

BERLIN OBSERVES REPENTANCE DAY

Germans for the First Time Since Outbreak of War Are Deprived of Newspapers

JUBILANT OVER RUSSIAN DEFEATS

Details of the Capture of Valievo, Servia, by the Austrians, Given by a Press Correspondent—Over 6,000 Servians Taken Prisoners

Berlin, Nov. 19, via The Hague and London, 6 A. M.—For the first time since the outbreak of the war the Germans spent the day without their newspapers, the publication of which was suspended because of the religious Day of Repentance.

The streets of Berlin to-day were crowded with the customary throng, the crisp autumn having brought out a host of promenaders. The crowds were scarcely different from those seen in ordinary years and there seemed to be almost as many men as usual.

The "Neue Freie Presse" correspondent gives details of the capture of Valievo, Servia. The Austrians advanced in five columns, three of which arrived within cannon range early Sunday but the attack was delayed because of the slow progress of the other columns over a difficult terrain.

The attack began at 11 o'clock. The Austrians, despite vigorous resistance, enveloped the Servian left wing and drove it in. The right wing was small and only threatened by an outflanking movement from Roulabara and a devastating artillery fire completed the discomfiture of the Servians who, by 5 o'clock in the afternoon, were in full retreat on Arandjelovatz, abandoning fortifications on which they had worked for years and which were considered impregnable.

The Servians had no time to bring off or to destroy their guns or supplies, great quantities of which fell into the hands of the Austrians. Over 6,000 Servians were taken prisoners.

RUSSIAN FLEET PUT TO ROUT WITH TURKS IN HOT PURSUIT

Berlin, Nov. 19 (By Wireless to the Associated Press)—A Turkish fleet has engaged a Russian squadron composed of two battleships and five cruisers off Sebastopol, according to an official report reaching Berlin from Constantinople to-day.

One of the Russian battleships was seriously damaged, and the other vessels, with the Turkish ships in pursuit, fled to Sebastopol.

GOVERNOR OF METZ IS DEAD

London, Nov. 19, 4:43 A. M.—General Von Winterfeldt, the governor of Metz, died at Weisbaden after a short illness, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Reuter's Telegram Company.

BUILDS BRIDGES HIMSELF

Supervisor Messner Tells His Plan For Saving the Money of the County Taxpayers

Forty members to-day attended the annual convention of the Dauphin County Supervisors' Association which was held in the Grand Jury room of the court house. Half a dozen addresses were made during the morning session, all dealing with road and bridge building and maintenance.

The officers all were re-elected by acclamation as follows: President, E. D. Messner, Upper Paxton township; first vice president, J. K. Zoll, Derry township; second vice president, C. F. Harman, Wayne township; secretary, I. F. Bogner, Middle Paxton township; treasurer, George Augst, Lower Paxton township.

Chairman Messner, who reminded the fellow supervisors that "I am a talkative Dutchman," delighted the assemblage with chatty talks on his experience as a supervisor in the upper end of the county. One way to learn whether the roads are bad or good, he said, is to accept an invitation to ride in an automobile owned and driven by a man "who is always kicking for better roads."

Mr. Messner had the experience, he said, and he had his ups and downs—not pleasant ones—when he went over the breakers.

The chairman said he was elected to a six-year term as supervisor by a margin of but ten votes and he added: "The next thing I knew everybody was asking me about the good roads I advocated."

He added that he jumped into the work and hustled and refused to let contractors make a profit on bridges that had to be built in his district. "By doing the work myself." Three bridges were constructed for less than $1,000 through that method, he said, and he declared they would have cost much more if a contractor built them, after bidding on the jobs.

John C. Nisley, an attorney and Assemblyman-elect from the Second district, said: "I will do all in my power to have your wants satisfied."

F. D. Bosch, president of the Harrisburg Motor Club, talked on "Good Roads." Other speakers were N. J. G. Riland, of Reed township; J. K. Zoll, of Derry, and J. W. Hunter, first deputy to the State Highway Commissioner.

USE DYNAMITE TO STOP FIRE

One Man Dead and $250,000 Worth of Property Destroyed in Blaze at Girardville

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 19.—Fire which caused the death of one man and the loss of $250,000 worth of property and stock, was finally got under control at Girardville this morning by the use of dynamite and the intervention of a large brick building after the water supply of that drought-affected section had become exhausted.

In all fourteen buildings, used as store rooms and residences combined, were completely destroyed. The fire companies from a half dozen surrounding towns sent assistance and water was pumped from the black coal dirt creek which flows through the town. One man is believed to have had his back broken. Several dead may be under the ruins, one having thus far been recovered burned to a crisp and his identity not established.

$40,000 FIRE AT MILLHEIM

Bellefonte, Nov. 19.—A big part of the business section of the borough of Millheim was destroyed by a fire to-day, the second time within a few years. The fire broke out at 3 a. m. and burned until 8, destroying ten business places and residences and damaging several others.

CONVICT TO HIT THE TRAIL

At Stough Service in Jail This Morning Man Promises to Go to Tabernacle

The first of a series of weekly services to be held by Stough campaign workers at the Dauphin County jail was held there at 9 o'clock this morning. After addresses had been made, prayers offered, and hymns sung, one of the prisoners drew a member of the party to him and said, "I'll be out of this jail in several days, and then I'm coming up to hit the trail."

The prisoners were stirred by the service, some of them sobbing audibly. No converts were called for, but invitations may later be extended for the convicts to profess Christianity.

The service this morning consisted of addresses by Miss Sara Palmer and H. K. W. Patterson, vocal solos by Professor D. L. Spooner and Mrs. C. E. Hillis, and hymns sung by seventy-five members of the tabernacle choir, men and women. W. W. Shannon led in prayer.

INSURANCE AGAINST ACCIDENT

Isaac Miller Harrisburg Representative of Great Corporation

The story of the General Accident Corporation is one of a successful engagement covering a period of at least 35 years.

Isaac Miller, with offices at Second and Walnut streets, fourteen years ago, became the Harrisburg representative of this great corporation. Many of our residents have been covered by its protection, year after year by its policies. The local list of patrons include the best and most conservative risks in Central Pennsylvania.

This corporation and the Harrisburg agency has won continued favor from its patrons on account of its fairness and promptness in dealings with them.

Patrick T. Sullivan Again Files Request to Move From Park Zone

With his hotel at 727-729 State street, within the zone soon to be taken over by the State for the new Capitol Park, Patrick T. Sullivan to-day filed with the Prothonotary an application for the transfer of his retail liquor license to 1819 North Third street, in Eleventh ward. The Court will pass on the application on December 8.

CHAUFFEUR FINED $15

Joseph Alberts Charged With Reckless Running on River Bridge

Joseph Alberts, chauffeur of a Packard car, who is charged with speeding across the Market street bridge last evening and striking a buggy on the Cumberland side of the bridge, was fined $15 by Mayor Royal in police court this afternoon. After the accident the Packard was chased by Robert H. Irons in another machine.

Frank Winger and William Funk were in the buggy. They reported to the police station after the accident, saying that they were almost thrown over the rail of the bridge into the water. A wheel was torn from the buggy. Alberts paid the fine.

AUTO CATCHES ON FIRE

Washie Driver Makes Short Work of It With Hand Extinguisher

A clutch on a touring car belonging to Clayton Wagner, of Derry Church, caught fire this morning at 8 o'clock while the machine was standing at Second and Chestnut streets.

George Pratt, driver for the Washington Hose Company, saw the smoke from under the hood of the car and, taking a hand extinguisher, made short work of the blaze, which had already caught the dashboard and was going toward the gasoline tank. The machine was not damaged much.

FIRE AT DAUPHIN LAST NIGHT

(Special to the Star-Independent.) Dauphin, Nov. 19.—A small building on Canal street, used by a number of boys as a "den," caught fire last evening and was entirely destroyed. It is supposed that the blaze was caused by an overheated stove. The Dauphin Fire Company responded to the alarm.

CARRANZA TROOPS TAKEN BY VILLA

2,000 Voluntarily Surrender as Latter Capture Leon and Other Garrisons Along Line

MARCHING ON TO MEXICO CAPITAL

American Consular Agent Carothers, With Villa, Reports There Has Been No Fighting Since Southern Movement Began and Predicts None

Washington, Nov. 19.—Two thousand Carranza troops voluntarily surrendered to General Villa when he took Leon and other garrisons all along the line are changing allegiance to the Northern chief, as he marches on toward Mexico City.

American Consular Agent Carothers, with Villa, reported there had been no fighting since the southward movement began and ventured his opinion that there would be no hostilities because the rank and file of the Constitutional army seemed to favor Villa.

Leon was taken yesterday without the firing of a shot and other reports tell of the capture of Tlapaco, and Guanajuato, also without resistance.

No report was received here of the alleged interruption by Villa of the telegraphic conferences between General Gutierrez and General Gonzalez but it was thought in official quarters that Villa had ordered all telegraphic communication with the troops south of him to cease so that the enemy would be unable to learn of the coming of his forces.

The general expectation in official circles to-day was that General Villa would reach Mexico City without much difficulty, fighting perhaps one battle as his troops clashed with those of Obregon or Gonzalez near the capital.

Mexico City, Nov. 19.—It is reported here that General Carranza has declared Oszoboa, the new capital of the new republic, Mexico City despite the dispatch of troops to the north to meet the forces of General Villa, is quiet, but a feeling of tenseness prevails.

No train arrived here from Vera Cruz last night. It is reported that railroad traffic has been stopped at Esperanza but the reason for it is not known here.

MISSING LINKS IN TURKISH INCIDENT

Some naval officers have urged that the cruisers be withdrawn.

Officials believed, however, that missionary interests for which the cruisers were dispatched to Turkish waters might insist the vessels be retained as a moral force making for the protection of the American missions and interests.

Ambassador Morgenthau had been directed to inquire of the Turkish government why land forces had fired on the Tennessee's launch as it steamed from Vourlah to Smyrna to investigate conditions at which B. Leslie Potter, and the commanders of the Tennessee and her sister ship, North Carolina, in nearby waters, had instructions to make no move that might embarrass the Washington government.

President Wilson was determined that the United States should not become involved in trouble with Turkey and confidence was expressed that if the Turkish officers had acted without authority of their government or the firing was unjustified by naval procedure that the Porte would apologize.

Secretary Daniels summed up his view of the incident by declaring he believed detailed reports would show that the firing was intended as a friendly warning to prevent the launch from entering mined waters.

The Tennessee to-day was at Chios harbor.

Protection and friendship for American citizens in Turkey frequently have been pledged by the Porte, but since that time the United States has assumed charge of diplomatic interests of the allies, with whom Turkey is now at war, resulting in conditions marked by delicate responsibility. Activities by some Mohammedan leaders caused apprehension on the part of the Americans, as well as French and British subjects, and that was reported by the United States Consul at Smyrna to Ambassador Morgenthau.

When an investigation of conditions at the consulate was determined upon the Tennessee stood off at Vourlah and sent a launch on the way to Smyrna. Under navy regulations, he was said, Captain Decker would have been justified in attempting to enter the harbor and inquire into affairs at the consulate, regardless of whether Smyrna port was closed or not.

Apparently, however, he did not continue on his way to Smyrna, but belief was expressed that had the consulate been in imminent danger the Tennessee would not have left the vicinity.

To Select Eagles' Meeting Place Howard O. Holstein, president of the State Aerie of Eagles, will attend a meeting of the State board of officers next Monday at Altoona to select the place for the next meeting of the State Aerie, York, Allentown and Altoona are bidding for the honor.

Three Suffer Fines Thomas Henderson, colored, who runs a restaurant at 112 Short street; F. B. Rose and Harry Handshaw were fined $5 by Mayor Royal in police court this afternoon. They were arrested under a disorderly practice charge.

HIGH SCHOOLS WILL GIVE YELLS AT THE TABERNACLE

Central and Tech Students to March From Their Buildings to Services in Big Street Demonstration To-morrow Night

To-morrow night will perhaps be the biggest night of the week at the Stough tabernacle. It will be high school night. There will be high school yells, high school pennants and, no doubt, high school trail-hitters. A football game won't be in it with to-morrow night's demonstration, according to the plans of Music Director Spooner, who, with Miss Saxman, has the event in charge.

Invitations to high school students of both Central and Tech to attend the meeting were extended by Prof. Spooner yesterday. He was not granted permission to address the students during school hours, but spoke at the Tabernacle Baptist church, across the street from the Central High school building, to students of both morning and afternoon sessions at Central, and in the Tech auditorium after the dismissal of school there.

A thousand students, boys and girls, are expected to turn out to-morrow night. Those from Central will meet in front of their building, and those from Tech in front of theirs. Prof. Spooner, in an automobile, will start both parades. The students will march to the tabernacle singing school songs, giving school yells, blowing horns and flying pennants—anything to attract attention.

Central will enter on one side of the tabernacle and Tech on the other. Seats will be reserved for the members in front of the building. After they enter they will be in charge of the meeting for a short time, giving their songs and their yells.

Many of the Technical High school students aided in covering the roof of the tabernacle, and boys and girls from Central High school have taken a considerable part in campaign activities.

33 CENTS CAUSE AUDITORS WORRY

part of two days in a successful search for the errors. Only after a complete examination of something like 2,500 accounts, and at least two revisions of those same items, did they obtain figures that coincide with the treasurer's balances.

The Hunt for 33 Cents In one instance the record differed from the amount of a voucher by six cents; another showed a loss of twenty-five cents and in two other cases the difference was but one cent.

Other items which the auditors referred to as "bungling" were record charges of one amount while the voucher, issued under the same date and number, exceeded that amount by $2.

These errors occurred principally in the books of the Department of the Poor, so an auditor said. While a former clerk to the Poor Board, now dead, was in office according to the record, the record showed that the vouchers were not entered either in chronological or numerical order. In two instances vouchers—the largest one calling for $52.75—were not entered in the record.

This so-called "slippage" according to an auditor, not only showed that the amount of cash in the outstanding warrant "fund" differed from that indicated by the official records, but caused the auditors days of worry and work. In at least four instances—the auditors say there are even more—the records show that relief vouchers for $2 were granted to individuals by the Directors of the Poor in 1913 and that the vouchers bearing the corresponding numbers indicated that $4 was allowed.

The other hand, according to the auditors, persons received $2 relief orders and the record indicated they received $4. These were said to be errors made in transcribing.

No Evidence of Fraud Errors in recording the numbers and amounts of vouchers also occurred while William A. McIlhenny was clerk to the Poor Board, the auditors said. Mr. McIlhenny this morning explained to the auditors that it was due to the antique system which was in vogue in 1913. He said the vouchers were signed by the Board and some were handed out before proper entry was made in the official record. Notations were made, he said, and errors were made in the transcribing.

However, with all the errors, the auditors' balances, they said, will not show anything that would cause suspicion of fraud. They added that, while some of the accounts do not appear in the proper order, they have been discovered and the report should ultimately correspond with the County Treasurer's figures.

The auditors now are working on the dog tax reports, in which discrepancies have been discovered.

TENEMENTS MUST GO, SAYS DIXON

vania being represented. Many prominent labor officials were on hand. The Welfare Section of the conference held its session in the House caucus room this morning, the big room being crowded to hear Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, Commissioner of Health, make an address on "Housing Condition."

This is a subject to which Dr. Dixon has devoted a great deal of study. Dr. Dixon said in part: "The term 'Housing Conditions' must have been a broad definition. If our labors are to be thorough we must follow the man, woman and child through the twenty-four hours of the day, where they sleep, where they eat, where they play, in the school room, in the church, in the work room and in the hospitals.

All Need Health Education I have found little wooden shacks loosely constructed with plenty of knots and furnished with large sashes that have been more sanitary than some of the large houses. Our people in all circles of life want to be educated in health measures. In the last few years small houses have been much improved in appearance, which has its moral effect, yet, these small dwellings are too often heated with direct steam or hot water plants. The old shacks when kept clean were often more healthful. Some of the foreigners who come to this country for a short time with the idea of saving all they make so that they may return home with their little fortunes, will have to be deprived of the miserable tenement house accommodations as they are breeders of disease. In some of these places the mattresses never get cold as one shift follows close on the heels of the other. Such housing will have to be broken up and better homes built.

In facing this broad problem, one of our greatest aids is education. People must be taught to use the homes which they have or the best possible advantage and they must in turn become missionaries to teach others.

This is a great work and the efforts of the State must not be too paternal. It will not do to say that the people must build a certain type of house. We can, however, say that certain things must be avoided which would injure the health of the individual in the community. Individuals, municipalities and nations must be their 'Brothers' keepers.'

It is a mistake to discourage initiative. Permit everyone to build with only the limitation of that which will directly or indirectly reflect upon some one else.

Housing Problems of the Poor Our tuberculosis nurses working in every community in the State have become familiar with the housing problems and needs of the poor people. The work of our health officers in the rural districts and boroughs lead them to those places where there is a need for improvement. Our school inspectors have under their supervision the structures in which our children spend so large a portion of their time.

The work of the Housing Bureau has dovetailed in with the other work which is being done by our little army of workers throughout the State. Under this growing system it offers an economical and effective method of handling the work with practically the same overhead charges and saves duplication of machinery and the overlapping of responsibilities.

The safety section of the conference met in the Senate Chamber, C. L. Close, of the United States Steel Corporation, presiding, and the following program was carried out:

Discussed Safety Topics "Uniform Boiler Code," Thomas Durban, Erie City Iron Works, Erie; Milton Snellings, vice president International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers; discussion, C. F. Jetter, supervising inspector, Hartford Steam Boiler Insurance Company; James A. Moyer, professor of Mechanical Engineering, Pennsylvania State College.

"Suggested Regulations for Blast Furnace Operation," E. H. Wilcox, United States Bureau of Mines, Washington, D. C.; discussion, L. H. Burnett, Carnegie Steel Company, Pittsburgh; "Proposed Electrical Code," Dr. E. B. Rosa, Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C.; F. J. McNulty, president International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; discussion, Duncan Campbell, manager, Scranton Electric Company; Charles L. Kinslow, professor of electrical engineering, Pennsylvania State College; "The Safe Use of Explosives," Harrison Souder, superintendent, Cornwall Ore Banks Company, Cornwall, Pa.; discussion, H. G. Hasdell, Dupont Powder Company, Wilmington, Del.; Elton D. Walker, professor of hydraulic and sanitary engineering, Pennsylvania State College.

The hygiene section met in the hall of the House, Dr. Alice Hamilton, of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, presiding, and the following program was observed:

"Lead Poisoning," the chairman; James J. Freil, president Stereotypers and Electrotypers International Union; "Correction of Lead Poisoning," Dr. Francis D. Patterson, director of Department of Sanitation and Accident Prevention, Harrison Brothers & Company, Inc., Electric Storage Battery Company, and the J. G. Brill Company, Philadelphia; James J. Freil, president Stereotypers and Electrotypers International Union; discussion, Abel Wetherill, Wetherill & Brothers, Philadelphia; "Brass Foundry Poisoning," Dr. Randall Zimmerman, Westinghouse Air Brake Company, Wilmerding; discussion, Charles H. Witham, business agent International Molders' Union of North America; M. Griswold, Jr., manager General Electric Company, Erie.

At Chestnut Street Hall The "safety first" show in Chestnut street hall is increasing in popularity, 1,700 persons having been admitted yesterday. It was the greatest single day's crowd since the show opened and the remaining two days.

Some manufacturing firms that could not get space in this year's show are so pleased with visits here that they are eager to engage space for next year. Some of the present exhibitors are eager to increase their space for the next show. The managers used every available inch of space for this exhibition and cannot figure on a bigger one for next year because of lack of space for exhibition purposes. But eighty-five exhibitors could be accommodated this year, as against 125 last year.

Special concerts are given each afternoon and evening by Udegrove's orchestra.

The Harrisburg Light & Power Company's exhibit is attracting much attention. The method of lighting the company's booth is unusual in that illumination is furnished by every type of incandescent lamp from a wee 2-candlepower bulb to a great 1,000-watt new type "C" high efficiency light. Next to the illumination, the electrical appliance demonstrations arouse most interest. Most any household duty from ironing and washing to toasting bread and boiling coffee is demonstrated and the methods whereby these little trials and tribulations of the housewife may be made easier by use of electricity are shown in practical ways.

To Demonstrate Fire Extinguisher To-morrow afternoon a demonstration of a patent fire extinguisher will be given at the rear of the Capitol, close to the Mt. Vernon Hook and Ladder Company's quarters, under the supervision of the State Fire Marshal, Joseph L. Bawin. The demonstration is being given to show to business men the importance of having some reliable fire extinguisher in their places of business. The public is invited to attend.
