

GREAT BRITAIN OPENS WAR ON TURKEY BY DESTROYING BARRACKS AT AKABAH

British Warship Begins Hostilities on the Turco-Egyptian Frontier—Turkish Ambassador Leaves the Russian Capital—Grand Vizier's Apology for Raids in Black Sea Said to be Too Late to Avoid Sultan's Demand Being Drawn Into the European Conflict—Germans Reported to Have Abandoned Left Bank of the Yser

By Associated Press.

London, Nov. 3, 1.10 P. M.—Great Britain and Turkey are at war. Germany has recruited an ally in the East. After 24 hours of uncertainty, during which hope was expressed that the Porte might make amends for the incidents in the Black Sea, the British Admiralty announced shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon that a British warship had bombarded and had destroyed the Turkish barracks at Akabah, on the Turco-Egyptian frontier.

It was at Akabah that Turkish cavalry patrols were reported yesterday preparatory to moving into Egypt. There the British found soldiers apparently under German officers remain in charge of the cruisers Breslau and Goeben, and, British officials say, there was no course but to open hostilities.

London, Nov. 3, 6.38 A. M.—A dispatch from Tiflis, capital of the Russian government of the same name in transcaucasia to Reuters Telegram Company says: "It is announced that the Emperor has ordered the Caucasian army to cross the frontier and attack the Turks."

Petrograd, Nov. 3.—The Turkish Ambassador, Fahreddin Bey, has left the Russian capital. He is leaving for home via Finland.

London, Nov. 3, 8 A. M.—A dispatch to the "Daily Mail" from Cairo, Egypt, says:

"The Turkish troops are reported near the border which they have not crossed. The British are fully prepared to repulse an invasion, thanks to the measures taken by the government.

"The public in Egypt are calm and not even aware of a Turco-Russian eruption. A press censorship will be established to-morrow."

TURKEY'S APOLOGY TOO LATE

London, Nov. 3, 10.55 A. M.—Russia has replied to Turkey's apology for the raids on her navy in the Black Sea with the fateful words "too late" and in London it is thought hardly likely that diplomatic pressure will prevent the war party among the Young Turks from dragging their country into the European embroglio.

The events of the past twelve hours show that the Grand Vizier of Turkey has made every effort to conciliate the entente powers, but the influence of his partisans in the Turkish cabinet is not believed to be great enough to force the Porte to meet the demands for reparation formulated in the Franco-British notes. So far as Russia is concerned a state of war with Turkey actually exists, and the reply of the Russian foreign minister to the explanation of the Grand Vizier does not hold out, in the opinion of London, any hope for a peaceful outcome of the dispute.

The apology of the Turk for the assaults of his fleet on Russian ports on the Black Sea has not accomplished its purpose. Both Russia and Great Britain have undertaken active military measures against him and hostilities have begun on the Red Sea. In France the troops of Emperor William, frustrated in their persistent endeavors to advance along the coast, are now seeking a route more to the south and the fighting in Flanders is going on with determination on the part of the allies and heavy onslaughts from the enemy.

A group of incidents shows that Turkey's efforts to hold aloof from the general warfare came too late. Constantinople reports officially that Russian troops have attacked her frontier in the Caucasus at several points, but were driven back. A British cruiser has shelled and occupied the Turkish fortified town of Akabah, on the Red Sea, in Arabia; it is announced in a news dispatch that Emperor Nicholas has ordered his Caucasian army to cross the frontier and attack the Turks; the Turkish Ambassador has left the Russian capital; the Russian Foreign Minister has replied to the Porte that negotiations are now impossible and an imperial manifesto issued in Petrograd says Russian confidence is firm that intervention of Turkey will only hasten the fatal issue to that empire and that

Paris, Nov. 3, 2.45 P. M.—The French official announcement given out this afternoon says the Germans would appear to have completely abandoned the left bank of the Yser below Dixmude, and that troops of the allies have reoccupied points on the river without great difficulty. The text of the communication follows:

"On the left wing the enemy seems to have completely abandoned the left bank of the Yser downstream from Dixmude and reconnoissances by troops of the allies undertaken on the highways in the inundated regions were successful in reoccupying points of passage across the river without great difficulty. To the south of Dixmude and in the direction of Gheluvit our advance was particularly perceptible.

"In the region to the north of the Yser, in spite of determined attacks by the Germans in considerable force, our front was everywhere maintained or re-established by the end of the day. Fresh attacks by the Germans on the environs of Arras and against Lihons and Lequesnoy-on-Santerre resulted in failures.

"On the center, in the region of the Aisne, to the east of the forest of Aigue, we have made some progress. To the east of Vailley, according to the latest news, those of our troops who held the positions on the slopes of the plateau to the north of the villages of Chauvonne and Souppier, had been compelled to draw back into the valley to the east of this location. We have maintained our positions at Amont on the right bank of the river.

"There was violent cannonading during the day between Rheims and the Meuse, as well as on the heights of the Meuse. Further efforts on the part of the Germans in the forest of Argonne, have been checked. We have continued to make progress to the northwest of Pont-a-Mousson. On our right wing there have been some engagements favorable to our arms along the river Seille."

BRITISH SHELL RED SEA, FORTIFIED ARABIAN TOWN, AND THEN OCCUPY PLACE

London, Nov. 3, 12.53 P. M.—The fortified town of Akabah, in Arabia, on an arm of the Red sea, has been shelled and occupied by the British cruiser Minerva. There was some loss to the troops holding the position, but no British casualties. Akabah is at the head of the Gulf of Akabah, 150 miles east of Suez. The Admiralty announced this occurrence as follows:

"Upon arriving at Akabah the cruiser Minerva, Captain Percival Warleigh, found the place occupied by soldiers and armed natives. One of the soldiers had the appearance of a German officer. The Minerva then shelled the port and the troops. The town was evacuated and landing parties from the Minerva proceeded to destroy the forts, the barracks, the postoffice and the stores. There was some loss to the enemy, but no British casualties."

FRAUD RUMOR EXCITES CITY

Mayor Royal Denies Any Knowledge of Arrests of Workers at Polls

There were rumors on the streets this afternoon that several arrests had been made in connection with alleged violations of the election laws. Mayor John K. Royal, secretary of the Palmer-McCormick Committee of One Hundred, which has set aside $50,000 for the payment of rewards to persons detecting frauds in the election, at 3 o'clock this afternoon said he had not been officially informed of any arrests of election law violators. He had heard the rumors, he said, although so far as he knew the reports were baseless.

It was hinted that an arrest was made at a polling place in the Sixth ward, following charges against a Democratic worker. Howard O. Holstein, county committeeman from the district, said he had been at the polling place most of the time since early morning and had heard of no arrest.

This Newspaper Will Display All the Election News on a Big Screen This Evening

SPECIAL WIRES FROM ALL POINTS

Motion Pictures Will Be Shown in the Early Hours When the Returns Are Slow—Ten Trunk Telephone Lines Will Be Used To-night

The Star-Independent has made arrangements to throw accurate and complete election returns on a big screen outside its offices at Third and Blackberry streets this evening, displaying news from all parts of the city, county, State and nation. It has arranged for special service by the Associated Press and the Western Union Telegraph Company by special wire. It also will get returns from its own corps of reporters and correspondents in and near Harrisburg.

Bulletins will be flashed on a screen extending across Third street at Blackberry street so that persons may view the returns from both sides of the screen. The crowds will not be bothered much by traffic, which is reduced to a minimum on Third street after business hours. Local returns as well as those from the entire State and nation will be shown. The Star-Independent has installed ten trunk telephone lines on which to receive and give out election news.

A lantern will be operated from the southern end of the Star-Independent building and during the early evening, when the returns will be slow, moving pictures will be used to entertain the crowds.

To accommodate the late crowds the Harrisburg Railways Company will operate a special schedule of trolley cars. Cars will run every half hour on North Second, Fourth and Sixth streets, and on the Reservoir Park and Hill lines from 12 midnight until 2 a. m., time of last car.

STOUGH DEFENDS SENSATIONALISM

Rolls About on Platform to Illustrate How Prophets of Bible Times Preached

GIDEON STYLED A BULL MOOSER

Evangelist in Sermon Delivered for First Time Last Night Raps Sensationalism and Other Churches as "Too Respectable"

The real Stough revealed himself at the tabernacle last night, preaching in a manner which he promised beforehand would be most sensational, on an avowedly sensational subject, that of "Sensational Preaching." Over five thousand were present. The evangelist paced up and down his platform; lay down at full length and rolled from side to side in imitation of Jeremiah; dodged imaginary bricks and cabbage heads to show how John Wesley was forced to preach, and asking the audience to imagine the Rev. Dr. John D. Fox delivering a sermon in that manner; demonstrated how "the daughters of Zion" danced through the streets making "goo goo eyes" at the men; mocked the so-called dignity of the pulpit; showed how Bishop Darlington, who was present on the platform with his two sons, would look walking through the streets in the capacity of "a sandwich man," advertising the First Episcopal church of Jerusalem, as did Isaiah; and, in his excitement,

VOTE EVERYWHERE IS HEAVY IN STATE

Evidence in the City of Philadelphia That Many Split Ballots Are Being Cast

FARMERS OUT IN GREAT NUMBERS

Weather Conditions Fine Throughout Pennsylvania—Big Interest Is Shown in the Contests For Seats in the Legislature

By Associated Press.

Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—The three cornered fight for the United States Senatorship, between A. Mitchell Palmer, Democrat; Gifford Pinchot, Washington and Boies Penrose, Republican, and the struggle between Vance C. McCormick, Democrat-Washington, and Martin G. Brumbaugh, Republican, for Governor, served to bring out a heavy vote in the early hours of the election to-day throughout Pennsylvania. The weather was fine everywhere.

The fact that many voters took a long time to mark their ballots gave rise to reports that much cutting was being done, but the swiftness of the voters may be due in a measure to the large number of candidates to be voted for.

Voting continued heavy during the day in Philadelphia, especially in districts where there were close Senatorial and Legislative fights.

In the Fifth Congressional district in this city, where Congressman Donohoe, Democrat and Washington party candidate, is opposed by Peter E. Costello, the Republican leader in that part of the city, a large vote was being polled. There was also great interest shown in the Sixth district, which includes West Philadelphia and Germantown, where J. Washington Loege, candidate for reelection on the Democratic and Keystone ticket, is opposed by Fred S. Drake, Washington, and George P. Darow, Republican.

Senator Penrose voted about 12.30 p. m. and Martin G. Brumbaugh cast his ballot early in the day.

Reports that Senator Penrose was being cut in South Philadelphia was denied by the Vares, who are the leaders in that part of the city.

Reports from the State indicate a heavy vote. Gifford Pinchot voted early in Milford, Pike county, and left for Philadelphia to receive returns to-night. A. Mitchell Palmer also voted early in Stroudsburg.

Heavy Voting in Berks

Reading, Nov. 3.—Reports from all sections of Berks say that a big vote is coming out. Because of the splendid weather farmers are taking a regular holiday. In this city interest in the election is increased by the legislative contest between candidates on four tickets, all of whom expect to be elected. Citizens are voting on a proposed $1,250,000 loan, which has aroused a great deal of acrimony.

Cutting Tickets in Luzerne

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 3.—Bright, sunny weather had a tendency to bring the voters of Luzerne county to the polls early to-day. Some cutting on the United States Senatorship and State ticket is reported.

First Massachusetts Returns

Boston, Nov. 3.—The first Massachusetts town to be heard from in the State election to-day was Norwell, which gave:

For Governor, McCall, Republican, 184; Walker, Progressive, 17; Walsh, Democrat, 56.

The same town in 1913 gave: Bird, Progressive, 93; Gardner, Republican, 71; Walsh, Democrat, 57.

PURCHASES TEN TROLLEY CARS

Harrisburg Railways Company to Put More of Them in Service

Ten new cars of the pay-as-you-enter type have been purchased by the Harrisburg Railways Company from the J. G. Brill Company, of Philadelphia. Three have already been delivered and the remainder are expected within a short time. Six of the cars are what is known as the "600" type, while four are similar to the ones now being used on the Middletown line.

The "600" type cars will be placed in service on city lines, while the others will be placed on suburban lines. It is not known just when they will be placed in service, as the cars must be mounted on motors in this city.

"November Joe"

A new serial starts in the Star-Independent to-morrow, the hero of which is "November Joe," detective of the woods. This is the season of the year when thoughts turn toward the great outdoors, toward the woodlands, and the new serial is full of mysteries of the forest. The first installment, time, 1908; place, Montreal, will appear in this paper in to-morrow's issue.

M'CORMICK VOTES AT 12.03

Takes Him Half Minute to Mark His Ballot and Deposit It—He Looks for Success

Vance C. McCormick, Democratic candidate for Governor, voted at the polls of the First precinct of the Fourth ward at three minutes after noon to-day. From the time Mr. McCormick took his ballot from the election officer until he had marked it in the booth and deposited it in the ballot box just half a minute elapsed. Men at the polls believe he voted a straight ticket.

Mr. McCormick wound up his campaign last night in Easton and this morning started for home, arriving here at 11.45 a. m. His automobile awaited him at the Reading station and he was whisked away to his office, where he remained a few minutes and then started for the polls to cast his vote.

It was just noon when he reached Hoggins' tailor shop on Locust street, where the polls are located, and he made a hurried dash for the door. His brother Harry, who was holding a poll book, greeted him, and in turn the candidate shook hands with the election officers and a number of friends in waiting.

He asked for a ballot, and taking it stepped into the booth, was gone but an instant and reappeared and dropped the ballot into the box, with the remark that the box seemed to be filling up.

KUNKEL SMILING AT POLLS

Candidate for Supreme Court Is Sure His Son, Home From College, Cast His First Vote for "Dad"

Judge George Kunkel, non-partisan candidate for Judge of the State Supreme Court, at 9 o'clock this morning went to the Hope engine house, Second street near North, the polling place in the Second precinct of the Fourth ward, and cast his ballot.

The judge conversed with a few friends at the polling place after voting for his choice of candidates and then went to the polls in the First Precinct of the same ward. There he was joined by Judge McCarell, who, a few minutes before, had cast his ballot. The two jurists then went to their chambers in the court house.

This afternoon Judge Kunkel accompanied his son, George Kunkel, Jr., to the Second precinct, Fourth ward, polling place and assured the election board that the son is qualified to vote on age.

"I can say the boy was glad to vote for his dad," smilingly remarked the judge to a reporter who questioned him. The son arrived in Harrisburg at noon, coming here from Lancaster where he is a student at Franklin and Marshall College. The judge's Alma Mater, George Kunkel, Jr., is the first of Judge Kunkel's three sons to cast a ballot in a State election.
