THE WIPING OUT OF 3,000 GERMANS AT YPRES TOLD BY A WOUNDED SOLDIER

London, Nov. 17, 4:45 A. M.—All reports from the scene of fighting in Northern France indicate that the weather conditions for the past few days have been terrible. Heavy rain, falling continuously for thirty-six hours, has turned all the roads into quagmires, while the trenches are flooded and the lowlands everywhere are largely covered by water.

Everything possible is being done to make the troops comfortable to prevent their being flooded out of their trenches and to avoid cave-ins. The trenches are being shored and braced and the bottoms covered with brush and straw. Meanwhile the artillery battle continues.

The following story of the wiping out of 3,000 Germans comes from a wounded soldier from the Ypres front.

"The fighting at Ypres has been terrible in violence. For forty hours we fought foot to foot with the enemy, employing every resource of infantry and artillery.

On Sunday a regiment of 3,000 Germans attacked our position. At a distance of 300 yards our artillery opened a terrible fire and mowed them down. They recoiled but reformed and returned. This time they reached the hundred yard mark and again recoiled and reformed.

"With only a third of their original strength they advanced again. Our officers ordered us to hold our fire and let them advance to twenty yards. The order came to 'let them have it.' We did and the German regiment ceased to exist. In less than an hour 3,000 men had been exterminated."

FRENCH TAKING CAREFUL ACCOUNT OF DAMAGE DONE BY THE GERMAN INVADERS

St. Die, Department of Vosges, France, Nov. 17, Via Paris, 11 A. M.—The French government is taking careful account of the damage done by the German invaders to French property and of alleged offenses on the part of the enemy deemed to be in contravention of the Hague treaty defining the rules of war.

Various members of the Cabinet, including Premier Vivanti, Minister of Justice Briand, Minister of War Millerand and Minister of Finance Ribot, have visited towns and villages in the territories evacuated by the Germans and have made first hand inquiries along these lines. President Poincare, Gabriel Hanotaux, a former Cabinet officer, and Deputy Maurice Barres have done the same thing, and they are all convinced an enormous amount of property has been destroyed, the obliteration of which served no military purpose.

Minister Mollard is chairman of a commission now taking testimony in the St. Die region as to certain alleged offenses on the part of the invaders, as well as the identity of the individuals concerned.

The property losses undoubtedly will run into hundreds of millions of francs. The town of St. Die is an example. The German occupation lasted 15 days. During this time forty houses, valued at over 600,000 francs ($120,000), were burned, and there are many instances of pillage on record. The commissioner under M. Mollard distinguishes between damage resulting from bombardment and destruction without military object. St. Die has been subjected to intermittent bombardment for more than forty days.

FRENCHMAN SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR TREASON

Chalons-sur-Marne, Via Paris, Nov. 17, 5:15 A. M.—A Frenchman, Alfred Durot by name, has been sentenced to death by court-martial for treason.

During the battle which raged around Rheims on September 9 the French artillery operating near the village of Puisseux was subjected to a terrific bombardment by the Germans, no matter how often they changed their position. A careful watch was kept and it was discovered that a mile in front of the French batteries a shepherd was feeding his flock, among which were five snow white goats.

The shepherd was arrested and inquiries showed that during the German occupation of Puisseux he was the only inhabitant who had not been molested and that he had been given the white goats, whose presence was to signal the position of the French guns. Durot, at his trial, admitted his guilt.

WILLS, IN MAKE-UP OF A TRAMP, BRINGS LAUGHS

Widely Known Comedian Injects Lots of Fun in the New Orpheum Bill—The Program Includes Some Other Clever Numbers

Nat Wills, who heads a good bill at the Orpheum Theatre this week, could have used the conventional evening clothes he wore in the "Follies" but he did not, preferring to stick to the tramp role that has brought him fame in vaudeville. He is the same old Nat with new jokes and a bit of war stuff from his pals who are supposed to be at the front in the European fracas. His best turn is, of course, a parody—a new one in which his automobile figures—and it provides an opportunity for Nat to do full justice to his fun-making ability.

An aphasia victim, a four-day "jag" and a kleptomaniac are the basis of a plot of a one-act skit billed as "Married." It is decidedly funny. Homer B. Mason, as the "jag," comes home to his hotel room to find it occupied by Miss Marguerite Keeler, the aphasia victim. He comes to the conclusion that he has married during his period of forgetfulness due to overindulgence in drink and has no trouble in convincing the girl, who has suffered a total loss of memory for ten days. They fall in love and to make sure of everything they have a marriage ceremony performed by the kleptomaniac who turns out to be a clergyman.

The Berreus are accomplished musicians. Marie Fitzgibbons is a funny girl with a monologue without a song. Cole, Russell and Davis, two men and a girl, present a funny skit, "Waiters Wanted." Two acrobatic acts complete the bill.

PALMER SAYS HE'LL STICK

Denies He and Morris Plan to Reinquish Their Control of the Democratic Organization in State

The Philadelphia "Record" of today thus disposes of a story current in Democratic political circles to the effect that Congressman Palmer and Democratic State Chairman Morris are to retire as leaders of Pennsylvania Democracy.

"Definite announcement was made by reorganization leaders, yesterday, that Congressman Palmer proposes to continue as the Democratic State leader and Roland S. Morris as chairman of the State Committee for the next two years at least. Prominent Democrats have been hopeful that Palmer and Morris would retire as the initial step toward promoting harmony in the ranks, but the reorganizers now declare that these leaders intended to hold on firm to their present control of the party machinery.

"Close friends of Mr. Palmer declared that he was in no sense a seeker after a job from President Wilson, and was particularly disinclined to retire from politics by entering the District of Columbia judiciary. On behalf of Mr. Morris, it was declared, that he was equally unwilling to resign as State chairman, and thus desert his allies in the reorganization movement. The reorganizers plan to retain their grasp on the party machinery until 1916 at least, with the intention of controlling the Pennsylvania delegation to the next national convention. At the present time the reorganizers are well in control of the State Committee, and no serious effort to dislodge either Palmer or Morris is regarded as feasible."

FOOTBALL SQUAD ARRESTED

Clemson College Team Set Free After Blame Is Put on Coach

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 17.—The entire football squad of Clemson College, consisting of eighteen members, was arrested Sunday night by direction of the college authorities upon the return of the team from Richmond, Va., where it defeated the Virginia Military Institute on Saturday.

The offense charged against the players was absence from the college without permission. Upon investigation it was found that the coach of the team was to blame rather than the players, so the latter were set free yesterday. What punishment may be meted out to the coach is not disclosed.

THRUST ARM UNDER SAW

Lake Thus Saved Own Life When Machine Caught Sleeve

Atlantic City, Nov. 17.—David Lake saved his own life yesterday by thrusting his right arm under one of the circular saws in his mill at Pleasantville.

The saw had caught his coat sleeve with such a grip that it was dragging him under its teeth. He had but an instant in which to choose between certain death and the sacrifice of the sleeve arm. The twist he had to make put the arm in the path of the saw but cleared his body.

Help came after the sacrifice had been made and he was speeded here in an automobile. Doctors in the City hospital think he will recover.

As Jordan clambered into the back of the wagon his shotgun was accidentally discharged, the charge entering Menzie's back.

PENNSY EMPLOYEES LUCKY

One Man Drags 175 Pound Buck Three Miles to Station

Two employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Frank Stewart and "Mike" Kunkel, have returned from Black Log where each shot a buck deer and bagged fifteen pheasants and a number of rabbits. They are both members of the Shintown Hunting Club and they say that two other members of the club, Albert Tripp and George Drake, of Shintown, each got a buck.

A. Maxwell, of Sunbury, who went rabbit hunting on Saturday was unusually lucky as he killed a "four prong" buck weighing about 175 pounds.

He was three miles from the station at Millhall and had only an hour and a half to catch his train. He tugged his trophy single-handed to the station and got there minus a great portion of the hide of the buck, eight minutes before the train came.

SPY KNOWN IN BALTIMORE

"Baron Horst von der Goltz" Stayed at Hotel in That City

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 17.—The mysterious person arrested in London on Saturday, suspected of being a German spy, spoken of in cable dispatches as Horst von der Goltz and Bridgman Taylor and described as a Major in the Mexican army, was a guest at a local hotel on August 28. He registered as Major Baron Horst von der Goltz.

He then talked freely about himself and said he was Chief of Staff of General Ramon Madero, of Mexico, and a cousin of General Von der Goltz, the German Governor of Belgium. He was bitter in his denunciation of England and placed the blame for the war on England's desire to crush Germany so it could control the trade of the world.

York, Pa., Nov. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Spangler died from typhoid fever within a period of about two hours at their home in Dover yesterday. A young son is in a critical condition from the disease, which is prevalent in several sections of the county, due, it is believed, to the low water.

THE "ANTIQUE" CRAZE

Those of us who can afford it steal and borrow and beg the arms, the dress, the emotions of Greece and Rome. Too often we hang their rotting trophies upon our walls, ignorant of their origin, unacquainted with their meaning and not even sympathetic with the emotions that produced them, bent only upon the paltry respectability that their presence argues.—World's Work
