MOST POPULAR FIREMAN TO BE BURIED WEDNESDAY

At the first session of the convention he received a beautiful gold watch as a token of the firemen's appreciation of his services. For a number of years Willis was secretary of the Mt. Pleasant fire company. He was also a member of Cornplanter Tribe, No. 61, of Redmen; member of the Firemen's Union of Harrisburg; past chancellor of Lodge No. 508, Knights of Pythias, and former color sergeant of the Government Troop. For a long time he was superintendent of the B. B. Brothers Manufacturing Company, which position he was forced to relinquish several months ago on account of his failing health. The bell of the Mt. Pleasant engine house was tolled thirty-six times after his death yesterday, one stroke for each year of Willis' life. Every member of the company gathered at the fire house at the time. The company will hold a special meeting tonight to make arrangements to do special honor to the popular fireman's memory at the funeral services.

Beside his widow, Mrs. Sarah Willis, he leaves one sister, Miss Ida Willis, and three brothers, Edward Willis, Harrisburg; Latimer Willis, Brooklyn; and Charles Willis, Steelton.

The Rev. Thomas Reich will conduct the funeral services which will be held at the home on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in the Oberlin cemetery.

MISSED THE TRAIN

It Was Not the Agent's Fault, Either, Only His Misfortune. The real estate man from the city was eager to close the deal for Uncle Billy Weatherman's forty acres, which would front on a beautiful lake after the big White river dam in the Missouri Ozarks was built.

The papers lay on the table awaiting Uncle Billy's signature. The real estate man was impatient. He was in a hurry to get back to Hollister, the nearest railway station, so as to catch the only train that would get him back to Kansas City the next morning.

"Now, if you'll sign right there—on the dotted line," he said, handing a fountain pen to Uncle Billy.

Uncle Billy took up his spectacles and read the papers carefully.

"I reckon I'd better not be in too big a hurry about this hvar," he temporized, with the shrewdness of the Ozark mountaineer. "I don't read as peart as I used to. I b'lieve I'll have my sons read these papers, mister."

"It would be a great favor to me, Uncle Billy," remarked the Kansas City man, looking at his watch, "if you could manage to see them in time to finish up this transaction by noon. You see, I've got to get away to-day."

Uncle Billy scratched his head a minute and said, "Eighteen." "Youth's Companion."

"Eighteen," he said, "is the number of years I've been married."

"Youth's Companion," he said, "is the name of the paper I read."

ITS PRODUCT TOO GOOD. A Wonderful Oil Well That Was Found in the Balkans. In Mr. Caton Woodville's "Random Recollections" is the story of a rich oil well that was discovered in the Balkans. On one of his journeys he was shown a deep hole, sunk most probably by the ancient inhabitants of the country for mining purposes, but which he was assured was a petroleum well. After Mr. Woodville heard the full story of this well, he was struck by the fact that the petroleum was of a high quality and of a quantity that would make it one of the richest oil wells in the world. The expert examined the contents of the bucket, tested it carefully, and then, turning to the assembled natives, he exclaimed: "This is the most wonderful oil well in the world. The petroleum is already refined." The explanation was, of course, that some enterprising person, not knowing that the petroleum comes from the oil wells in the Balkans, had carefully placed some ordinary commercial petroleum in the well in the hope that the expert would think there really was an oil well there and offer a big price for the property.

An Early Underground Road. London's underground railway stations are decidedly different from what they were when first built. A writer in London Society of May, 1893, describes Farringdon street station as resembling "a family vault on a large scale, with a series of hip baths introduced diagonally into it for light and ventilation. The hip baths are lined with glazed tiles, and to keep the resemblance to their prototype we find the leakage drained off at the end into a vessel something like a soap dish. A dense fog filled the place when I was there, and as the people waiting for the trains were soon wandering up and down the platform, one might have imagined them ghosts of the great unwashed condemned to linger in sight of those lavatories they neglected in their mortal life."

SEVERE WINTER WEATHER IS ENVELOPING ENGLAND

London, Nov. 16, 3.41 A. M.—Severe winter weather reached England in the past twenty-four hours. Snow a foot deep is reported from Bakewell, county of Derby. The highways are blocked and snow plows are being used. The mountain roads in North Wales are impassable, owing to the blizzard which has drifted the snow. On account of the continuous heavy rains the rivers Dee, Severn and Dovey are over their banks and much damage to property has resulted. Severe weather with the thermometer at 25 degrees is reported from the Lothians, Larmermoor hills, Scarborough, Newcastle, throughout the whole district. Six inches of snow has fallen in Scotland and the street cars in Aberdeen are kept running with difficulty.

Along the coasts a number of accidents to shipping have occurred. The bark Invernet was ashore on Ballyvaughan, Donegal, and the steamer Kenilworth wrecked at sea. The steamer Kenilworth went on the rocks at the entrance to the Tyne. The crews of all four vessels were saved.

London, Nov. 16, 4.03 A. M.—According to dispatches from the front the winter weather is having a serious effect on the operations of the armies. The work in the trenches is described as extremely trying and Northern France, they say, seems swept with an epidemic of influenza and cold.

The wounded brought in show signs of suffering and there are numerous cases of illness among them due to the cold and exposure, although the men are being relieved in the trenches much more frequently than formerly.

PERSIANS DEMAND THAT WAR BE NOW DECLARED ON RUSSIA

London, Nov. 16, 4.52 A. M.—The correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company at Sofia, Bulgaria, telegraphs as follows: The so-called Persian meeting yesterday in Constantinople demanding the evacuation of Persia by the Russian troops and urging that Persia declare war on Russia, has assumed the same character as the street processions.

It is stated that the movers of the resolutions at the meeting were not Persians but young Turks. Copies of the resolutions were handed in at the American embassy after the street parade in which the demonstrators shouted "Give live Persia, Turkey, Austria and Germany down with England, France and Russia!"

SULTAN BLAMES ALLIES FOR INSTIGATING WAR ON TURKEY

Constantinople, Nov. 16, via London, 12.25 P. M.—The Sultan of Turkey has issued a proclamation to the army and navy in which he accuses Great Britain, France and Russia of having instigated the war upon Turkey. He adds in this connection that the outcome will put an end to the attempts directed against the glory of the Turkish empire. Exhorting his soldiers to bravery the Sultan says: "Not only the fate of our own country, but the future existence of 300,000,000 Moslems depends on your victory."

JAPS RUSHING NAVAL FORCES IN SEARCH FOR GERMAN SHIPS

Honolulu, Nov. 16.—That Japan is rushing naval forces toward the coast of Chile to join other vessels of the allies in a search for the German vessel that brought defeat to Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock's British squadron, was indicated by a report brought here last night by the schooner Robert R. Hind, which arrived from Port Townsend, Washington. The schooner's captain said he sighted the Japanese battleship Hizen and armored cruiser Asama on Thursday, five hundred miles southeast of this port, and headed in a southerly direction. Both are powerful fighting craft.

ROYAL DOUBLES Understudies Who Played the Role of Monarch in Public

In a land of distrust like Russia it is only natural that the precautions taken should be of the most drastic order; hence the use of a royal understudy who has always been a conspicuous figure at that court. Indeed, it was the understudy of the late Czar Alexander III—a man named Komaroff—who was murdered in Moscow some years ago, when the murderer thought he had covered himself with glory by assassinating the czar.

First Feminist Party

The earliest deputation of women to parliament was organized close on 2,000 years ago. Under the triumvirate of Augustus, Antony and Lepidus it was proposed to tax the property of 1,400 wealthy Roman matrons in order to meet part of the expenses of the Civil war then raging. They refused to submit to this imposition and sent Hortensia, one of their number, to plead against it before the senate. In the course of her speech she asked, "Why should we be compelled to pay for a war into which we had no wish to embark or for the support of a government whose policy we have no means of controlling?" This argument proved so effective that the tax on women was reduced to one-third of the amount originally proposed.—London Tatler.

HEIRS OF DUTCH GENERAL HOPE TO GET $50,000,000

Philadelphia Encourages 28 Descendants of Theobald Metzger, Whose Estate Reverted to Crown at His Death in 1691. Twenty-eight of the 100 or more heirs of Theobald Metzger, a Dutch general who died in Holland in 1691, who have hopes of regaining some of the $28,000,000 to $30,000,000 left by the general, with accrued interest, met here yesterday afternoon at 1334 North Sixth street, with C. R. Demin, of Philadelphia, who claims to possess the documents that will return to them the lost fortune.

With the aid of Mr. Demin, the heirs figure out that the estate to-day would be valued at $75,000,000, but they adopted a liberal policy and are willing to accept $50,000,000, provided the Holland government and the Rothschild bankers relinquish their hold on that portion of the estate.

According to Demin the Dutch general's estate was advertised under the name of Von Wibonow, a name granted to him by the Dutch government, and he claiming it under that name it reverted to the crown. A letter setting forth that such an estate had reverted to the king is said to be in Demin's possession. Demin proposed to take another trip to Europe next summer to get further evidence and he wants to have a reunion of all the Metzgers in Dauphin county.

Among those present were the following: Norman Lichtenberger, 1310 North Sixth street, who had charge; W. B. Metzger, Middletown; John B. Tidler, Middletown; D. M. Stout, Derry Church; John Allwine, Derry Church; M. F. Metzger, Middletown; Mrs. Harvey Young, New Cumberland; Mrs. Sarah E. Metzger, 1445 Vernon street; Elmer E. Fry, Elizabethtown; Harry Kautz, Elizabethtown; Harry Billet, Steelton, and Simon W. Gingrich, Middletown.
