SCIENCE HITS THE COFFEE DRINKERS

Familiar Table Beverage Unmasked and Its Evil Effect on the Human Body Shown

An astonishing list of ills due to coffee drinking is outlined by Dr. Otto Jettner, of the Cincinnati Police, in a communication to the New York "Medical Times." "The symptoms produced by excessive indulgence in coffee can be observed in the arrested physical and mental development of children, their pallor, emaciation and nervousness; in the morbidly excited condition of women who are addicted to the coffee per just as the toper is to the whiskey bottle, and no less a helpless and pitiable victim than he; in professional men and students who whip up their mental faculties by coffee; in the aged, whose tremor and itch are not infrequently due to excessive indulgence in coffee.

"Coffee poisoning in its chronic form may be the cause of tremor, of ringing in the ears, of acid eructations, of severe cold, of headaches, creeping, pricking sensations in the skin, sensations of heat and cold, hysterical attacks, troubles of vision, dizziness, insomnia, all kinds of digestive disturbances. Coffee depresses the kidney functions, and skin symptoms are probably due to irritation from retained waste.

"Patients who cannot get along without tea or coffee, but feel uncomfortable and even sick when deprived of these stimulants, are, to all intents and purposes, drug fiends, and should be classified with habitues of tobacco, alcohol, opium and other toxic agents."

NOTE.—It is interesting to observe that as medical science more and more reveals the harmfulness of coffee to the health of both young and old there follows a tremendous increase in the use of the pure food beverage, POSTUM.

LIGHTING THE BIG CANAL

There Will Be No Difficulty in Locating the Panama Channel

The lighting of the Panama canal will be an interesting feature of the great enterprise. The canal will be lighted throughout by automatic unattended lights each having a distinct characteristic. At the entrances and through Gatun take a double row of about sixty automatic acetylene-lighted buoys will mark the channel. The channel will be defined further by powerful rapid-dashing range lights, one set at either end of each successive tangent, thus permitting vessels going in either direction to take their range off the bow.

The center lines of each range are set far enough apart to enable the largest vessels to pass each other in comfort. Through Culebra cut, or whatever the proximity of the banks permits, beacons will be used instead of buoys. The sides of the canal channel will be marked by gas buoys about every mile, with intermediate spar buoys. Each gas buoy will consist of a cylindrical, floating, steel body, surmounted by a steel frame, which supports a light and lens at a height of fifteen feet above water level.—Christian Science Monitor.

ORPHEUM. Every afternoon and evening, high class vaudeville.

COLONIAL. Daily continuous vaudeville and pictures.

Minstrel History. It was in 1857 that minstrelsy became a popular form of amusement. Then the first part consisted of two end men, four singers, interlocutor and an orchestra composed of a violin, trombone, clarinet, bass fiddle, guitar, banjo and one of the six, and the old jawbone of an ox, and the old consisted of negro acts. The present generation of minstrelsgoers do not remember them by names, but have seen them, nevertheless, in various forms as the funniest part in many of Hoyt's farces, and the present day musical comedies are easily recognized by old minstrel men as adaptations and revivals from those old negro acts. Until 1881 there were no white faces in the minstrel show, but that year John W. Vogel introduced white faces in the first part of a minstrel show of which he was the manager, and only a few years before that some manager introduced vaudeville acts in the olio. Mr. Vogel's idea of modern minstrelsy is to carry out as near as possible the original. Adv.

"The Round-Up." Every boy who has thrilled at the thought of the redskins he would kill if he only had the chance, every man who has ever been a boy, every woman with a drop of red blood in her veins, will revel in enjoyment of "The Round-Up," which will be the attraction at the Majestic Monday and Tuesday and Tuesday matinee at the Majestic, and to those to whom the sensational and romantic are nothing "The Round-Up" will appeal as a truly remarkable dramatic effort in its faithful portrayal of early life in the Far West and as a marvelous theatrical production in the daring originality, massiveness and beauty of its stage effects. The locale is southwestern Arizona during the period when General Crook was chasing Comanche and his braves into the reservation at Fort Grant. A love story runs through the play, consummating in happiness for the parties most concerned. Adv.

"Freckles." Story plays—those which have been adapted from some popular novel—have been among the most interesting productions on the stage has made. Among the most successful producers of book plays in America to-day is A. G. Delamater, whose "Quo Vadis" and "Beverly of Graustark" are well remembered by hundreds of thousands of theatregoers. Both were most interesting plays and clean ones—Delamater will have nothing to do with any other kind of production; above all, the play must be clean and respectable, so theatregoers will be pleased to know that he has arranged to produce Gene Stratton-Porter's delightful nature play, "Freckles," which will be seen at the Majestic next Thursday, matinee and night. Adv.

"The Charming Widows." The Majestic will present as its burlesque attraction next Friday, matinee and night, "The Charming Widows." The company is headed by Eddie Dale, a clever German comedian, and he is surrounded by a company of capable singers, dancers and fun-makers. In addition to the regular performances, there will be two special features, "The Dame of the First Sin" and "Princess Ka in 'The Mystery of the

At the Orpheum "Teddy" Roosevelt via the Low Dockstader route will leave the Orpheum to-night. So will that uproariously funny comedian, Johnny Dooley, and pretty Yvette Rugel and Lucy Gillette, the clever little juggler, and a wealth of other good things. For next week the management is announcing the longest list of well-known stars that have appeared on any one bill this season. They are Sophie Barnard, the celebrated prima donna; Lou Anger, the greatest exponent of German comedy in vaudeville, who has a wonderful comedy monologue on war; Mrs. Gene Hughes, late star of "Youth," who, with a fine cast of players, will offer her newest comedy vehicle called "Lady Gossip"; John Henshaw and Grave Avery, of legitimate musical comedy, now offering to bring and breezy skit of song, dance and patter in vaudeville, and the Six Military Dancers, three young women and three youths, in wonderful exhibitions of hard and soft shoe dancing. Elaborate costuming and beautiful staging help to make their turn a "sight" act and well worth headline honors also. There will be two other Keith hits of merit grouped about these big attractions. A glance over the booking for next week would come pretty near convincing one that Wilmer & Vincent had outdone themselves in the way of sending good things to Harrisburg. Adv.

At the Colonial Nothing could speak louder for the popularity of the improved vaudeville policy now in operation at the Colonial than the daily increase in attendance there. Four acts of high-class vaudeville, any one of them of sufficient merit to appear on "big time" programs, is being appreciated by patrons of that playhouse to the extent that the numbers in attendance far exceed those of previous weeks. The arrangement of the programs seems to be more popular also—that of a continuous vaudeville bill, with the pictures shown before and after the performance. The attractions that are to be presented for the last times to-day in the Three Ellisons, in a delightful spectacular musical novelty; James Kennedy and company, in "Jack Swift," a comedy sketch; Mahoney and Tremont, pretty girl and clever comedian, in a pleasing act, and the Aerial Barbers, in thrills galore. Adv.

The New York bad man given a life sentence for stealing a watch will appreciate the significance of "doing time."
