EX-CONSUL'S WIFE BEGGAR Husband Declares He Was United States Official in Constantinople—Cries 'Mistake!' New York, Nov. 27.—A neatly groomed woman and girl were standing at One Hundred and Sixtieth street and Broadway when Charles O'Hara of No. 545 West One Hundred and Sixtieth street ran up to Patrolman O'Neill of the West One Hundred and Fifty-second Street Police Station and said: 'I want that woman and child arrested. The child has been begging and I have reason to believe that the woman has been making her do it.' O'Hara said that Sunday night the child, who is about twelve years old, called at his house with a note, which read: 'My father is out of work; my mother is sick. Please help me.' 'I gave her a quarter,' O'Hara said, 'and because she was so well dressed I followed her and saw her join a well dressed woman. I learned that the child had been to a number of homes in the neighborhood, and last night, when I saw them together again, I decided it was my duty to report the case to the police.' The woman and child were taken to the station house, where the former said she was Mrs. Malama Demetriade, forty of No. 545 West One Hundred and Fifty-ninth street. She said the child is her niece, Fervonia Alexander, who came here from Greece two years ago, and lives with her. While the two were being arraigned Demetriade, the woman's husband, rushed in. He heard that his wife was charged with corrupting the morals of a minor, and that his niece was accused of being a juvenile delinquent because she had begged. 'That is not true,' he said excitedly. 'I am a responsible man and my wife a responsible woman. I was Deputy Consul General for the United States at Constantinople under the administrations of Cleveland, McKinley and Roosevelt. I am an author and have written several books, and am not a beggar by any means.' In spite of his protests the woman was held and the child sent to the Children's Society.

TRIES ON SHOE; BREAKS RIBS Obliging Dealer Tells His Customer to 'Push Hard' Turbotville, Pa., Nov. 27.—When John Bartlow went into William Gritter's shoe store here yesterday he found a pair he liked, but they fitted a little tight, and he could not get into one. Gritter seated himself on a low chair, took hold of an upper and bade his customer 'push hard.' He did, and Gritter's hold slipped, the heel of the new shoe striking him a hard blow over the heart. When the doctor arrived he declared that Gritter had suffered three broken ribs and possibly other internal injuries, and directed him to go to bed.

BOY'S WIRELESS ANNOYS SHIPS Boston Youth Arrested After Complaint of British Shippers Boston, Nov. 27.—British merchant steamers plying about Massachusetts Bay and even further out have been annoyed by repeated wireless calls, evidently sent out by an amateur. He had a powerful outfit, Federal officers say.

CAT FAILS TO AWAKEN FRIEND Man Found Dead in Hut Where Once Stood His Costly Home Beacon, N. Y., Nov. 27.—A black cat jumped on the couch of David Grey in his hotel at Leetown, near Stormville, Dutchess county, and rubbed his nose against the guest's, bony hand of his master. He wanted to attract his master's attention to a visitor who had forced open the door. The visitor was the Coroner, but Grey did not move. He was dead. Grey, who was at least 80 years old, had lived for many years alone in his hut. He had been the owner of a costly residence which he built near by when he arrived in Leetown some twenty-three years ago from New York. After that burned down Grey built himself a hut that with each year became more dilapidated. There he lived alone, speaking to no one except his black cat. It is said that he wanted to be alone because he had endured many sorrows. He received no callers. He plodded into town alone to buy provisions, and when he returned he always found the cat waiting for him near the road by the hut. The reclus had not been seen for several days and the attention of the Coroner was called. Coroner Day's investigation revealed $600 in cash, $700 in checks and three bank books showing deposits of about $12,000 in all. Apparently the aged man has no relatives and his only mourner and heir is the black cat.
