ARMY AND NAVY AT ODDS
Failure of Football Game May Have Sensational Developments
New York, Oct. 13.—Rear Admiral Hugo Ousterhaus has resigned from the United States Naval Academy Athletic Council, and more sensational developments are to be expected in both branches of the service as a result of the refusal of the Annapolis authorities to play the annual game with West Point, according to trustworthy information obtained in this city yesterday. Admiral Ousterhaus has long been a supporter of Annapolis athletics.

At West Point a meeting of the General Athletic Committee will be held. One of the matters to be discussed will be that of publishing the entire correspondence and reports of the negotiations which have led to the deadlock over the annual football encounter. If West Point decides to take this step there is no doubt that the controversy will receive a liberal airing.

TO DISCUSS STEELTON TAXES
County Seeks More Light on Request For Exonerations For Steel Co.
Before the County Commissioners act finally on the application to exonerate the Pennsylvania Steel Company from paying taxes on 50 or more Steelton houses, which have been razed in a plan to make plant additions and improvements, it is likely a conference will be held between the county heads and J. V. W. Reynolds, superintendent of the steel plant.

The assessed valuation of the properties in question is something like $70,000. Taxes on that amount mean material income to both the county and the borough of Steelton, so that exonerations from payments will mean losses to both districts. The commissioners will, it is believed, further consider the application at their meeting to-morrow.

First Half—Whitted lined out to Oldring. It was a wickedly hit ball but Oldring was in the way. Shawkey threw out Schmidt. Gowdy walked. Barry took Maranville's grounder and tossed to Collins forcing Gowdy. No runs, no hits, no errors.

THIRD INNING
First Half—Shawkey struck out

ONE DIES IN FIRE; MANY TAKE LEAPS

Body of Victim, 77 Years Old, Drops From Second Story to Cellar

BOYS TRY IN VAIN TO RESCUE

Forty-three Persons Jump or Climb Down Pole as Four Steelton Houses Burn—Authorities Suspect Firebug—Coroner Charges Negligence

A spectacular fire in the Mohn street section of Steelton early this morning blotted out the life of a man 77 years old, and destroyed four dwellings, merchandise and household goods to the value of $10,000. Five hogs, 115 chickens and a dog were destroyed by the flames.

How the blaze started is a mystery, but borough officials are of the opinion that it was of incendiary origin. It was reported along Mohn street this morning that several strange men were seen in the rear of the houses shortly before the flames were discovered.

Four dwellings, 384, 386, 390 and 392 Mohn street, including two stores, were completely gutted, the forty-three occupants fleeing in their night clothes, all escaping without accident excepting Henry Arnt, an old man, who was burned to a crisp.

The escape from the doomed dwellings by the sleepers, who were awakened from their slumbers by a number of foreigners shooting guns and revolvers to spread the alarm, was spectacular. By the time they were thoroughly aroused it was impossible to leave the house by descending the steps, so the tenants worked their way to the front of the building and climbed out on the porch roofs, from which most of them jumped about twelve feet to the sidewalk, while a few slid down a pole which had been secured and rested against the porch roof.

Boys Fall in Attempt to Rescue
Vigorous efforts were made by Stephen Unger 15 years old, grandson of Henry Arnt, and a boy companion, Joseph Schram, 16 years, to save the life of Arnt. These two boys slept in the same room with the grandfather. Unger was the first of the trio to get awake. He called Schram and the two jumped out of bed and tried to dress.

Cash Prizes for Best Letters

"We will pay you to read these advertisements."
This is the sub-headline on a page of advertisements, the first of which will appear in to-morrow's Star-Independent. It means that the reader of this paper will be paid in cash for reading the advertisements of the merchants appearing on the page, to be known as "The Great Bargain and Educational Page."

The plan by which readers will be rewarded for reading the advertisements was evolved for the particular purpose of enabling a large number of merchants to place their names and their reliable merchandise before the public at a minimum expense. Many of them could not of themselves afford to purchase sufficient space to properly advertise their goods. But by means of the "Bargain and Educational Page" they can tell the great buying public of Harrisburg what they have to offer.

A special committee, headed by a Bargain Editor, will award the various letters and will award the prizes according to the reasons advanced. The question of handwriting and of grammatical construction of the letters will not be considered. Any persons is eligible to compete. No letter, however, may be more than 150 words in length.

The advertisement on the page will be found to contain some of the choicest bargains ever offered to the people of Harrisburg and vicinity and in themselves will be well worth taking advantage of. But with special cash prizes offered it will more than pay every person to read the ads on the great "Bargain and Educational Page," which appears to-morrow for the first time.

GHOSTLY ALARM FIENDS CALL OUT THE FIREMEN

Engines Twice Race to Phantom Blaze Heralded by Alarm From Box No. 36 and Find Nothing but Thin Air and Small Boys

Fire alarm box No. 36, Second and Dauphin streets, is haunted. Twice in thirty-four hours—in daylight or early evening it matters not—a ghostly hand has smashed the glass from in the front of the box, opened the door and pulled the hook, sending in the alarm necessary to call the district firemen. Nobody has seen this ghostly visitor, who has a liking for dashing fire engines, yet the results have been material.

At 11 o'clock Sunday morning and at 8:20 o'clock last evening firemen have responded to the ghostly calls from that fire alarm box. Twice the firemen have seen nothing but small boys and, of course, they saw nobody "pull" the box.

Police men have redoubled their efforts to land the false alarm fiend and despite the fact that a standing reward of $100 has been offered for others outside of policemen who are responsible for an arrest for such a crime the offenders at this particular box go unpunished.

Allice Hecker, arrested early Sunday morning for sending in a false alarm from Tenth and State street, was fined $50 by Mayor Royal in police court yesterday afternoon with the alternative of spending thirty days in jail. In default of the payment of the fine she was remanded to jail.
