My catarrh was filthy and loathsome. It made me ill, it dulled my mind, it undermined my health and was weakening my will. The hawking, coughing, spitting made me obnoxious to all, and my foul breath and disgusting habits made even my loved ones avoid me secretly. My delight in life was killed and my faculties impaired. I knew that in time it would bring me to an untimely grave, because every moment of the day and night it was slowly yet surely sapping my vitality. But I found a cure, and I am ready to tell you about it. FREE. Write me promptly.

CRANE THROUGH A TRESTLE

Three Men Injured in Accident on Trestle at Wilkes-Barre

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 15.—Three men were injured, two of them seriously, as a result of damage to the amount of several thousand dollars was done yesterday when a 20-ton steel crane crashed through a trestle on the Wilkes-Barre Connecting Railway. The injured are: Charles J. Vickel, engineer, lacerations of the head, body and face, and burns from steam, condition serious; Harry G. Clark, fireman, injured internally and may die; Alva Swingle, laborer, broken arm and lacerations of face and body.

The crane was being used to lift steel into position on a trestle being built across the Susquehanna river.

Stripped by Highwayman

Pottsville, Pa., Oct. 15.—While on his way from his home in St. Clair to Mt. Hope, late yesterday afternoon, he intended visiting relatives, Arden Seeley, 29 years old, was accosted by two highwaymen. He was pulled into the bushes and stripped of every piece of clothing. The men even took his eyeglasses. Young Seeley collapsed from the exposure.

Altoona Gets U. S. Expert

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 15.—Bertram McCullion, assistant physician in the National Bureau of Standards at Washington, arrived here yesterday to take charge of an electrical survey of the city. Electrolysis will be given particular attention because it has caused considerable damage to the municipal water mains, and has affected the fire alarm system.

Makes Face Young—Tightens Love Ties

A fretful expression, a wrinkled face and a faded complexion, do more to drive the male members from home than is commonly supposed. It was one of my greatest difficulties to appear smiling, fresh and elegant when my dear ones were with me. But I have overcome all that. I have changed my mental attitude and I now find it second nature to look cheerful. Due partly to this partly to a remarkable treatment recommended by a friend my appearance has so improved I look fifteen years younger than before.

DESTROY EGG OF TUSSOCK MOTH AFTER LEAVES FALL

Caterpillar With Distinctive Long Black Tufts of Hair Damages Shade Trees in City of Washington But May Be Controlled

Washington, D. C., Oct. 15.—The caterpillar of the tussock moth, which is noticeable because of three long black tufts of hair protruding from its yellow body has done considerable damage to many shade trees in the city of Washington during the summer and fall. This insect, which extends through the eastern United States, as far west as Iowa, seems to prefer poplars, maples, elms, alders, birches and willows. Besides injuring trees, its barbed hairs occasionally produce considerable irritation on the skin of people upon whom the caterpillars drop. To control the ravages of this pest the coming season, the conspicuous white-egg masses laid by the moth, should be destroyed after the leaves have fallen, when they may be very easily noticed.

The United States department of agriculture's entomologist considers the above method preferable to that of banding the trees after the egg masses have already been laid. During the past season a number of trees in the city of Washington have been banded to prevent the moths from climbing up their trunks when there were already egg masses above the bands which hatched out caterpillars. These caterpillars were prevented from coming out of the trees as much as others were prevented from coming into them. Of course, if the owner of a tree is sure that it absolutely free from egg masses (which are always conspicuous and usually are found low down on the trunk) he may use a band to advantage to keep out intruders. For this purpose insect lime, of which there are several brands on the market, is the best substance to use. A ring made around the tree will give service for several weeks in warm weather without being renewed.

Crocote Oil For Egg Masses

As soon as the leaves have fallen, egg masses should be scraped from the trees and then destroyed by burning. The work must be absolutely thorough, and not an egg mass overlooked. A better way, however, is to use applications of crocote oil on the eggs. This is similar to the liquid that is used against the gypsy moth in Massachusetts. About 50 per cent. of turpentine is added to it to keep it liquid in cold weather. The workman is furnished with a pole, to the end of which a small sponge is tied. He goes from tree to tree, dipping the sponge occasionally into the crocote preparation and touching with it each egg mass found. This is a simple and very rapid method. As with the other method, the work must be absolutely thorough.

There are two and probably three annual generations of the tussock moth in the city of Washington. In New York City and Boston there are two generations. A second generation will be more destructive than the first. The comparative harmlessness of this species as it goes farther north is probably due to the nondevelopment of the second generation.

In 1895, when the city of Washington was visited by an unusual number of these insects, one of the later generations of caterpillars, which hatched about August 2, commenced to spin about September 3. During the latter part of September most of the moths made their appearance and the conspicuous white-egg masses were very abundant on the trees by the first of October. Caterpillars hatching after the first of October are unlikely to develop into moths.

The year after the pest in 1895 there were very few tussock caterpillars in the city of Washington. The pest was not nearly so abundant this year as in 1895, and there is no reason to believe that there will be any fewer next year than there have been this year unless there is a general campaign against the egg masses after the leaves have fallen.

TO AVOID CATARRH OR BREAK UP A COLD

Use Hyomei a Simple Remedy That Instantly Relieves

At the first symptom of catarrh such as snuffles, fits of sneezing, raising of mucus, itching of the nose, or that choked-up feeling, surely take immediate steps to conquer the disease. Catarrh is not only distressing, unpleasant and annoying, but a serious ailment. One of the easiest and simplest remedies to check catarrh and break up a cold is Hyomei. Just put a few drops of this antiseptic and healing liquid into the small inhaler that comes with every complete outfit, and breathe it. This medicated air immediately soothes the inflamed tissues and effectively drives out the poison. Just a few minutes use of this most helpful remedy opens the stuffed air passages, clears the head and throat of the unclean discharges—you breathe freely and immediately feel better.

Hyomei is so certain to relieve and give lasting benefit that H. C. Kennedy sells it on the "No-cure-no-pay" plan.
