AMUSEMENTS

MAJESTIC TO-night, "The Garden of Girls," (Barriquet).

To-morrow afternoon and evening, "The Yellow Ticket."

Tuesday evening, December 1, "The Dummy."

ORPHEUM Every afternoon and evening, high class vaudeville.

COLONIAL Daily continuous vaudeville and pictures.

"The Garden of Girls" Snitz Moore and George B. Scanlon's burlesque classic, "The Garden of Girls," is the burlesque attraction at the Majestic this afternoon and evening. It is sufficient to say that Snitz Moore and George B. Scanlon, the well-known comedians, have provided themselves with a most humorous theatrical vehicle in two acts. It is said that they are even funnier than before. A newcomer to the field of burlesque is Miss Alva McGill, the Parisian nightingale, who heretofore has appeared with only the best of musical comedy. Others in the presenting company are Harvey Greene, Florence Fletcher, Shaw and Lee, Heloise Horton, Martha (Marcita) Edmond, Beatrice La Due, Edna Lee and others. A book full of witty lines and intensely funny situations is provided.

"The Yellow Ticket" A. H. Woods, who produced "Within the Law," will bring to the Majestic to-morrow, matinee and night, a new play by Michael Morton, one of England's best known playwrights. It is entitled "The Yellow Ticket" and three acts are laid in St. Petersburg, of the present day. The leading characters are taken from official and diplomatic circles in the great Russian capital. Mr. Morton wishes to make clear the fact that while the scenes of his play are laid in Russia, his is not a Russian play in the sense of being made up from the usual ingredients that go to the writing of Russian dramas. "The Yellow Ticket" has to do with life in modern Russia. It tells the story of a young Russian woman, Marya Varenka, who comes into the possession of the yellow ticket issued by the secret police of St. Petersburg for the protection of social outcasts. "The Yellow Ticket" has had a run of over a year at the Eltinge theatre. Fletcher Harney will have the role of "Baron Stepan Andrew," head of the Russian secret police; Leonard Ide will play Julian Rolfe, a young American newspaper man, while Miss Zola Teimzart will appear as Marya. adv. ***

"The Dummy" A boy called Barney Cook, who comes from the Bowery, is just now centering the affection of an amused and interested public in "The Dummy," which is coming to the Majestic Tuesday evening. He is younger than Nick Carter, and smarter than Puck-nerry Finn, but he bears close kinship to both of them as a real type of universal boyhood, to be given the glad hand of recognition by every man who has ever been a boy. Barney Cook is a Western Union messenger boy whose eager dream of life is to be a "detective." He has the wisdom of the streets, the loyalty of a hero worshiper, a Bowery vocabulary and the heart of a gentleman—and he is just fourteen. Don't miss him when he comes here, for "The Dummy" is something more than Barney Cook, a great bit detective play with thrills and thrill for the grown-up public and the laughmaker of the year. But, incidentally, when the evening's entertainment is over, and the date is past, you'll remember Barney Cook as a piece of your own youth tucked into to-day and not soon forgotten. Don't miss "The Dummy"—New York laughed over it from one season to the next.

At the Colonial In conjunction with the regular performances of the Thanksgiving bill that came to the Busy Corner yesterday, there will be a special surprise feature introduced at to-night's show. This will be a second installment of "tango night" that found so much favor there two weeks ago. Professor Alles, of Atlantic City, and his dancing partner, Miss Smith, will be in charge of the contest. In fact, an interesting stunt will be injected in this afternoon's performance when these two dancers will invite persons in the audience upon the stage to join in a dancing class and at this time Mr. Alles and Miss Smith will give free dancing instructions. The real dancing contest, however, does not take place until the evening show. A varied vaudeville offering of fine Keith hits and excellent attractions in motion pictures were inaugurated at the Busy Corner yesterday and they will remain there for the remainder of the week.

At the Orpheum The Orpheum's Thanksgiving bill has made a hit. Local vaudeville fans are reveling in the lay-out of talent which also speaks volumes for the excellence of the holiday bill. Comedy, novelty, variety are happily blended and all of them are meritorious—so that there is nothing to be desired after witnessing the current offering. Next week at the Orpheum, Captain Sorcho and his deep sea divers will give a thrilling exhibition of the dangers that confront those who follow submarine work.

It will be recalled that in 1898 Captain Sorcho was especially engaged by the United States government to recover the bodies of the nation's heroes who lost their lives in the Maine disaster. At that time he recovered one hundred and thirty-two bodies. The entire exhibition takes place in a huge steel tank every action of the divers being plainly visible from any part of the house. adv. ***

NOTE—The title "The Dummy" may be confusing to some patrons prior to witnessing the performance. Therefore, the following explanation is offered.

"The Dummy" is an absorbing story of a typical American youth who impersonates a deaf mute to recover a kidnapped girl from a gang of most sympathetic crooks. It is very exciting and very funny.

HARRISBURG is to have the original company, without change, which played 200 nights at the Hudson theatre, New York City, to crowds of Manhattan's most cultured and critical playgoers. "The Dummy" makes a general appeal. It delights alike patrons of the orchestra, balcony and gallery.
