HOLLENBACK CERTAINLY WELL EARNED HIS SALARY

Rarely Has an Indicator Holder Been Called on to Make so Many Closes Decisions as Referee of Thursday's Game

J. C. Hollenback, the able official who refereed the game between Tech and Central Thursday, never had such a hard job in his life, according to stories he told his friends in this city after the struggle was over.

It all depended on the point of view, the school one favored you if you choose, whether you thought the speedy quarterback of the Central High school eleven was crowded off the sidelines before he really touched the goal line, or whether you thought he went over the line just a trifle before being forced out of bounds.

The referee absolutely without bias decided that Rote scored the touchdown and fair minded fans around the oval accepted the referee's decision on the play. There is some dispute over Hout's recovering the fumble in this period that gave Central High a great chance for a score.

He had to be firm and withal a diplomatist of no mean ability, this last especially when Rote's touchdown was scored. Coaches substituted and some outsiders crowded around to listen to his decision. It was given with a crispness and determination that meant business and gave the spectators to understand just what he meant.

A LULL IN ACTIVE MAJOR FOLLOWING FOOTBALL CLOSE

Selections of All-American Teams to Hold the Boards Now for a Time Until Baseball Magnates Begin Work for Next Season

New York, Nov. 28.—Following the annual Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia this afternoon will come the usual selection of all-American, all-Eastern and all-Western teams for the season of 1914. The adherents of the two United States Academy teams will await these mythical combinations with more than usual interest this season since both the Annapolis and West Point teams include players thought by their admirers to be of all-American calibre.

Last year the Army and Navy each succeeded in placing a player on the team considered by football followers in general to be the nearest approach to an official eleven. Brown, of the Cadets' team, was placed at right guard and Merrill, of the Middies, at right end. This brought the total up to ten for the period extending from 1901 to 1913. Bunker, the Army's right tackle, and Daly, quarterback in 1901, were the first service players to make the all-American team. Daly had, however, made the teams of 1898 and 1899 while playing quarter for Harvard.

In 1902 the Cadets were again represented by Bunker, who was placed at right halfback in that year. Two years later the Army's famous center Tipton was the unanimous choice of the experts for the position of passer back of the ball. Three years elapsed before an academy player was again mentioned and then the Navy placed Dague, left end of the 1907 combination, on the eleven while Erwin, the Army's right guard, was also named. It was not until 1911 that the Service football men made the all-American team again. In that year the two academies divided honors, the Army's center being at right tackle and Dalton of the Navy at fullback. As a result the count stands at present Army, 7; Navy, 3.

With the passing of football there comes a lull in the active major sports of the nation but the fans composing the Winter Baseball League will keep interest alive even though the magnates break all precedence by imitating the Sphinx. With Organized Baseball, the Players' Fraternity and the Federal League all offering fuel there should be no need of fanning the flames. In fact all signs point to one of the liveliest seasons of indoor baseball in a decade.

Although the echoes of the World's Series are just dying away the magnates, managers and players are already planning for the 1915 campaign. Regardless of the possibility of sensational changes in ownership and circuit, arrangements for the spring training trip of a number of the clubs have already been made. The Chicago Nationals will work out the winter stiffness at Tampa, Fla., beginning on March 1; the St. Louis Nationals have selected Hot Wells, Texas, as their spring camp and the New York Nationals will return to Marlin, Texas, for the third season.

The Boston Nationals, champions of the baseball universe, have decided to prepare for the 1915 pennant race at Hot Springs, Ark., and will have company in the Boston Americans and some of the Pittsburgh Nationals for a time at least. The Pirates will spend a portion of the time at Dawson Springs, Ky., while the Detroit Americans are scheduled to return to Gulfport, Miss., reporting late in February. The Philadelphia Nationals are expected to winter up at St. Petersburg, Fla., and the other clubs have either signed renewals for their former camps or are selecting new training quarters.

At a recent meeting of the swimming authorities of the Conference Colleges of the Middle West, the coaches recommended the adoption of water basketball as a regular conference sport, the games to be played in connection with the dual meets. At the conference meet the two teams having the highest record in the number of games won will compete for the conference championship. Captains will be elected for the water basketball teams in each school, as well as for swimming teams.

The schedule for the various university swimming teams as adopted at the meeting provides for dual aquatic meets as follows: January 23—Illinois vs. Wisconsin at Madison and Northwestern vs. Chicago, at Chicago. February 12—Wisconsin vs. Chicago, at Chicago. February 13—Wisconsin vs. Northwestern, at Evanston. February 27—Chicago vs. Illinois, at Champaign. March 3—Chicago vs. Northwestern, at Evanston. March 13—Northwestern vs. Illinois, at Champaign. March 19—Conference meet. Place to be decided at a later conference.

The first ten lawn tennis players of the world as arranged by A. W. Mavrogordato, a member of the English Davis Cup Team of 1914, includes but two American racket wielders. Australasia has two; British Isles three; Germany two, and France one. This country has the honor of leading the list for Maurice E. McLoughlin is placed in position number one with A. F. Wilding and N. E. Brookes, of Australasia, tied for second place. R. Norris Williams, the other American named, is given fifth place, being ranked by McLoughlin, Wilding, Brookes and Otto Froitzheim, of Germany. The order of ranking, based on Mavrogordato's opinion of the merits of the players, is as follows: 1—M. E. McLoughlin (America). 2—N. E. Brookes (Australasia). 3—A. F. Wilding (Australasia). 4—O. Froitzheim (Germany). 5—R. N. Williams (America). 6—J. C. Parke (British Isles). 7—A. H. Lowe (British Isles). 8—F. G. Lowe (British Isles). 9—R. Kleinschott (Germany). 10—M. Decugis (France).

If the bout between Jack Johnson and Jess Willard, articles for which Johnson signed in London recently, according to cable dispatches, takes place, the champion will find himself confronted in the ring by the biggest man he has ever faced. Willard is 6 feet 5 1/2 inches tall and weighs between 230 and 240 pounds in ring costume. He is 26 years of age and has a reach of 82 1/2 inches. Johnson is 6 feet 1-4 inches in height weighs about 210 in competition and has a reach of 72 inches. His age at the time tentatively set for the bout would be 37 years. A comparison of these figures show that Willard would have an advantage of at least twenty pounds in weight; five inches in height and close to ten years in age.

There would be a far greater difference in the physical proportions of the boxers than was the case when Johnson won his title from Jim Jeffries at Reno, Nev., on July 4, 1910. Johnson at that time was 32 years old to Jeffries' 35; weighed 209 pounds to his opponent's 230 and had a reach of 72 inches to Jeffries' 75. Willard's great advantage over Johnson would be his youth for in but one championship bout among heavyweights in modern times has there been a difference of 10 or more years between the principals. John L. Sullivan was thirty-four years old when James J. Corbett defeated him in New Orleans in 1892 at the age of twenty-six. Corbett was thirty-one when Bob Fitzsimmons at the age of thirty-five defeated him at Carson City, Nev., and Fitzsimmons was thirty-seven when Jeffries wrested his championship laurels from him when Jeffries was but twenty-four years old. Fitzsimmons lasted 11 rounds against Jeffries at the age of 37 but the Cornishman was a physical marvel, differing greatly from the modern heavyweight.

MILLER, TACKLE, ELECTED TECH FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

New Leader Declares His Efforts Will Be Toward Defeating Central by Greater Score on Thanksgiving Day, 1915—Squad Is Banqueted

Martin E. Miller was the unanimous choice for the captain of next year's Technical High school football team, the election taking place at a banquet at Menger's restaurant last evening. The banquet was given in honor of the Tech men who felt proud of the Thanksgiving Day performance.

Then ew captain has been left tackle of the eleven for two years and was one of the best players on the scrub team in his freshman year. No other varsity player opposed him and Manager Miller cast the unanimous vote. Of course the new leader was called on for a speech and he assured the banquetees that he would do everything to beat Central by a bigger score next year.

De Charles B. Fager, Jr., principal of the school, congratulated the eleven on its performance and said that Tech could be proud of the fact that there were no "dunks" on the team. Prof. Grob, faculty athletic advisor, said that the big game had netted the school $300, giving the athletic treasury a balance of $1,200.

Captain Beck, hero of Thursday's game, spoke. He disclaimed credit for the victory, giving it to the team as a whole and to former teams, whose inspiration was the spur necessary to have to work for a winning team. Coach Dunkle praised the squad for their attention to practice and thanked the manager of its support, George Gockell, manager of the Harrisburg baseball club and last year's coach of the Tech eleven, for in late and had to make a speech. Many others spoke and the banquet closed with the singing of Tech songs.

FINAL GAMES ON GRIDIRON

Curtain Falls on Football Season After Today's Contest—Army-Navy Big Attraction

New York, Nov. 28.—Eastern college football closes to-day with the eyes of gridiron followers turned toward Philadelphia, where on Franklin Field and with many prominent government officials from Washington among the spectators, the Army and Navy elevens have their annual clash. The West Point team, undefeated this season, is looked upon as the favorite. Annapolis has twice been forced to lower their colors—to Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh. Direct comparison through service teams has had no common opponent. Last year the Army won by 22 to 9 and a victory for West Point to-day will make the series a tie with eight games each since it began in 1890.

The season in New York ends with important games of the year—especially arranged match which brings together Washington and Jefferson, former college rivals, regarded as the little New Jersey college is represented by an eleven regarded as its greatest ever produced and a victory over Washington and Jefferson will earn it a high ranking among the college teams. This game is at the Polo grounds.

A game worthy of mention when discussing college football will be played at Boston to-day between the Everett, Mass., high school eleven, regarded as Boston's best school boy combination in years, and the Oak Park, Ill., high school team. In this inter-sectional series the westerners in the past have far out-classed the eastern boys. Another game in Boston to-day brings together the Carlisle Indians and an eleven composed of former Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth and Williams players. Funds from this contest will be devoted to charity.

READING HERE TO-NIGHT

Eastern Basketball League Leaders to Mix Up With Harrisburg Five

Reading, at present leaders of the Eastern League, will be the attraction at the armory against the Harrisburg five this evening. The team will come here with the same lineup which they have been using in the Eastern League games and local supporters will have a chance to compare the work of the Harrisburg team against that of Eastern League fives.

Reading has one of the best teams in the country, which includes Beggs, "Andy" Sears and Morris, all players with country-wide reputations. Harrisburg will line up with the Philadelphia five which defeated the Garnets of Philadelphia. The intercollegiate rules will be used in this game. Following the game an informal dance program will be held.

High School Wins Championship

The Enbaut High school eleven won from the Bressler A. C. on the latter's grounds yesterday afternoon by the score of 12 to 9. It was for the championship. E. Bartels starred in running nearly the length of the field for a score. The lineup:

Table with 2 columns: Player Name, Position. Includes Bressler, Stepp, Metka, Woodhead, Dickey, Still, Hoover, Hoover, Cooper, Killeffer, Kunner, R. Cooper, Touchdowns, R. Cooper, Miller, Yinger, Headlinesman, Harder, Linesmen, Cooper and Gluntz, Time of quarters, 10 minutes.

Academy Season Opens Saturday

A practice basketball game at the Harrisburg Academy will open its basketball season next Saturday. The team will return to school Monday for the final weeks' practice.

CHILDREN LEARN BY SEEING

Educators Agree That Sense of Sight Is Greatest Possible Help to Learning

Somewhat has said that the eyes of a child are able to give to the young brain all the knowledge that it needs. Pictures are what the child really needs. Where words will mean nothing to them, they will instantly grasp the meaning of a picture and the thought expressed is permanently photographed on their minds.

Children soon learn to love the Bible which is now being distributed by the Star-Independent, for it is literally filled with pictures from cover to cover. These are not ordinary embellishments such as are usually found in so-called Illustrated Bibles, but each picture is specially drawn with a thought behind it—the dominant idea being to make plain the particular verse which the picture accompanies. Think what this means to the "grown-ups" as well as the children!

Educators all say that pictures are the best possible help to learning, and none of us are too old to learn. Even though one may not be afflicted with a church society, he will be interested in the educational advantages offered in this great Book of Books.

Look for the educational certificate on another page of this issue and learn how you may have one of these magnificent Bibles for your very own. You will surely never have another opportunity like this. Take advantage of it at once.

IDENTIFIES BANDIT'S BODY

Boarding House Proprietor Says Suicide's Name Was Fritz Patello

Philadelphia, Nov. 28.—The identity of the robber who, on Wednesday night held up and shot Morris G. Condon in the Hotel Adelphi, and then committed suicide, was definitely established last night. He was Fritz Patello, a New York electrician. Identification was made by John O. Cope, 1605 Race street, in whose home Patello had boarded until the time of the holdup.

Early last night Cope appeared at detective headquarters in City Hall and told Captain Cameron the story. He said he recognized the picture of the dead robber as the man who, on November 20, had engaged a room in his home. The man, said Cope, spoke English so brokenly as to be almost unintelligible. At Cope's suggestion he wrote his name—Fritz Patello—in German script, adding after it Reichgraf von Wickenburg. He explained at that time he was a New York electrician.
