Piece of Business'

The following call for volunteers in the building of the Stough tabernacle appears in "Stough Campaign Bulletin No. 4," to be distributed to-morrow in the co-operating churches:

"Men Wanted—Wanted, five hundred men to work exclusively for Almighty God for one day of nine hours, next Saturday, October 17, starting at 7 a. m. No wages will be paid, but each worker will be provided with one square (hot) meal in the middle of the day. Experience unnecessary. This is open to able-bodied men, whether church members or not, saved or unsaved."

The "Bulletin" has this to say regarding the misunderstanding which recently arose when the executive committee was requested to remove the Stough banner from Market street:

"Prior to the firemen's convention held in our city last week, the executive committee was requested to remove one of the advertising banners from Market street on the ground that it, and others of a like character, detracted from the effect of the decorations provided by the Chamber of Commerce. This was a perfectly reasonable request and we, of course, complied."

"We regret to say that the above circumstances were, in some unaccountable way, so distorted that it became a matter of considerable talk in town that an injustice had been done our campaign committee, and Mayor Roybal's name was connected with the misstatements in a manner prejudicial to the chief executive of the city."

"There are some things it is better to ignore, and we do not wish to attach over much importance to this stupid piece of business, but we do wish in the most official manner possible to say that any reference to the mayor prejudicial to him or to his high sterling Christian character is as untrue as it is ridiculous."

Mayor Roybal and the Stough campaign both stand on the same platform—for a cleaner and a better Harrisburg."

U. S. CONSUL HAS NARROW ESCAPE

American Official and His Family Flee From Antwerp During the Bombardment

SPEND NIGHT IN BASEMENT

Consul General Says He Had Most Horrible Experience of His Life as Family Crouched All Night and Heard Havoc Caused by Shells

London, Oct. 10 3.40 A. M.—Henry W. Diedrich, American Consul General at Antwerp, who escaped from that city with his family in an automobile, gave the following account of the bombardment to the Ghent correspondent of the "Chronicle":

"For days we heard the sound of heavy gun fire and were told of the fall one after another of our forts. It soon became apparent that nothing could avail against the great German cannon and, in conjunction with other neutrals, we endeavored to mediate with the Germans to spare, at any rate, some of the most valuable buildings of world-wide interest, but the negotiations failed to lead to a successful result."

Consul's Awful Experience

"I had intended to remain in Antwerp throughout the bombardment. I was told, however, too, 'for God's sake clear out of the city, as its destruction is inevitable' but I did not realize until it was almost too late. At 11 o'clock at night we were going to bed, when we were aroused by a frightful noise, reminding us of previous visits of Zeppelins. Soon the German bombardment had commenced, and then I had the most horrible experience of my whole life. I went with my family to the basement and we crouched there all night. Shells falling every few minutes came with a dreadful whistling sound, followed by a thunderclap and the collapse of some building."

Havoc of German Shells

"Opposite the consulate is the home for old people, the front of which was torn out by a shell and the debris scattered over my house. More debris fell on the two-story building adjoining, crumpling it up entirely and setting it on fire. After this another shell blew out the facade of a house lower down on our street. As dawn came we were wearied out and my family was utterly collapsed from fright and strain, so we decided to leave the city. I succeeded in communicating with my chauffeur and got a car, but did not know where to go, being left without anything but what we had on an exposed every moment to exploding shells."

Flight From the City

"With my wife, daughter, two servants and refugee and child, I crossed the pontoon bridge over the Scheldt. It took us four hours to do this, the streets being a seething mass of every kind of vehicle and dense crowds of fugitives. The scene was indescribably dreadful, everybody being moved by the same desire to get away from the awful horror."

"After crossing the Scheldt we heard a report that the bridge was destroyed by a shell, thus bottling up the inhabitants. As we left we saw vast volumes of smoke arising in Antwerp from the burning buildings and blazing petroleum tanks."

Only Four Companies Remain

Thursday night was the last night for the fifteen extra patrolmen and on Friday at noon the detectives from Philadelphia, Baltimore and Pittsburgh went home. In so far as the police department was concerned, it settled down to ordinary routine a day ahead of any other organization made busy by the convention, for last night there was still quite a bit of celebrating.

Glacier National Park is in northern Montana and is bounded on the north by the Canadian line, on the east by the Blackfoot Indian reservation and on the south and west by Flathead river. It has an area of about 915,000 acres, which are scattered throughout its area. There are about eighty glaciers, between five square miles and a few acres in area. The park is a rugged mountainous region and contains over 250 lakes, which are surrounded by steep and beautifully wooded mountains or precipitous rock walls. The methods of transportation in the park are by automobile, horse stage, launches on the lakes and saddle and pack horses.

CITY OF ANTWERP A MASS OF FLAMES

quarter and Peppiniere have suffered badly as also has the quarter around the Museum. The Palace of Justice has been partly destroyed and there is a ring of fire around the cathedral."

Belgium's Last and Strongest Citadel Antwerp, Oct. 10 10.30 A. M.—Antwerp, the last and the strongest citadel of Belgium, has fallen before the rain of huge shells which the Germans began throwing into the city at midnight of last Wednesday. The civilian population of the city has in large part fled, the seat of the Belgian government has been moved to Ostend and the Germans are in occupation.

Because of the chaotic conditions during the past few days in the beleaguered city and the interruption of telegraphic communication there has been much delay in the transmission of news from Antwerp to England. Nevertheless England has been expecting and anticipating the fall of the Belgian position and newspapers are speculating on what strategic use the Germans will make of it now that it is in their hands.

Hopes of Allies Blasted

The battle line in France is now so long—forming as it does a rough curve of 350 miles—from Lorraine to the Belgian frontier—that the battle of the Aisne and the operations before Antwerp had become so closely knit as to be, from the military point of view, inseparable.

The hope of the allies to deliver a crushing blow against the German army in France before the occupation of Antwerp by the enemy, is now of course, a thing of the past. The German right wing under General Von Kluck apparently is still intact and the official communication out in Paris last night recorded no change in the situation merely emphasizing that there was sharp fighting in the region of Roye, nearly 100 miles south of the northern extremity of the fighting line where opposing bodies of cavalry were clashing almost within sight of the North Sea.

EXPOSED FORTS HAVE NO SHOW AGAINST MODERN ARTILLERY

London, Oct. 10, 5.04 A. M.—The "Times" military correspondent, in commenting on the situation at Antwerp, says:

"Permanent forts in an exposed situation stand no chance against modern artillery. If the German force holds Antwerp later and we attack it, the result will be the same."

TERRIBLE DESTRUCTION IN THE BOMBARDMENT OF ARRAS

London, Oct. 10, 4.05 A. M.—The correspondent of the "Daily Mail" in France telegraphs that he learns from refugees that the German bombardment has worked terrible destruction at Arras, a large part of which has been reduced to ashes.

SIX INJURED IN AUTO WRECK

Girl in Party Hurlled Forty Feet to Railroad Tracks

St. Louis, Oct. 10.—Earl Hamilton, pitcher for the St. Louis Americans, and five girls were seriously injured in an automobile accident on the East Louis, Ill., side of the Eads bridge here early to-day. Hamilton suffered a scalp wound, three broken ribs and other internal injuries.

One girl was thrown clear of the bridge riding onto the railroad tracks forty feet below. She fell directly in the way of a approaching train and would have been ground to pieces but for the prompt action of a flagman, who saw her fall. He first signalled the train to stop and then pulled the unconscious girl from the track.

Hamilton was scheduled to play in the city series here to-day. The accident occurred when the automobile was driven by Hamilton, crashed into the heavy wooden partition separating the upper deck of the bridge from the railroad decks.

GYMNASIUM IN RUINS

Disastrous Fire Occurs in Columbia University Building

New York, Oct. 10.—The Columbia University gymnasium building, a two-story brown stone structure 75x175 feet, designed by the late Stanford White and built twelve years ago, was a charred, water-soaked ruin to-day with all but the walls and the electric power plant in the basement destroyed by a fire which gained swift headway this morning.

If heat and water have weakened the walls the loss will be heavy; if they stand strong as ever it is believed that $100,000 will be sufficient to rehabilitate the building.

End Came Quickly

The experiences of local jewelers with prospective bridegrooms have been many and varied. Some wish to buy on the installment plan, some wish to take a half dozen sizes to be sure of a fit and some bring "beautiful verses" to see whether they can be engraved in the ring.

One jeweler in recounting his experiences said a young man came into his store and when asked whether he wished anything engraved inside the ring, became confused and fumbled a bit in his pockets and finally produced a paper on which was scrawled, "The love that never endeth," which the jeweler said was just the proper sentiment.

A month later the young man returned and told the whole history of his marital life in five words, "Can't you cut that out?" pointing to the engraved sentence.—Indianapolis News.

In the mining districts 193 men were in mining classes, of whom 102 passed the State examinations. Mining institutes had 3,500 members. First aid contests were held as usual. The Mining Association at Jerome is in good condition. At the request of the companies, investigations were made not only of mining communities but also of industrial plants. A total of 2,150 foreigners studied English, 729 were prepared for citizenship, 9,776 students were in the educational classes of the associations. There was a gain of 21 per cent. over the previous year.

The report of railroad work showed new buildings in Derry, Tyrone and Dickerson Run and an increase in the work of every department. Corresponding members in every county of the State, numbering 810, have followed 510 young men who changed their residence during the year.

The college secretary, J. H. Ehlers, reported a new association in State Forestry Academy, Mont Alto. Special evangelistic services, with 1,700 conversions, were held in State College, University of Pennsylvania, Lafayette and other colleges. Deputation gospel teams were sent out by a number of colleges and much social service was rendered by college students. The great student conferences were well attended by Pennsylvania men.

The physical work committee reported gains in every department, whether attendance, summer camps, physical examinations or athletic events.

The most remarkable gains were shown by the religious work committee, which reported 387,000 men attended Sunday afternoon meetings, 310,000 attended shop meetings and 181,000 the religious gatherings. There were 14,765 students in Bible classes.

Albert M. Chesley, the State boys' work secretary, reported the successful State boys' camp in Inglenook, where more than 100 boys were in attendance for two weeks with the Rev. S. W. Herman, of this city, as camp leader. Sixteen hundred and fifteen boys were taught to swim during the year and 5,600 were in Bible classes.

The material development of the Young Men's Christian Association was best indicated by the report of the State secretary, J. B. Carruthers, which showed that four new associations were organized during the year, including Stroudsburg and Waynesboro. Building funds amounting to $327,000 were raised at seven places and buildings to a value of $1,095,000 were opened during the year.

Army work was conducted with the National Guard at three different places during the season. Each large tent was equipped with writing material, magazines, papers, ice water and musical instruments and almost every evening a gospel talk was given.

Two deputation bands were sent into the lumber camps of Sullivan and McKean counties to conduct services and gospel meetings among the lumberjacks of the north woods.

CAPITOL HILL

ICE CREAM OUTPUT IS NOW 120,000,000 GALLONS

Food Commissioner Foust Says the Supply of Raw Material for This Popular Delicacy Is Now a Matter of Much Concern

Dairy and Food Commissioner Foust believes in the use of ice cream. His remarks at a conference of ice cream manufacturers this week have been quite widely quoted, and in reply to some direct questions on the subject, Mr. Foust said to-day:

"It is a mark of the material evidence of this age, that what was, not so long ago, a dainty desired to stir the cloyed appetite of a king, is become an almost every day delight of the common man's home, and from Seattle to Key West, San Diego to Eastport, is everywhere welcome, and from Christmas to the glorious Fourth and on again to Christmas."

"It may be that, say givers though they are, ice cream also have their troubles. The supply of raw material is properly a matter for concern. The business has grown from an output of 50,000,000 gallons, not so long ago, to a present figure of 120,000,000 gallons. The population of the country has steadily increased and with this growth has come a corresponding increase in the general uses of milk."
