

THEIR HONEYMOON STARTS IN TABERNACLE QUARTERS

Custodian and His Bride of Last Thursday Are Comfortably Housed In Corner of Big Building Used For Revival Services

When Fred Cartwright, custodian of the Stough tabernacle, the son of the Rev. E. T. Cartwright, associate of Dr. Stough, got married at Williamsport last Thursday he and his bride determined to spend their honeymoon and go to housekeeping at the same time, in the tabernacle at North and Cowden streets. They did not expect however, that such elaborate preparations would be made for their comfort as they found when they got here.

FRED CARTWRIGHT

Tabernacle Custodian Just Married

William S. Roebuck, who was in charge of the building of the tabernacle, had a room at the Cowden and North street corner partitioned off and equipped as no tabernacle custodian's room has ever before been equipped. The walls appear as oak panels and the furnishings are of the finest, giving the room the appearance of a bridal chamber on an ocean liner. The furniture was supplied by the women's adult Bible class of the Derry Street United Brethren church.

Fred, as everyone calls him, and his wife, are very well pleased with their home in the tabernacle. They take their meals at the Stough residence on Pine street, but spend all the rest of their time "at home." It isn't everybody can go to housekeeping in a tabernacle.

Where McCormick Will Get Returns

At Democratic State Committee headquarters here to-day the quiet was in marked contrast with the activity there in the last five months. All of the State Committee officials were absent except Secretary VanDyke, who votes in one of the "Hill" precincts, and he was kept busy with belated correspondence.

The State headquarters will be open this evening, and State Chairman Morris will come up from Philadelphia to receive State returns. Vance C. McCormick will be with Chairman Morris, and returns will be received from every county chairman throughout the State as soon as possible. These will be made public at once, and it is expected that Chairman Morris will be able to make an accurate statement as to the result shortly before midnight.

Congressman Palmer will not be of the party here to-night, remaining at his home in Stroudsburg to revive the election returns, but he is expected to have something to say as soon as the result can be definitely ascertained.

Investigating Fraud Stories

At State headquarters it was said early to-day that in Harrisburg there have been discovered some evidences of crookedness, and detectives are running down such stories in order to establish their authenticity and secure evidence against any who have been dealing crookedly. One of the tricks, it was said by Secretary VanDyke, that was being played early in the day was the furnishing of voters with marked ballots to take into the polls from which to mark their ballot behind the screen. This ballot, it was said, was returned to the ward worker as soon as the voter got out of the booth, and was held to be given to another voter for use.

The law is very explicit regarding who shall have assistance in voting, and it prevented many voters who have heretofore had assistance from again seeking such aid. To get around this, it is alleged, the marked ballot was devised. Secretary VanDyke said this morning there had been no specific instances revealed at that time of money being used.

The Vote in McCormick's Ward

At the Fourth ward voting precincts there was a full complement of workers of all parties, and that they were getting out a big vote was very apparent. In the upper precinct, at the Hope engine house, 148 votes were out in the first three hours, an average of about 50 an hour, or a little more than one minute for each voter.

In the first precinct of the Fourth ward, where Mr. McCormick resides, the voting was fast in contrast with previous elections, and 143 had been cast by 10 o'clock, leaving less than two-thirds to be cast during the rest of the day. It is expected, in view of the fine weather, that but few votes will be left uncast when the polls close this evening.

Mayor Royal was at the First precinct polls and took a lively interest in

A Sale of Women's and Misses' Apparel That Offers Unusual Opportunities to Save, When the Garments Are Most Needed

OUR buyer, while in the New York market, picked up some very striking specials—actual bargains—not garments that for any reason are undesirable. The suits are the last word in style; the coats are the kind most sought for by critical women; and the dresses are copies of the finest costume the season has brought forth.

The low prices at which we are able to offer these garments is the result of manufacturers needing money—spot cash. It is an open secret that manufacturers of women's garments have had rather a trying time this season because of backward weather conditions and the uncertainty of styles. Any manufacturer with material on hand is glad to turn it into garments at moderate cash prices, and many who have made up garments on hand are willing to unload them at a very low figure—for spot cash.

The purchase-amount runs into the thousands, and the lot represents women's apparel to the value of almost double that amount. We shall pass them along at just the same rate—One-fourth to One-half Less Than Value.

Over 60 Suits That Are Worth $15 to $16.50 at $8.98

In serges, whipcords and chevots. Various lengths of coats—34 to 45 inches. Coats are lined with guaranteed satin. Mostly navy, black, brown and Copenhagen.

About 50 Suits That Are Worth $20.00 at $10.98

In serges, chevots, whipcords and broadcloths. Long or short coats, and all lined with yarn-dyed or guaranteed satin. Skirts, plain, plaited or with yokes. Good color assortments.

About 100 Suits That Are Worth $22.50 at $12.50

In men's wear serges, poplins, whipcords and broadcloths. All the wanted colors among them.

Over 150 Suits That Are Worth $25 to $50 at $17.50 to $25.00

Imported broadcloths, imported poplins, gabardines, imported serges and novelties. Rich, lustrous black and colored broadcloths—as well as navy, dark brown, Russian green and wistaria. Serviceable poplins and gabardines in all the popular colors.

(None of these suits will be sent on approval. Alteration charges will be as usual—just work-room expense.)

Duckling Fleece Kimonos at 98c; Fully Worth $1.50

About three hundred—full length—cut very full and of excellent workmanship. Really an unusually good value at $1.50.

(None on approval—nor C. O. D.)

$1, $1.25 and $1.50 House Dresses at 69c

These are the same kind of house dresses that we sold last Thursday. There are just twenty-one dozen—and several good styles. Medium and dark colors. Fine gingham, chambray, percales and heavy flannelette. Of the twenty-one dozen, five dozen are regular $1.00 dresses; about eight dozen are $1.25 dresses; and the balance are regular $1.50 dresses.

(None on approval—nor C. O. D.)

One Hundred and Sixty Beautiful Velvet Dresses

The top-notch of style in every one. Most of them are made of boulevard velveteen—the scarcest fabric to-day. And there is a wide range of models to select from and at the prices they will sell like the proverbial "Hot Cakes."

Come early to-morrow for a good assortment. Every woman and miss wants a velvet dress this year—this is the best chance to get one. The best chance to get the right styles—the assortment to choose from the quality—and last, but not least, in importance, to get it at the right price.

At $7.98—worth $12.50. At $9.98—worth $15.00. At $13.50—worth $20.00. At $14.98—worth $22.50. At $16.98—worth $25.00. At $22.50—worth $35.00.

Forty Serge Dresses That Are Worth $7.50 at $5.00

Made of pure wool serge—all the wanted models. Combinations of satin and serge and all serge. Black and navy only. All sizes.

About Thirty-Five Serge Dresses Worth $15 to $17.50 at $12.50

Botany serges—that's a seal of quality. Navy and black. Many with smart touches of color—some embroidered. All serge and serge and satin combinations and serge and velvet combinations.

Large Assortment of Attractive Waists at 79c Made to sell at $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50

Fill your wants from this lot. The styles will please you. Smart, pretty little blouses that you cannot have too many of. And all sizes, but not all sizes in all styles.

(None on approval—nor C. O. D.)

Heavy Pure Silk Messaline Petticoats at $1.49—Worth $2.50

All Silk Jersey and Silk Jersey Petticoats with Messaline Flounces, at $1.89—worth $2.50 and $3.00

We cleaned out all we had last Saturday and never hoped to get more. A manufacturer from whom we buy largely offered a very attractive assortment and we had them shipped at once. They'll be here for you to-morrow.

The Opportunity of the Season to Buy a Fine Coat--and Save Money in the Buying

There are about two hundred coats in the lot—not one among them but is at least one-fourth less than usual price—some are much more. And a good many of them are from Wile—whose coats are recognized as featuring the latest authoritative style.

Materials are zibelines, ripple cloths, boucles, broadcloths, Salts astrachans, Salts broadtail, Salts Arabina lamb, merixet and pomfior.

Coats at $5.00—worth $10.00. Coats at $8.98—worth $12.50. Coats at $10.98—worth $15.00. Coats at $12.50—worth $16.50. Coats at $13.50—worth $18.00. Coats at $14.98—worth $20.00. Coats at $16.98—worth $22.50. Coats at $18.98—worth $25.00. Coats at $19.98—worth $25.00.

Coats at $21.50, $25.00, $27.50 and $29.50—worth $30.00, $35.00, $40.00, $45.00 and $50.00.

getting out votes for McCormick. The Republican workers in both precincts were doing very lively work, their intention being to let nothing slip by through which they could defeat McCormick in his own ward. Henry B. McCormick, brother of the candidate and chairman of the fourth sub-division of the Democratic State Committee, voted early and was active at the polls and throughout the city in seeing that the vote was gotten out.

LEBANON MAN DIES HERE

Paul S. Kochenderfer was a Spanish-American War Veteran. Lebanon, Nov. 3.—Word was received here from Harrisburg of the death of Paul S. Kochenderfer, at the age of 45 years, in that city, yesterday. He was one of the best known and popular residents of Lebanon. He was born in North Lebanon township. He was at one time a stonecutter, and later, also a Lebanon Valley Street Railway conductor. Before his heart failed, he was a local rural U. S. mail carrier.

HENSEL "PAIRED" TO-DAY

Ex-Archbishop Knows Republican Also Too Sick to Vote. Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—Ex-Archbishop General William U. Hensel, of Lancaster, is taking his inability to cast a vote this year philosophically. The veteran Democratic leader, who is recovering from a nervous breakdown, received several visitors in his room at the Jefferson hospital yesterday, and told them that he was not yet strong enough to make the trip to Lancaster. "But," he added, with a twinkle in his eye, "the Democrats won't need me, for I'm paired off, all right. There's a Republican that I know who is in his bed, too, and he's a sicker man than I am."

At the Photoplay To-day

Exceptionally fine program at the photoplay to-day, headed by a 3-reel Kalem production. "The Barefoot Boy," featuring Tom Moore. The scene in which the mother discovers in her young rival the daughter whom she deserted in infancy goes straight to the heart of all. "The Hopeless Game," deserted in infancy goes straight to the 2-reel Lubin, with Harry Myers and Rosemary Theby in the leading role.

Brumbaugh "Carries" Academy

A straw vote was taken among the pupils of the Harrisburg Academy yesterday afternoon on the candidates for Governor of Pennsylvania. The vote was very close, Brumbaugh winning out with a majority of five votes. He got 47 and McCormick 42.

MANY RABBITS ARE BAGGED

Hunters on Opening Day for Bunnies Are Successful in This and Nearby Counties—Quail Scarce

Rabbit and quail shooting was the favorite sport for hunters in Dauphin and adjacent counties yesterday—the opening day of the season for those sorts of game. Many hunters returned home with ten cotton-tails, the limit allowed by law on any one day, although as a rule the boys averaged three and four to a hunter.

Two gunners in the lower end of the county made the woodland back of the Round Top their hunting grounds and each had shot nine rabbits by noon. Both reported that rabbits are plenty in the Locust Grove, near Conewago, Lancaster county, were more than a hundred gunners, but few returned with their game bags full. This was due, the hunter said, to the fact that the foliage has not yet left the trees and also the brush growth is yet green and stands several feet high.

A party of Chester county hunters invaded the grove and withdrew with sixteen bunnies. Albert Souillard, a Pennsylvania Railroad policeman, having the district between Middletown and Harrisburg, got the limit, ten, while in the grove. Another party of three got eleven.

Back of Enola hunters also reported that game is plentiful. One hunter returning from that district had seven cotton-tails in his game bag, while a party of three shot twenty-seven.

HARD COAL PRODUCTION GROWS

October Figures Will Show a Gain Over Corresponding Month Last Year. The production of anthracite coal in October was heavier than in October last year in spite of the drought which rendered mining difficult, especially in the Southern region where the companies were put to great expense hauling millions of gallons of water a day, or reduced to the expedient of using sulphur laden mine water, which eats into metal like an acid, in their boilers.

If early indications do not fail, when the official statistics of shipments are announced by the Bureau of Anthracite Statistics next week, they will not fall far short of 6,500,000 tons. The shipments in October last year were 6,338,194 tons, but production as a whole is still more than a million tons less than it was during the first ten months of last year.

WATER FEED MAIN BREAKS

Geyser Shoots into Air at Cameron and Paxton Streets, Tearing Up Trolley Tracks

A 20-inch feed water main on Cameron street near Paxton broke this morning shortly after 5 o'clock, undermining the street, displacing the trolley tracks and shooting a great volume of water ten feet into the air through a hole in the asphalt street which was made by the force of the water.

The water supply was cut off on the entire lower end of the city because of the break but a roundabout route has been improvised by Commissioner Bowman by closing two valves on the main pipe. This, however, keeps the manufacturing plants between Kittatinny and Paxton streets without the usual water supply and temporary feed pipes have been laid from the water plugs. Residents, too, are compelled to carry water from that temporary pipe.

It was not until 11 o'clock this morning, when a temporary crossover switch was laid by the Harrisburg Railway Company, that trolley cars could be run down Cameron street. Prior to that time Steeltown and Middletown cars were run by way of the Duck street bridge and through South Second street. Early workmen employed at Steeltown suffered considerable inconvenience.

POLICE DOG FINDS HIS HOME

Coppers "Find" It and Are Much Surprised at Discovery. The police no longer have a police dog, his home having been located at 322 Strawberry street, this morning by the police, but the police were as much surprised at it as the dog's mistress was to get the animal back. He had been lost for a week.

At 10 o'clock this morning when Policemen Buch and Mehring went out on a call to that place, the dog insisted that he accompany them and ran the entire distance alongside the machine. When they reached the house and a woman opened the door, the dog shot into the house. "Go back under the stove where you belong," said the woman, "you've been lost for a week,
