

BRITISH WARSHIPS BOMBARD GERMAN TROOPS

ject since yesterday. Lacking a German report as to the progress of the prolonged engagements in this territory, the situation is being reported only from the side of the allies.

British warships have played an important part in these operations and there are indications that their activities are not yet at an end.

No confirmation of the reported evacuation of Ostend has been received. German garrison at Antwerp is said to have been reduced and a German column of reinforcements with two of the famous 16-inch guns is reported as having passed through Antwerp on its way to Burges.

Outside of Belgium the fields of battle are numerous, Picardy, Champagne, the Argonne, the Woivre, Lorraine, the Voages and Alsace being referred to as localities where fighting is taking place.

A house sheltering the headquarters of the German staff at Slype, on the Belgian coast, has been destroyed by shell fire from British warships, according to a news dispatch received in London from Dunkirk.

In the eastern arena of the war both claim progress, but not in the same localities. Paris says officially that the Russian troops have saved Warsaw from a German bombardment.

The latest German casualty list gives the names of about 11,500 men killed, wounded and missing.

A news dispatch from Warsaw says numerous parties of German prisoners, one of which included a German general, are constantly being brought into that city.

The German government has summoned the Reichstag to convene early in December to discuss the war situation, and according to advices from Berlin the Prussian Diet is in session to-day and will authorize a loan of $375,000,000.

The Krupp works are said to be reconstructing for the use of the German army some 500 pieces of artillery captured by the Germans from their enemies.

The native chief of Kaernrum, the German colony in Equatorial Africa, has been executed because he attempted to lead the natives in a rebellious movement against the German authorities.

A news dispatch from Oporto, Portugal, says telegraphic communication with Lisbon has been interrupted. A revolutionary outbreak occurred in Portugal yesterday, but was promptly put down, according to official announcement of the Portuguese authorities.

A dispatch from Tokio says Japanese squadron is seeking German warships in the neighborhood of Hawaii, and that the German governor of Jaluit Island has reached Tokio on his way back to Germany.

U. S. DEMANDS RELEASE OF SHIP

pedio boats. Quantities shipped to Copenhagen raised suspicions that the oil might find its way to the German naval and aerial base at the Kiel canal.

The view point of the United States is that this would be a matter for England and Denmark to adjust, especially since an embargo on the exportation of petroleum has been declared by Denmark, according to the understanding of State Department officials.

Various Seizures of Oil Ships. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador conferred with Mr. Lansing concerning the various seizures of the oil ships. Mr. Lansing said later the American consul at Halifax had experienced some difficulty in interviewing the captain of the Brindilla to obtain facts of her seizure but that the British ambassador had promptly adjusted the incident.

No complete report had been received to-day at either the British embassy or the State Department of the circumstances under which a third tank steamer of the Standard Oil Company—the Platania, was seized but it is believed another protest will be made as the facts in her case are reported to be similar to that of the John D. Rockefeller.

Charges Transfer Not Bonafide. Halifax, N. S., Oct. 22.—Service was expected to a writ which has been issued in the Admiralty Court against the steamer Brindilla, owned by the Standard Oil Company, of New Jersey, which was seized by the British auxiliary cruiser Geronia and brought here, a few days ago.

The John D. Rockefeller Released. Washington, Oct. 22.—Sir Cecil Spring Rice, the British Ambassador, was informed to-day by the London Foreign Office that the American tank steamer John D. Rockefeller, seized by British cruisers, had been released.

The Ambassador received no word concerning the other American ships, the Brindilla and Platania. His advices were communicated at once to the White House and that was taken in official circles as an indication of the personal interest President Wilson has taken in the cases. The Rockefeller, like the Brindilla and the other two ships, carried illuminating oil which Great Britain is understood to have declared contraband. She was seized and taken to islands off the coast of Scotland.

The Ambassador's advices were that the Rockefeller's cargo was consigned merely "to order" at Copenhagen and that the British cruisers which took her had difficulty in establishing its destination.

By Associated Press.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 22.—Five men wanted for the robbery of a hotel in Terre Haute, Ind., of $1,435 in cash and two watches, were arrested here early to-day after making the trip from Terre Haute in a high power automobile.

The robbers, who wore masks, according to a dispatch from Terre Haute, entered the hotel shortly after 3:30 o'clock this morning. They bound Ed Broadhurst and H. B. Lackey, proprietors, and four patrons of the hotel pool room, then, after obtaining the money, $400 of which was in silver, escaped in an automobile.

The Terre Haute police traced the men to Brazil, Ind., and then notified the Indianapolis police. Prince Maximilian of Hesse was born in October, 1824, the son of Prince Frederick Charles of Hesse, who married Princess Marguerite, the youngest sister of Emperor William of Germany.

'SPIRITS' AND 'FORCE BAGS' FIGURE IN $12,000 FIGHT

similar amounts shall be given the following, all relatives: Susanah, Martha and Maria Albright and Rachel Cromleigh, Martha Swartz and Tessie Buffington.

Contents of a "Force Bag" To Seiferd is given "all the rest and residue of the estate"—this residue being estimated at between $7,000 and $8,000—"whatever the amount shall be."

The "force bags," which Hatz claims Seiferd sold, are in various sizes. One is about as large as a pocket match case, another is about half as large and a third, a black one, is about an inch square.

Two were sealed and the attorney said he does not know the contents. From the other he withdrew a paper which, he said, was represented to the purchaser as containing a Latin inscription. To persons who examined the paper it looked more like the scribbling of a child.

A fourth bag, which the attorney said was a "force bag," intended to drive away roaches, contained a small strand of hair and a toe-nail. From the diary, alleged to have been kept by the late J. M. Rummier, a former Harrisburg, the attorney declared he will show everything about the alleged clairvoyant's business.

'Force Bag' Failed to Slay Judge

The book dates back to 1896 and covers records of payments alleged to have been made to Seiferd for a period of six or seven years, some payments being as frequent as six or seven times a month. The amounts are alleged to have ranged from ten cents to $700. Hatz declared he will put Mrs. Rummier, the widow, on the witness stand and prove that Seiferd, by his "force bag" sales, obtained nearly all of the Rummier $10,000 estate.

On one occasion, the attorney declared, Rummier desired to open a hotel in Harrisburg and was in fear that the Dauphin county court would not grant the necessary liquor license.

"We will show," said Hatz, "that Rummier conferred with Seiferd and from him purchased what was represented as a 'force bag' with which to compel the judges to grant the license."

Judge George Kunkel was on the bench at the time and the bag was used, but there is no county record that would show that a liquor license had ever been granted to Rummier.

For that "force bag," which did not bring about the desired result, the attorney said, Rummier paid $700. Paid "Royalty" on Bags On another occasion Rummier was said to have complained to Seiferd about being troubled at his home with roaches. He wanted to rid the house of the insects and he accordingly purchased a "roach force bag."

The attorney alleges that Rummier was directed to obtain a piece of steel about the size of a dollar. He was to have certain figures inscribed on the metal and fasten it to the floor, after which the "bugs" would bother him no more.

"We will also show," said the attorney, "that Rummier consulted Seiferd when he sought to dispose of a Philadelphia property. Rummier paid $100 for a 'force bag,' the bag being intended to bring on the desired purchase and afterward $11 was paid for expenses incident to Seiferd's going to Philadelphia to tack the 'For Sale' card on the house."

On most of the pages of the diary, the attorney said, are notations showing that Rummier paid a royalty of from $1 to $5 for the use of certain "force bags."

A $5 force bag was purchased by Rummier some years ago, it is alleged, this to be used in "binding the Harrisburg councilmen" and to "compel them to extend a sewer which Rummier's city property would be benefited."

Among other "powers" which Rummier is said to have "purchased," was one to prevent storms from doing damage to his property.

Mrs. Rummier resides in this city and has been compelled to seek employment outside of her home to make a livelihood. Lives in Brick House Seiferd's home is a three-story brick dwelling situated on the east side of Cameron street, and is surrounded by commissioned veranda. In his home is small sign containing the words "Dr. Seiferd," and residents in that neighborhood say he is known and recognized by that title. He is a middle-aged man and weighs more than two hundred pounds.

STEEL DEALINGS QUITE ORDINARY

Philadelphia, Oct. 22.—Resuming his argument for the defense to-day in the Federal suit to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation on the ground that it violates the anti-trust law, Richard V. Lindsbury, in the United States District Court, continued to describe the conduct of the corporation after its organization. At the outset he denied that the earnings of the corporation were excessive, but declared that, on the contrary, they were quite ordinary.

To show that the corporation has always played fair, counsel told the court that the records in the case show a single instance of rebates asked or received by the concern or by any of its subsidiaries. In 1905, he said, the finance committee, fearing that some of its subsidiaries might resort to rebates, sent a letter to the presidents of most of the railroads with which the corporation did a transportation business, warning them against the giving of rebates to any representative of the corporation. No competitor anywhere, he added, has charged the corporation with unfair methods or with underselling in particular localities.

HONORABLE BUSINESS METHODS

The corporation has not attempted to coerce consumers or dealers into trading with it exclusively, he asserted, nor has it otherwise restricted their freedom of action. "If there ever was a record of clean doing and honorable business methods, we have it here," said counsel.

Speaking of the corporation's treatment of its employees, Mr. Lindsbury said a monopoly is selfish and soulless and that in the pursuit of gain it no more regards the rights of its wage-earners than it does the rights of its competitors or the public. But the steel corporation was not a monopoly, and treated its employees with the greatest consideration. He gave figures to show that since the formation of the corporation the wages of its employees have been increased an average of 28 1/2 per cent; that in 1912 its employees numbered 221,025; that its total yearly payroll then amounted to $189,351,662, and that the average yearly wage of its men was $856.70. In February, 1913, the average yearly wage increased to about $920. The corporation in its treatment of employees, Mr. Lindsbury declared, leads the world. Its method of compensation for injured employes antedates the statutes of any State on that subject and is now a model for all of them.

Trend of Prices Downward

Mr. Lindsbury then discussed the price of steel products, declaring that the trend of prices since the corporation was formed has been downward. In answering another point in the government charge that the steel corporation monopolized trade, counsel asserted that the big concern had not increased its percentage of output of steel products since 1901, but that it has suffered a material decrease in substantially all lines. Mr. Lindsbury made it plain that the decrease in the percentage of business had not brought about a reduction of the concern's output. The output has increased, he said, but there has been a much greater increase in the output of its competitors.

Counsel went over the history of the purchase of various companies after the corporation was formed, and denied that the acquisition of the Steel Tube Company and of the United States Steel Corporation showed monopolistic interest, or that they were purchased at excessive prices.

Interrogation As to Frick Henry C. Frick was a director in both the Union Steel and the United States Steel Corporation. Judge Hunt wanted to know whether Mr. Frick as a Union Steel director voted to sell and as a United States director voted to purchase the Union Steel Company, Mr. Lindsbury said he did not know, but he felt sure that Mr. Frick did not vote as a steel director.

Mr. Lindsbury took up the much discussed purchase of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company in 1907. It is the only property the steel corporation has ever purchased that the government alleges that the Tennessee Company had become a competitor of the steel corporation "of great potentiality" that the corporation took advantage of the panic of 1907 to acquire the property and that certain directors of the steel corporation deceived President Roosevelt and induced him not to interfere with the purchase of the Tennessee company.

Corporation Denies Allegations

These allegations are denied by the corporation. Mr. Lindsbury in great detail went over the oft-told story of the threatened failure of Moore and Schley, the New York bankers, who had a large amount of Tennessee stock, of the steel corporation's willingness to buy the Tennessee company after had repeatedly refused to purchase the stock and offered to loan the firm $5,000,000 and of the visit of H. C. Frick and E. H. Gary, steel directors to President Roosevelt.

Mr. Lindsbury said that the steel corporation did not want the Tennessee company because it had never been a success, but consented to buy the property in order to prevent the failure of Moore and Schley and the spread of the panic. Counsel said that President Roosevelt told Messrs. Gary and Frick that he (the President) did not think it his duty to interfere with the purchase of the Tennessee stock.

STATE TEACHERS TO HEAR DR. BRUMBAUGH SPEAK

Republican Candidate for Governor on Program of Pennsylvania Educational Association Which Meets Here in December

The sixty-fifth annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association will meet in Harrisburg December 29, 30 and 31, and already the officers of the association are enlisting the aid of the many superintendents throughout the State in having teachers enroll as members for the session, which promise this year to be unusually interesting because of the session of the State Legislature which follows close upon its close.

All of the meetings will be held in the Technical High school building. As it is during the Christmas holidays, the meetings will not interfere with the school. The general plan of the program will deal largely with standards in education. School superintendents over the State are made chairman of local enrollment committees. The fee for membership is one dollar.

In connection with the sessions of the general body, departmental sessions will be held. A separate room will be given over to departments in the Tech building, so that easy progress can be made from one meeting to another. Among the speakers will be Dr. Martin C. Brumbaugh, Republican candidate for Governor; Dr. E. Sparks, president of State College; Dr. Nathan C. Schaefer, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and others of note.

TO UNIFORM HEALTH POLICE 'Kaiser' Hats and Brass Buttons for Two City Sanitary Officers by November 1

After November 1 the officers of the Board of Health who tack quarantine cards on houses and afterwards maintain the quarantine will be uniformed, according to plans formulated by the City Board of Health at its meeting last night.

Uniforms were selected after lengthy argument and then a dark blue material, of which the uniforms will be made, was picked. Coats will be single breasted and have a taradown collar with short lapels, a row of brass buttons being the only ornament. Caps will be of the well-known "Kaiser" type in blue with the words "Health Bureau" in gold letters on the front.

The two sanitary officers of the department will wear the uniforms when on duty, other attaches of the department will wear just the cap, when it happens that they are on similar duty for the department, according to last night's action of the board. Badges will be exposed when the officers will be on duty. It is expected that uniforms will arrive in the city by November 1. A Philadelphia company has agreed to furnish the uniforms by that time.

In times past it has been difficult for the sanitary officers to display proper authority except by badge when on duty, but it is believed that the uniforms will carry that authority without question.

READY FOR FLAG DAY

Children to Work in Interest of Nursery Home on Saturday

Nobody will escape the little boys and girls who will be out bright and early Saturday to "flag" people for the benefit of the Nursery Home. The children will pin a flag on your coat and hold a box out ready to receive a contribution. It then is up to you to put as much as you can into the box for the children while they are working for individual prizes.

The Nursery Home, Third street and Reel's lane, is an institution conducted in a very quiet way, but doing a great deal of good. It cares for forty children, only seven over 6 years of age, and it requires a great deal of care and work to do them justice. The home is wide open to visitors, for the reason that the managers are proud of the work done and are desirous that the general public, which has been so generous, shall see what is being done for the tiny tots.

CLEANUP WEEK, NOVEMBER 9 Mayor Royal Asked to Issue Official Proclamation

An official communication was addressed to Mayor Royal this morning requesting him to make a proclamation to this effect.

TABERNACLE USED AS A DINING HALL

Women Serve Lunch at Noon to Throng of Men and Technical High School Boys

One Large Mass Meeting of Both Men and Women Planned for Sunday Afternoon—Services Will Be Held on Square Saturday Night

The Stough tabernacle, the sides and roof of which are now rapidly nearing completion, served its first practical purpose at noon to-day when it was used as a dining hall by the throng of men and Technical High school boys who worked on the building during the morning. Sandwiches and coffee were provided by the Women's Work committee. The volunteer workmen stood at long tables to dispose of their lunch. The regularly employed carpenters threw themselves down on the ground with their dinner pails and took no part in the free feed.

The work of the day included principally the covering of the roof with fire and water proof rubberoid, 65,000 square feet of which were used. This work had to be done with great care, to make the building safe in wet weather. The men and boys worked under the direction of Samuel Garland, of the tabernacle committee, who is an experienced roofer.

Tech Students in Evidence The Technical High school students, who had been invited to help work on the building during the day, turned out in large numbers. Early in the morning the roof was crowded, more than convenient for rapid work, and the number of workers was decreased. The boys followed the instructions of Mr. Garland and proved to be swifter workers than the men. They unstrapped the rolls of rubberoid, spread it in the proper places, and tacked it down. Some of them swept the roof before the laying of the covering, and others carried water for the use of the toilers.

During the morning the "Baseball to-day" megaphone shouter, who has announced games in this city for several years, proclaimed the need of more volunteers through the streets. There were more workers to-day than there have been since last Saturday. It is expected that there will be a big crowd of workers again this Saturday.

Newspaper Advertising a Feature Newspaper advertising of the Stough campaign has been started to-day by R. F. Webster, chairman of the publicity committee. Advertisements will appear in the three Harrisburg newspapers on alternate days, including some very striking ones. On Saturday ten reasons will be published why persons are not Christians.

This evening at 8 o'clock in Ridge Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Miss Colt will address a class of personal workers on "Some Do's and Don'ts." These classes of instruction are proving very popular. Miss Colt will be glad to see new members join the classes, which are open to all, both men and women. A special invitation is given to Sunday school teachers and workers.

The young men's work committee, Benjamin Whitman, chairman, meets at headquarters at 8 o'clock to complete plans for the decoration of the tabernacle next week in conjunction with the young women's work committee.

Big Sunday Mass Meeting One big mass meeting of men and women to be addressed by W. W. Shannon and Miss Colt is contemplated for next Sunday afternoon in Grace Methodist church at 3 o'clock.

A big street meeting will be held at Market Square Saturday evening at 8 o'clock under the direction of the personal service committee. A eight-piece orchestra will be present to lead the singing.

Shop meetings were held to-day at 11:30 a. m. at the roundhouse, Enola, addressed by W. W. Shannon and at 12:20 a. m. at the New Idea Hosiery company's factory, South Fourteenth street, addressed by Miss Colt and local workers.

The shop meetings' committee met last evening and made plans for increasing the number of shop meetings after next week, when the Stough party specialist in this line of work, H. K. W. Patterson, arrives on the ground.

Religious Census of City The census committee met in the assembly room of the Fourth Street Church of God at 8 o'clock last night and outlined the plans for the taking of the religious census of the city next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 3:30 o'clock. The co-operating churches, in response to an appeal for volunteer workers, sent in lists of names. The names were distributed to the various ward and precinct captains. Every precinct in the city has been blocked and it is the purpose of the committee to place one person on every block. The precinct captains have, in some instances, made elaborate maps of their respective precincts. A meeting for the purpose of instructing the volunteer workers as to the details of the work will be held in Grace church, State street near Third, to-night at 8 o'clock.

Funeral of Mrs. Ella Clay The funeral services for Mrs. Ella Clay, who
