No--All Coal Is Not Alike

We should say not.

The average person thinks that because coal all looks very much alike that it is alike.

All coal is black and that is about as far as the similarity of the different grades of coal go.

Our pure Lykens Valley Coal is very free burning. It is what people call soft. Where the draft is not strong Lykens Valley Coal is the kind to use. It burns up quickly and gives an intense heat—just the kind for baking.

Our Wilkes-Barre or Lehigh Coal is what you want for your furnace where you need a hard coal because of the strong draft. Then there are many other kinds.

Tell us your conditions and we can satisfy you.

DEADLY BODY BY A HAND GRENADE

Dropped From an Aeroplane, Causes Heavy Destruction Among Soldiers in Field

SMALL CONVOY IS SHATTERED

Only the Boots of the Drivers of Fourteen Motor Cars Are Found When Search Is Made for Remains of the Ill-Fated Party

London, Oct. 16, 11 A. M.—There has been given out in London a descriptive account of some recent developments in France sent by an eyewitness attached to the British General headquarters. The account is dated October 13 in France and is in part as follows:

"On the firing line the men sleep and obtain shelter in dugouts they have hollowed or cut under the dices of the trenches. These refugees are raised slightly above the bottom of the trenches so as to remain dry in wet weather. The floor of the trench also is eloped for purposes of drainage. Some of the trenches are provided with overhead cover which gives protection from the weather as well as from shrapnel balls and splinters of shells. Considerable ingenuity has been exercised by the men in naming these shelters. Among the favorite designations are the 'Hotel Cecil,' the 'Ritz Hotel,' the 'Billet Doux Hotel' and the 'Rue Dormoi.'

"In the barrack areas it is to be found boards bearing this notice: 'This way to the Prussians.'

"Obstacles of every kind abound, and at night each side can hear the enemy driving pickets for entanglements, digging trou-de-loup, or working forward by sapping. In some place obstacles have been constructed by both sides so close together that each side prove working parties to perform this fatiguing duty alternately, inasmuch as the work of the enemy is now almost indistinguishable from ours and serves the same purpose.

"Quarries and caves to which allusion already has been made, provide ample accommodation for whole battalions, and most comfortable shelters which have been constructed in them. Northern slopes of Aisne valley fortunately are very steep and this to a great extent protects us from the enemy's shells, many of which pass harmless over our heads to burst in the meadows along the river bank.

"Access to the firing line is provided by communication trenches. These are now so good that it is possible to cross in safety a fire swept zone to the advance trenches from billets in villages, bivouacs in quarries or other places where the headquarters of units happens to be.

"It already has been mentioned that according to information obtained from the enemy fifteen Germans were killed by a bomb dropped upon the ammunition wagon of a cavalry column. It was thought at the time that this might have been the work of one of our airmen, who reported that he had dropped a hand grenade on this convoy and had then got a bird's-eye view of the finest display of fireworks he had ever seen.

Deadly Work of a Grenade

"From corroborative evidence it now appears that this was the case; that a grenade thrown by him probably was the cause of the destruction of a small convoy carrying field guns and howitzer ammunition which now has been found a total wreck. Along the road lie fourteen motor lorries, their iron skeletons twisted and broken. Everything inflammable has been burned as have the stripped trees some with split trunks, on either side of the side. Of the drivers nothing remains except tattered boots and charred scraps of clothing, while the ground within a radius of fifty yards of the wagons is littered with pieces of iron, split brass cartridge shells, which have exploded and some fixed gun ammunition with live shells.

Thrown From Aeroplane

"If it were possible to reconstruct this incident, if it was in fact brought about as supposed, the grenade from the aeroplane must have detonated on the leading lorry, on one side of the road and caused the cartridges carried by it to explode. Three vehicles immediately in the rear must then have been set on fire with a similar result. Being these are groups of four and two vehicles so jammed together as to suggest that they must have collided in desperate attempts to stop. On the other side of the road, almost level with its threading wagon, are four more vehicles which probably were fired by the explosion of the first.

"If this appalling destruction was due to one hand grenade it is an illustration of the potentialities of a small amount of high explosives detonated in the right spot, while the nature of the place where the disaster occurred, a narrow forest road between high trees, is a testimony to the skill of the airmen. It is only fair to add that some French newspapers claim that damage to the enemy was caused by the action of a detachment of their dragons."

ANOTHER BRITISH CRUISER SUNK IN NORTH SEA

for its possession. It is reported that British warships will take part in the defense of the town.

The French embassy at Washington has received advices saying that the allies have captured Hamecamp, a town about ten miles north of Albert. There is no other news regarding the fighting on the northern end of the battle line in France. Both armies, however, are known to have been reinforced and to be contending every foot of ground where they come in contact.

The Paris statement says that Russian troops have repulsed German attacks on Warsaw and Ivangorod in Russian Poland and that a battle is being fought south of Przemysl.

Petrograd claims that the German movement on Warsaw has been stopped, the Germans being driven back several miles. Przemysl, it is asserted, is on the verge of capitulating.

Vienna, on the contrary, announces that commander of the fortress at Przemysl brusquely refused the request to surrender on October 12 and since that date the Russian besiegers have been defeated and the city relieved.

Tokio announces that Japanese and British warships bombarded two forts at Tsing Tau October 14.

Prince William of Wied, who recently abdicated the throne of Albania, is reported in a dispatch from Rome to have joined the German army and proceeded to French frontier.

The Canadian troops which recently arrived in England were assembling to-day on Salisbury Plains.

Fresh meat will be admitted to France free of duties until further notice.
