DOINGS ON THANKSGIVING DAY IN THE BOROUGH

Croatians Danced and Contributed Funds to Croatian Red Cross—Collections at Union Thanksgiving Service Given to Charities Work

Croatian Hall, Second and Washington streets, was crowded last evening with many Croatians who assembled to hear a fine program which was rendered by pupils of St. Mary's Parochial schools. At the close of the program a dance was held, the proceeds to be devoted to the Croatian Red Cross fund. At Centenary United Brethren church the collection lifted at the annual Union Thanksgiving service amounted to $17 which was turned over to the treasurer of the local Associated Charities committee to-day for the relief of the destitute. The Rev. S. H. Rainey, rector of Trinity P. E. church, delivered the sermon. Other ministers present at this service were the Rev. G. W. Getz, Main Street Church of God; the Rev. C. F. Tiemann, Trinity German Lutheran, and the Rev. J. H. Royer, First Methodist Episcopal church.

Another Big Shipment of "Klavicle" Overcoats Just Received From Kuppenheimer

One touch of winter has given all Central Pennsylvania Klavicle-itis. No overcoat ever scored such a tremendous success before. But thanks to our foresight, and to the unequalled facilities of the great House of Kuppenheimer, we're able to supply the phenomenal demand for this marvelous coat which has swept everything before it the country over.

The "Klavicle" Is a Handsome Coat

It comes in a wide variety of both foreign and domestic novelties, in rich Elysians, fancy Cheviots and sturdy Worumbos. The deep velvet collar of harmonious shade, the wide rolling lapels, the cuffs on the sleeves, the patch pockets with flaps and the real South American buffalo horn buttons, in natural colors, all serve to enrich and beautify this fascinating overgarment.

The "Klavicle" Is a Peculiar Coat

The entire back and both sleeves are one single, seamless piece of cloth. This together with the faultless Kuppenheimer tailoring, results in a certain graceful drape and hang possessed by no other overcoat in the world. Countless other makers have tried to produce a coat like the Klavicle, but without success. Only the most expert designing and finest of tailoring can produce a Klavicle.

The Klavicle is the greatest overcoat achievement of the greatest overcoat makers in America—The House of Kuppenheimer—and is sold in Harrisburg by this Live Store exclusively at Crumlich and Barr for the Station Stars. All members of the local United Brethren Sunday school are urged to meet at the church this evening at 6.45 o'clock to take special cars for Harrisburg and join other Sunday schools in services at the tabernacle, where Dr. Stough will deliver the address.

Earl G. Kramer, North Second street, has purchased the grocery store of the late A. R. Hess and took possession of his purchase last Monday.

The choir of the First Reformed church will hold its weekly rehearsal this evening at 8 o'clock.

Members of Paxtang Tribe No. 243, I. O. R. M., are requested to meet at the hall Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock to attend the funeral of George Conklin in a body.

The Epworth League of the First Methodist church yesterday included in the Thanksgiving contribution of the church members two large barrels packed with canned fruits, jellies and preserves for the Methodist hospital in Philadelphia.

A foreigner, who gave his name as Smith, was arrested last evening by High Constable Bomgardner for fighting on the West Side. He was locked up pending a hearing.

Oscar Stevenson, proprietor of a North Front street barber shop, last evening surprised Clarence E. Moten when he forced an entry to the shop and held him at the point of a revolver until Detective Durnbaugh arrived. The detective placed Moten in the lockup. For several evenings Stevenson had been robbed of the change left in his cash drawer.

Quo Vadis—The Imperial Banquet. The story is laid in Rome during the reign of Nero, the last of the Caesars. Pitilessly cruel and knowing neither honor or morality, he ruled an absolute despot, surrounded by courtiers who feared and flattered him in a desperate contest for his favor.

The opening scene pictures the interior of the luxurious baths of Petronius, one of Nero's favorites. Vintius tells his uncle Petronius of his love for Lygia, the beautiful ward of Annius Plautius, a Roman general. Petronius offers to gain the assistance of the Emperor in behalf of his nephew. This great drama will be magnificently portrayed in motion pictures at the Standard Theatre Saturday evening.

UNFAITHFUL WIFE SUICIDE

Shoots Herself After Spouse Returns Unexpectedly

New York, Nov. 27.—Joseph Grant stepped from a train in from Pittsburgh at the Pennsylvania station and hurried to No. 66 West Ninth street, where his young wife, Minnie, has been living, while he has been working in Pittsburgh and saving his money, hoping to fit up a new home for her there. Grant hoped to surprise his wife by returning unexpectedly to spend Thanksgiving with her.

The door was opened by Mrs. Grant, who, seeing her husband, screamed and tried to bar him out, but he was too quick for her. In the room set a well-dressed young man—a stranger to Grant.

The husband demanded an explanation. The stranger offered to take a walk with him and explain. On the street he told Grant that he had known Mrs. Grant for some months, but would go into no details. The two parted at the Hotel Brevoort and Grant returned to his wife.

He found her unconscious on the floor. There was a bullet wound in her temple and by her lay a revolver, which Grant had never seen before.

She was taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where she died at 6.30 o'clock Wednesday night. Grant told the police he had sent her money regularly and a few days ago enclosed her $30. She appeared depressed in the letter she wrote him thanking him for this money, and he decided to come to her.

Drowns Self in Bathtub. Caroline Weaver, 55 years old, an inmate at the almshouse, committed suicide in the bathroom of that institution Wednesday night. She ran water into the bathtub and drowned herself.

She was a habitual user of morphine, officials declare, and Coroner Eckinger blames her nervous condition from the use of that drug for her suicide.

NOVEL DEMONSTRATION OF DEEP SEA DIVING

TO BE GIVEN AT ORPHEUM NEXT WEEK

Captain Louis Sorcho, the expert deep sea diver, who was employed by the United States government in 1898 to recover the dead bodies from the sunken Maine, will appear at the Orpheum Theatre next week in an act that is unique in vaudeville.

The celebrated diver carries a large tank, with glass front, in which he demonstrates the hazards and possibilities of submarine work.

An entire carload of paraphernalia is carried to put this act on in realistic fashion. An interesting part of the captain's demonstration is the showing of the submarine telephone, which is his own invention.

Captain Sorcho carries with him a devil-fish that he encountered and bested in a fight beneath the surface of the ocean. The fish measures 18 feet from tip to tip of its tentacles.

A big show of high-class vaudeville is grouped about this novel feature for next week's bill.—Adv.
