Outlaws to Use $100,000 in Getting Material Which Will Be Distributed to Various Clubs to Even Up Strength

New York, Oct. 27.—According to reports which have come out of Chicago since the return there of the big guns of the Federal League, a desperate attempt will be made this winter to smash the lines of organized baseball. It was reported that the Federals are not going to give up the fight, but that a fund of $100,000 had been raised at the recent meeting in the Baltimore hotel, for emergencies, and with which some of the noted stars of organized baseball might be coaxed to desert the older association.

ST. PETERSBURG FOR PHILS

Winter Baseball Season Opens When Majors Pick Next Season's Training Grounds

Philadelphia, Oct. 27.—Unless there is an unexpected hitch, those Phils will train at St. Petersburg (or Petrograd if you are with the allies) Florida, next spring.

St. Petersburg is said to have the finest climate of any point south. It is situated on the west coast of Florida, opposite Tampa, and about 250 miles south of Jacksonville, where the Mack-nam drill.

The Browns trained in St. Petersburg last spring and had excellent results. During the three weeks, Rickety's men visited there, they didn't miss a day of practice, but at Wilmington, N. C., where the Phils were last spring, there were three days of rain to one of sunshine.

President Baker has been considering San Diego, Cal., as a training spot, but it was impossible to obtain suitable grounds and the project had to be abandoned. Then he took up negotiations with St. Petersburg.

MYRLE-HARDER STOCK CO.

The patrons of the Majestic theatre next week will get their money's worth with the Myrtle-Harder Company. This is the fourteenth annual tour of this organization, and this year the management has surpassed all previous efforts by paying thousands of dollars for royalties to owners of recent New York successes to induce them to allow their plays to be presented at popular prices.

THE CHARMING WIDOWS

"The Charming Widows," the burlesque show which comes to the Majestic Friday, matinee and night, consists of two rapid fire musical farces, singing and dancing numbers and specialties. The first part is called "A Day in Nice" and the plot has to do with the laughable experiences of a crowd of Americans who are visiting the gay French watering place. The action is frequently interrupted to allow the introduction of song numbers and in these a chorus of twenty pretty and vivacious girls is employed.

THE ROUND-UP

"The Round-Up" dramatized by Neil Twomey from Gene Stratton-Porter's excellent novel of that name, will be the attraction at the Majestic, Thursday, matinee and night. The scene of "Freckles" is laid in the first two acts in the virgin forests, where nature is seen and felt. The atmosphere is distinctly romantic and free, and this, added to the fact that the ideas and lines of the production are absolutely clean, makes "Freckles" unique in this age of champagne, chorus girls and lively rag-time. From the opening of the play until the curtain falls on the "round-up" Freckles, there is not an unwholesome thought or word. Adv.

IT'S LIKE A JOURNEY TO OTHER LANDS IS VERDICT

Illustrated Bible Offered by the Star-Independent Reveals Geographical Wonders and Educational Value to Be Gained by Its Perusal

Most of us know the boundaries of our own state, or at least our own county, but we little realize the educational value to be gained from an occasional hour devoted to reading of other lands.

Take, for instance, Palestine, which is described as a narrow strip of country at the eastern end of the Mediterranean sea, stretching north and south 140 miles, and from 30 to 40 miles east and west, covering in its entirety an area of only 1,200 square miles. Why, most of our states cover from five to ten times as much space, the state of Texas alone containing more than 20 times the area of Palestine.

Of all the lands of the earth, Palestine is one of the most interesting, for in this small country originated a volume that is familiar to all—the Bible. It has often been a question of wonderment that such a small portion of our earth could be instrumental in producing a work so universally known. And yet small countries have given to the world some of its greatest treasures. Take for instance Greece, England, Italy and Egypt; all of them are small, yet they have been world leaders in some one or another characteristic.

To-day there is not a place on our planet which is more thoroughly studied and known than this 1,200 square miles of Palestine. Even in our own generation, every foot of it has been surveyed. Our geologists have gone through its rocks, botanists have gathered and classified its plants and zoologists have collected and arranged its animals. Maps have been made that show every mountain, valley, lake and river, as well as cities and villages.

In Palestine are to be found all the rock formations, as well as all of the flora and fauna known to this earth. Between the high altitudes of its mountains with their perpetual snow and tepid waters of the Salt sea, every climate is experienced, in which there is every living thing that is known to the earth. So it has been truthfully said that Palestine is the whole world in a nutshell.

By reading the foregoing, one may get a slight glimpse of the interesting knowledge set forth in the New Illustrated Bible, which is being distributed by the Star-Independent. This magnificent volume contains 600 text illustrations prepared by the world's greatest artist at the enormous cost of $50,000, aside from the numerous full-page colored plates from the famous Tissot collection. Every picture accurately portrays a scene that throws a true light on the particular subject which it accompanies. Some Bibles lay claim to "illustrations," where they simply have "pictures" inserted at random, without regard to the subjects. These may be said to entitle the volume to the word "illustrated," but it must be admitted that they have no educational value, inasmuch as they have no bearing on particular subjects which they accompany. The New Illustrated Bible which the Star-Independent distributes is the only one that truly illustrates the exact subject related to it in position as well as in matter.
