BEAVES' PARK TO BE SOLD Will Play in Red Sox Grounds Next Season—Gaffney Sees Mayor Boston, Nov. 12.—Although President Gaffney, of the Braves, denied yesterday that the old South End baseball park had been sold to a Chicago mail order house or any other concern of that character, there is reason to believe that the days of the Walpole street grounds are numbered. "It is true," said Mr. Gaffney, "that we are looking for a site for a new ball park and hope to get it before very long."

PREPARE FOR BIG CONTEST

Both Bucknell and Gettysburg Have Hard Workout for Saturday's Game Here Lewisburg, Pa., Nov. 12.—Although several regulars were missing in the lineup of the Bucknell Varsity team, only one of them, Gdamic, was kept out on account of injuries, and the doctors assured the coaches last evening that this reliable halfback will be able to take his place in Saturday's game with Gettysburg at Harrisburg. The team minus several regulars did not move as smoothly as Coaches Cockell and Jordan would like, although McDermott put lots of life into the plays while he was directing the team, but the other players did not form interference as well as they had been doing the last ten days.

At Gettysburg Gettysburg, Pa., Nov. 12.—In preparation for the game with Bucknell at Harrisburg on Saturday, the Gettysburg squad was given another good workout yesterday, when all the men available were on the field. Considerable attention is being given to the style of play to be used against Bucknell, and it will be the aim of the coaches to send the team into this game in the best possible condition.

THE COLONIAL'S SURPRISE

Manager Hopkins Explains It is a Resumption of "Amateur Night" During the last few days the Colonial theatre has been advertising a "comedy surprise" that is scheduled for to-morrow evening, but until to-day no explanation of the "mystery" had been forthcoming. This morning Manager Hopkins explained that it will be an amateur performance that will include a large number of theatrical aspirants who have cropped out since amateur shows were in vogue at the Busy Corner last year. "You see, it's this way," Mr. Hopkins said, "it is now almost a year since the amateur performances were given at the Colonial and when they were dropped it was mostly because the available talent had appeared before the audiences. Some of the performers, I think, are still working for a meagre weekly pittance, but one can never tell. There may be a few who have gone and actually made good in a large way. "Recently, however, many aspirants have been asking for an opportunity to 'go on the stage.' Some of them look better than others, but there is a sufficient number to convince me that combined, they ought to provide a cracker-jack entertainment."

TO TELL OF GREAT TERMINAL

George A. Harwood Will Lecture To-morrow to the Engineers' Society "The Grand Central Terminal Improvements of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company" will be the subject of a lecture to be delivered by George A. Harwood, chief engineer, of electric zone improvements, to the members of the Engineers' Society of Pennsylvania, at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening in the lower hall of the Board of Trade building. The lecture will be illustrated by lantern slides. The Grand Central Terminal is one of the engineering and architectural marvels of the age. The great underground structure surmounted by immense buildings, the wonderful frescoed vaulted ceiling of the waiting room and other features make the subject one of unusual interest. The members have been notified that they may bring their friends and that ladies will be welcomed.

Mayor to Visit Philadelphia

STOUGH CHAIR LOFT TO GROW

Room for Four Hundred More Will Be Made on Platform by Building of Additions Because of state laws it has been found impossible to enlarge the Stough tabernacle, although the increased attendance calls for some such step. It had been suggested that the side toward State street be extended, but that is altogether impracticable under the laws. At a meeting of the executive committee last night it was decided that the only solution of the problem is to extend the choir platform on both sides. Lumber was obtained for the purpose to-day, and the work will be done to-morrow morning, so that the extra space will be available at to-morrow evening's service. The choir loft now seats about 1,200, and the additions will accommodate 400 more, 200 on each side. The additions to the loft will be built over against the rooms on the right and left, covering the areas now open. The entrances on the sides from North street will not be closed. There will be tunnel-like passages leading from them, under the choir loft. Probably At a dinner one evening a discussion arose about the peculiar customs in foreign countries. One gentleman told of the Chinese custom, which is nearly all the exact reverse of our own. "They use white for mourning, black for rejoicing and mourn at a birth while they rejoice at death," he remarked. "The needle of their compass points to the south, and they draw the saw toward them to cut. These customs may easily be accounted for, but there remains one which I cannot explain. Why do they take their soup at the end of the meal instead of at the beginning?" "Another man ventures, "To fill up the Chinks, probably."—Philadelphia Ledger.
