MAY KEEP BAN ON ABSINTHE

Sale Also of Similar Liquors Likely to Be Prohibited

Paris, Nov. 9.—Permanent prohibition of the sale of absinthe, under its original name and others that have been coined to evade the law, may be one result of the war in France. Transportation and sale of absinthe were forbidden when the war began, but traffic in other intoxicants was continuing.

The government now has supplemented its original order with another, forbidding the sale of any alcoholic drinks similar to absinthe. There is a marked movement in all parts of France tending to perpetuate this prohibition.

SAY ALLIES ARE ON GERMAN SOIL

olas, the Russian commander-in-chief in the field, the advance guards of which are less than 200 miles from Berlin. It is true that there was a brief Russian invasion of East Prussia during the early stages of the war, while the French have for a long time held their position in Alsace; but the latest development in the Russian advance, if the interpretation placed on it in London is not all wrong, is the most important of the campaign up to the present time.

It is mere speculation, of course, to say that Germany may be forced forthwith to retire from Belgium, or even cease her offensive in this arena. In certain areas of France and Belgium the allies are taking a vigorous offensive, but it is too early yet to predict that Germany will not renew her smashing tactics in an effort to break through the line and that there will not be much hard fighting around Ypres.

In any event, German retirement from Belgium probably would be very slow, as the forces of Emperor William have made the entire country behind their battle line one vast fortification, with trenches even more carefully prepared than those they are still holding in France.

With Tsing-Tau under Japanese administration and the release for other service of the Japanese and British vessels used in the capture of this German stronghold, there should be a sharp impetus to naval activity in the Far East, as the allies can now center their attention upon the roving German cruisers which have been so successful in operations against British shipping.

GERMAN OFFENSIVE IS ON AT DIXMUDE, IS REPORT OF FRENCH ON SITUATION

Paris, Nov. 9, 2.57 P. M.—The official announcement given out by the French War Office this afternoon says that the German offensive has been renewed at Dixmude and to the southeast of Ypres all the German attacks have been repulsed. The text of the communication follows:

"On our left wing the Germans have undertaken again an offensive movement on Dixmude and in the region of Ypres. Particularly to the southeast of Ypres their attacks have been everywhere repulsed.

"At the end of the day, referring to the entire front between Dixmude and the Lys, we have made progress along the major part of the line. Nevertheless, our advance is slow on account of the offensive movements undertaken by the enemy, and because of the strong organization, the enemy already has had time to effect around his points of support. Since the beginning of the fighting the fog, furthermore, has made operations difficult, particularly between the Lys and the Oise.

"On the center, along the Aisne, the progress set forth in the official communications of yesterday has been maintained. In the Argonne and in the vicinity of Verdun there have been only actions of minor importance.

"On our right wing, in Lorraine, there is nothing to report. In Alsace fresh attacks on the part of the Germanians directed against the heights of Mount Sainte Marie have again resulted for them in decided check."

BIG GUNS FOR THE CANAL. No Weapon in the World Equals the Sixteen Inch Monster. There is still about a year's work to do on the sixteen inch gun before it is sent to the Panama fortifications. The gun has been ordered shipped to Watertown arsenal, where it will be sent to Watertown, and the gun will be installed in the immense carriage, which is now nearing completion. At Watertown it will have a shock test, after which the gun and the carriage will be shipped back to Sandy Hook for final test. The progress of building the disappearing carriage is attracting the attention of ordnance experts of various countries, and great interest will be taken in the firing test of the gun after it is installed in its new carriage. It will throw a larger projectile than any gun in the world. It is estimated that it will have an effective range of something like sixteen miles, which is beyond that of any other gun in the world. The final tests at Sandy Hook of two new fourteen inch guns for Panama canal fortifications are about completed. The ordnance officers are highly pleased with the success of the tests, and it is stated that a remarkable record of accuracy was made by the guns on long range firing.—Army and Navy Journal.
